300. Capital element of annuity payments — (1) For the purposes of paragraphs 32.1(3)(b) and 60(a) of the Act, where an annuity is paid under a contract (other than an income-averaging annuity contract or an annuity contract purchased pursuant to a deferred profit sharing plan or pursuant to a plan referred to in subsection 147(15) of the Act as a "revoked plan") at a particular time, that part of the annuity payment determined in prescribed manner to be a return of capital is that proportion of a taxpayer's interest in the annuity payment that the adjusted purchase price of the taxpayer's interest in the contract at that particular time is of his interest, immediately before the commencement under the contract of payments to which paragraph 56(1)(d) of the Act applies, in the total of the payments

(a) to be made under the contract, in the case of a contract for a term of years certain; or

(b) expected to be made under the contract, in the case of a contract under which the continuation of the payments depends in whole or in part on the survival of an individual.

History: Subsec. 300(1) substituted by P.C. 1983-3530, subsec. 1(1), November 17, 1983, Canada Gazette, Part II, November 24, 1983, applicable to taxation years commencing after 1982.

Subsec. 300(1) substituted by P.C. 1982-1421, subsec. 1(1), May 13, 1982, Canada Gazette, Part II, May 26, 1982, effective with respect to annuity contracts under which annuity payments commence after 1979 except that in its application to annuity contracts under which payments commence before 1982 it shall be read as follows:

> 300. (1) For the purposes of paragraphs 32.1(3)(b) and 60(a) of the Act, if an annuity is paid under a contract, the amount deemed to be a return of capital is that proportion of each annuity payment that the consideration for, or purchase price of, the contract is of the total of the payments
> (a) to be made under the contract, in the case of a contract for a term of years certain; or
> (b) expected to be made, in the case of a contract under which the continuation of the payments depends in whole or in part on the survival of an individual.

(1.1) For the purposes of subsections (1) and (2), "annuity payment" does not include any portion of a payment under a contract the amount of which cannot be reasonably determined immediately before the commencement of payments under the contract except where the payment of such portion cannot be so determined because the continuation of the annuity payments under the contract depends in whole or in part on the survival of an individual.

History: Subsec. 300(1.1) added by P.C. 1982-1421, subsec. 1(1), May 13, 1982, Canada Gazette, Part II, May 26, 1982, effective with respect to annuity contracts under which annuity payments commence after 1981.

(2) For the purposes of this section,

(a) where the continuance of the annuity payments under any contract depends in whole or in part on the survival of an individual, the total of the payments expected to be made under the contract

(i) shall, in the case of a contract that provides for equal payments and does not provide for a guaranteed period of payment, be equal to the product obtained by multiplying the aggregate of the annuity payments expected to be received throughout a year under the contract by the complete expectations of life using the table of mortality known as the 1971 Individual Annuity Mortality Table as published in Volume XXIII of the Transactions of the Society of Actuaries, or

(ii) shall, in any other case, be calculated in accordance with subparagraph (i) with such modifications as the circumstances may require;

(b) subject to subsections (3) and (4), "adjusted purchase price" of a taxpayer's interest in an annuity contract at a particular time means the amount that would be determined at that time in respect of that interest under the definition "adjusted cost basis" in subsection 148(9) of the Act if the formula in that definition were read without reference to variable K;

(c) where the continuance of the annual payments under any contract depends on the survival of a person, the age of that person on any date as of which a calculation is being made shall be determined by subtracting the calendar year of his birth from the calendar year in which such date occurs; and

(d) where the continuance of the annual payments under any contract depends on the survival of a person, and where, in the event of the death of that person before the annual payments aggregate a stated sum, the contract provides that the unpaid balance of the stated sum shall be paid, either in a lump sum or instalments, then, for the purpose of determining the expected term of the contract, the contract shall be deemed to provide for the continuance of the payments thereunder for a minimum term certain equal to the nearest integral number of years required to complete the payment of the stated sum;

2. in the case of a testamentary trust other than a specified trust, for the life of an individual who was entitled when the contract was first held to receive all of the income of the trust that arose before the individual's death,

Application: The October 31, 2011 draft legislation, subsec. 61(1), will amend subcl. 304(1)(c)(iv)(B)(II) to read as above, applicable to 2000 et seq., except that with regard to a contract held by a trust created by a taxpayer at a particular time in 2000 for the benefit of another individual, subcl. 304(1)(c)(iv)(B)(II) is to be read without reference to "or common-law partner" unless because of an election made under s. 144 of the Modernization of Benefits and Obligations Act (S.C. 2000, c. 12), ss. 130 to 142 of that Act apply in the particular case to the taxpayer and the other individual.

Technical Notes Section 304 prescribes certain annuity contracts for exclusion from the rules in section 12.4 of the Act that require income from insurance policies to be reported on an accrual basis. Paragraph 304(1)(c) provides an exclusion for an annuity under which payments have commenced if a number of other conditions are also satisfied.

Subparagraph 304(1)(c)(iv) requires that the terms and conditions of the annuity must satisfy certain requirements. Clause 304(1)(c)(iv)(B) requires that the annuity payments under the annuity continue either for a fixed term or for the lives of certain individuals depending on the holder of the annuity. Clause 304(1)(c)(iv)(C) imposes restrictions on the length of a fixed or guaranteed term of an annuity depending on the holder of the annuity. Clause 304(1)(c)(iv)(D) requires that no loans exist under the contract and that the holder's rights under the contract can be disposed of in certain circumstances depending on the holder of the annuity. Clause 304(1)(c)(iv)(E) requires that no payments be made from the annuity other than as permitted by section 304.

These clauses are amended to allow after age and testamentary trusts to hold prescribed annuity contracts, and also to allow last survivor annuity contracts held by certain trusts to be prescribed annuity contracts. Additionally, clauses 304(1)(c)(iv)(C) in (E) are restructured to improve clarity.

Letter from Dept of Finance, July 29, 2002

Dear [xxx]

Thank you for your letter dated May 6, 2002, concerning section 304 of the Income Tax Regulations (the "Regulations") and its application to alter ego trusts.

Section 304 defines a "prescribed annuity contract" for a taxation year for the purposes of subsection 12.2(1) and paragraph 148(2)(b) of the Income Tax Act (the "Act"). Alter ego trusts and joint spousal and common-law partner trusts are trusts described in paragraph 104(4)(a) of the Act and as you mentioned in your letter, these trusts would appear to qualify as a specified trust eligible to hold prescribed annuities under clause 304(1)(c)(iv)(A) of the Regulations.

However, it would appear that an alter ego trust would not be able to acquire an annuity contract that is a prescribed annuity contract because subclauses 304(1)(c)(iv)(B)(II) and 304(1)(c)(iv)(C)(II) require, in the case of a specified trust, that the terms of the contract determine annuity payments by reference to the "spouse or common-law partner who is entitled to receive the income of the trust". Alter ego trusts do not comply with these subclauses because, in the case of alter ego trusts, the annuity payments would be determined by reference to the individual who is entitled to receive the income of the trust and not by reference to the spouse or common-law partner. As a result, you have requested that these subclauses be amended to allow alter ego trusts to hold prescribed annuity contracts.

From a policy perspective, it appears appropriate to permit an alter ego trust to be eligible to hold a prescribed annuity contract if all the other conditions of section 304 of the Regulations are met. This treatment would be in accordance with the treatment of the other trusts described in paragraph 104(4)(a) of the Act. Consequently, we are prepared to recommend to the Minister of Finance that amendments be made to subclauses 304(1)(c)(iv)(B)(II) and 304(1)(c)(iv)(C)(II) of the Regulations to permit an alter ego trust to hold a prescribed annuity contract. Further, we intend to recommend that the amendments apply to the taxation years that begin after 2001.

Of course, I can offer no assurance that the Minister of Finance will agree with the recommendation that I have described. Nonetheless, I hope that this statement of our position is helpful.

Thank you for bringing this matter to our attention.

Yours sincerely,

Brian Ernewein, Director, Tax Legislation Division, Tax Policy Branch

Letter from Dept. of Finance, June 27, 2003:

Dear [xxx]

Thank you for your letter dated October 22, 2002, concerning section 304 of the Income Tax Regulations (the "Regulations") and its application to last survivor annuity contracts held by joint spousal or common-law partner trusts.

Section 304 defines a "prescribed annuity contract" for a taxation year for the purposes of subsection 12.2(1) and paragraph 148(2)(b) of the Income Tax Act (the "Act"). Alter ego trusts and joint spousal or common-law partner trusts are trusts described in paragraph 104(4)(a) of the Act and, as you mentioned in your letter and as confirmed by the Department in a comfort letter sent to your attention dated July 29, 2002, these trusts qualify as a specified trust under clause 304(1)(c)(iii)(A) of the Regulations.

However, a last survivor annuity contract, the annuity payments of which are determined by reference to the later of the death of an individual and the death of the individual's spouse or common-law partner who is entitled to receive the income of the trust, is not included in the definition of "prescribed annuity contract" in section 304 of the Regulations when held by a specified trust.

From a policy perspective, it appears appropriate for a last survivor annuity contract held by a specified trust to be prescribed as a prescribed annuity contract if all the other conditions of section 304 of the Regulations are met and the last survivor is the person that established the trust or the survivor as defined in that section. This treatment would be in accordance with the treatment under section 304 of the Regulation of last survivor annuity contracts held by individuals.

Consequently, we are prepared to recommend to the Minister of Finance that amendments be made to section 304 of the Regulations to ensure that last survivor annuity contracts held by specified trusts as defined in section 304 of the Regulations be prescribed annuity contracts if all the other conditions of that section are met and the last survivor is the person that established the trust or the survivor as defined in that section.

You also mentioned in your letter that clause 304(1)(c)(iv)(B) of the Regulations does not provide for the situation where testamentary trusts (which are not specified trusts) hold annuity contracts that do not continue for a fixed term. From a policy perspective and in order to be consistent with clause 304(1)(c)(iv)(C) of the Regulations, we are prepared to recommend an amendment to the Regulations to prescribe this type of annuity contract under clause 304(1)(c)(iv)(B) where the payments continue for the life of any beneficiary entitled to receive the income from the trust.

Further, we intend to recommend that these proposed amendments apply to the 2000 and following taxation years.

Of course, I can offer no assurance that the Minister of Finance will agree with the recommendation that I have described. Nonetheless, I hope that this statement of our position is helpful.

Thank you for bringing this matter to our attention.

Yours sincerely,

Brian Ernewein, Director, Tax Legislation Division, Tax Policy Branch

Letter from Dept. of Finance, July 29, 2002: See under Reg. 304(1)(c)(iv)(B)(II).

(vi) where annuity payments under the contract have commenced

(A) before 1987, in respect of which a holder thereof has notified the issuer in writing, before the end of the taxation year, that the contract is to be treated as a prescribed annuity contract,

(B) after 1986, in respect of which a holder thereof has not notified the issuer in writing, before the end of the taxation year in which the annuity payments under the contract commenced, that the contract is not to be treated as a prescribed annuity contract, or

(C) after 1986, in respect of which a holder thereof has notified the issuer in writing, before the end of the taxation year in which the annuity payments under the contract commenced, that the contract is not to be treated as a prescribed annuity contract and a holder thereof has rescinded the notification by so notifying the issuer in writing before the end of the taxation year.

(2) Notwithstanding subsection (1), an annuity contract shall not fail to be a prescribed annuity contract by reason that

(a) where the contract provides for a joint and last survivor annuity or is held jointly, the terms and conditions thereof provide that there will be a decrease in the amount of the annuity payments to be made under the contract from the time of death of one of the annuitants thereunder;

(b) the terms and conditions thereof provide that where the holder thereof dies at or before the time he attains the age of 91 years, the contract will terminate and an amount will be paid out of the contract not exceeding the amount, if any, by which the total premiums paid under the contract exceeds the total annuity payments made under the contract;

(c) where the annuity payments are to be made over a term that is guaranteed or fixed, the terms and conditions thereof provide that as a consequence of the death of the holder thereof during the guaranteed or fixed term any payments that, but for the death of the holder, would be made during the term may be commuted into a single payment; or

(d) the terms and conditions thereof, as they read on December 1, 1982 and at all subsequent times, provide that the holder participates in the investment earnings of the issuer and that the amount of such participation is to be paid within 60 days after the end of the year in respect of which it is determined.

(3) For the purposes of this section, the annuitant under an annuity contract is deemed to be the holder of the contract where

(a) the contract is held by another person in trust for the annuitant; or

(b) the contract was acquired by the annuitant under a group term life insurance policy under which life insurance was effected on the life of another person in respect of, in the course of, or by virtue of the office or employment or former office or employment of that other person.

(4) In this section, "annuitant" under an annuity contract, at any time, means a person who, at that time, is entitled to receive annuity payments under the contract.

(5) For the purpose of this section, "spouse" and "former spouse" of a particular individual include another individual who is a party to a void or voidable marriage with the particular individual.

306. Exempt policies — (1) For the purposes of this Part and subsection 12.2(11) of the Act, "exempt policy" at any time means a life insurance policy (other than an annuity contract or a deposit administration fund policy) in respect of which the following conditions are met at that time:

(a) if that time is a policy anniversary of the policy, the accumulating fund of the policy at that time (determined without regard to any policy loan) does not exceed the total of the accumulating funds at that time of the exemption test policies issued at or before that time in respect of the policy;

(b) assuming that the terms and conditions of the policy do not change from those in effect on the last policy anniversary of the policy at or before that time and, where necessary, making reasonable assumptions about all other factors (including, in the case of a participating life insurance policy within the meaning assigned by subsection 138(12) of the Act, the assumption that the amounts of dividends paid will be as shown in the dividend scale), it is reasonable to expect that the condition in paragraph (a) will be met on each policy anniversary of the policy on which the policy could remain in force after that time and before the date determined under subparagraph (3)(d)(ii) with respect to the exemption test policies issued in respect of the policy;

(c) the condition in paragraph (a) was met on all policy anniversaries of the policy before that time; and

(d) the condition in paragraph (b) was met at all times on and after the first policy anniversary of the policy and before that time.

Interpretation Bulletins: IT-87R2: Policyholders' income from life insurance policies.

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1), a life insurance policy that is an exempt policy on its first policy anniversary shall be deemed to have been an exempt policy from the time of its issue until that anniversary.

(3) For the purposes of this section and section 307, a separate exemption test policy shall be deemed to have been issued to a policyholder in respect of a life insurance policy

(a) on the date of issue of the life insurance policy, and

(b) on each policy anniversary of the life insurance policy where the amount of the benefit on death thereunder exceeds 108 per cent of the amount of the benefit on death thereunder on the later of the date of its issue and the date of its preceding anniversary, if any,

and, for the purpose of determining whether the accumulating fund of the life insurance policy on any particular policy anniversary meets the condition in paragraph (1)(a), each such exemption test policy shall be deemed

(c) to have a benefit on death that is uniform throughout the term of the exemption test policy and equal to

(i) where the exemption test policy is the first such policy issued in respect of the life insurance policy, the amount on that policy anniversary of the benefit on death of the life insurance policy less the total of all amounts each of which is the amount on that policy anniversary of the benefit on death of another exemption test policy issued on or before that policy anniversary in respect of the life insurance policy, and

(ii) in any other case, the amount by which the benefit on death of the life insurance policy on the date the exemption test policy was issued exceeds 108 per cent of the amount of the benefit on death of the life insurance policy on the later of the date of issue of the life insurance policy and the date of its preceding policy anniversary, if any;

(d) to pay the amount of its benefit on death on the earlier of

(i) the date of death of the person whose life is insured under the life insurance policy, and

(ii) the later of

(A) ten years after the date of issue of the life insurance policy, and

(B) the date that the person whose life is insured would, if he survived, attain the age of 85 years; and

(e) to be a life insurance policy in Canada issued by a life insurer that carried on its life insurance business in Canada.

(4) Notwithstanding subsections (1) to (3),

(a) where at any particular time the amount of the benefit on death of a life insurance policy is reduced, an amount equal to such reduction (such amount is in this paragraph referred to as "the reduction") shall be applied at that time to reduce the amount of the benefit on death of exemption test policies issued before that time in respect of the life insurance policy (other than the exemption test policy issued in respect thereof pursuant to paragraph (3)(a)), in the order in which the dates of their issuance are proximate to the particular time, by an amount equal to the lesser of

(i) the portion, if any, of the reduction not applied to reduce the benefit on death of one or more other such exemption test policies, and

(ii) the amount, immediately before that time, of the benefit on death of the relevant exemption test policy;

(b) where on the tenth or on any subsequent policy anniversary of a life insurance policy, the accumulating fund thereof (computed without regard to any policy loan then outstanding in respect of the policy) exceeds 250 per cent of the accumulating fund thereof on its third preceding policy anniversary (computed without regard to any policy loan then outstanding in respect of the policy), each exemption test policy deemed by subsection (3) to have been issued before that time in respect of the life insurance policy shall be deemed to have been issued on the later of the date of that third preceding policy anniversary and the date on which it was deemed by subsection (3) to have been issued; and

(c) where at one or more times after December 1, 1982

(i) a prescribed premium has been paid by a taxpayer in respect of an interest in a life insurance policy (other than an annuity contract or a deposit administration fund policy) last acquired on or before that date, or

(ii) an interest in a life insurance policy (other than an annuity contract or a deposit administration fund policy) issued on or before that date has been acquired by a taxpayer from the person who held the interest continuously since that date, the policy shall be deemed to have been an exempt policy from the date of its issue until the earliest of those times that occurred after December 1, 1982; and

(d) a life insurance policy that ceases to be an exempt policy (other than by reason of its conversion into an annuity contract) on a policy anniversary shall be deemed to be an exempt policy on that anniversary

(i) if, had that anniversary occurred 60 days after the date on which it did in fact occur, the policy would have been an exempt policy on that later date, or

(ii) if the person whose life is insured under the policy dies on that anniversary or within 60 days thereafter.

Federal Budget, Notice of Ways and Means Motion, March 29, 2012: Life Insurance Policy Exemption Test

(16) That the provisions of the Act, and the Income Tax Regulations, with respect to life insurance policies be modified in accordance with the proposals related to the life insurance policy exemption test described in the budget documents tabled by the Minister of Finance in the House of Commons on March 29, 2012.

Federal Budget, Supplementary Information, March 29, 2012: Life Insurance Policy Exemption Test

Life insurance plays an important role in meeting the financial needs of Canadians by helping to protect against the financial risks of premature death. Life insurance policies may provide both a protection (i.e., insurance) and savings component. The income earned on the savings component of a life insurance policy that is an exempt policy [ITA 12.2(11) — ed.], as determined under the Income Tax Regulations [Reg. 306 — ed.], is not subject to accrual taxation in the hands of the policyholder [ITA 12.2(1)(a) — ed.].

The exemption test that determines whether a life insurance policy is an exempt policy was implemented in the early 1980s and is intended to differentiate protection-oriented life insurance policies from investment-oriented life insurance policies. A life insurance policy is an exempt policy when the savings accumulating in the policy does not exceed the savings in a benchmark policy. The benchmark policy is generally defined as a policy where the death benefit is payable on the earlier of death and the age of 85 years [Reg. 306(3)(d)(ii)(B) — ed.] (the endowment time) and premiums are payable 20 years after the issuance of the policy (the pay period) [Reg. 307(1)(c) — ed.]. Depending on the type of coverage, the savings in the benchmark policy are calculated using prescribed mortality and interest rates, the rates used in determining the premiums, or the cash surrender value of the actual policy.[4] The savings in an actual policy are measured using an amount that is equal to the greater of the cash surrender value of the policy and the modified net premium reserve in respect of the policy.[5]

[4] The cash surrender value is the amount available to the policyholder on surrender of the policy during lifetime.

[5] The modified net premium reserve is equal to the present value of future benefits minus the present value of future modified net premiums.

As the exemption test was implemented almost 30 years ago, the Government has reviewed the test to ensure that it continues to serve the intended purpose. The review indicates that technical improvements are required to update and simplify the test. Budget 2012 proposes to implement the following changes to the exemption test:

- measuring the savings in an actual policy and the benchmark policy using the Canadian Institute of Actuaries 1986-1992 mortality tables and an interest rate of 3.5% to better reflect mortality rates and investment returns while improving consistency between the measurement of the savings in an actual policy and the measurement of the savings in the benchmark policy;
- increasing the endowment time of the benchmark policy from age 85 years to age 90 years to reflect increased life expectancy;
- measuring the savings in an actual policy using the greater of the cash surrender value of the policy (before the application of surrender charges) and the net premium reserve in respect of the policy to capture all savings in an actual policy while improving consistency between the measurement of the savings in the policy and the measurement of the savings in the benchmark policy; and
- reducing the pay period of the benchmark policy to 8 years from 20 years to better reflect current industry practices and the pay period used in other countries.

Also, Budget 2012 proposes that the Investment Income Tax (IIT) levied on life insurers [ITA 211–211.5 — ed.] be recalibrated where appropriate to neutralize impacts of the proposed technical improvements on the IIT base.

Over the coming months, the Government will undertake consultations with key stakeholders on the proposed technical improvements and the recalibration of the IIT base.

Amendments to the tax provisions arising from these consultations will apply to life insurance policies issued after 2013.

(a) with respect to a life insurance policy issued after March 26, 1992, other than a policy for which written application was made on or before March 26, 1992; and

(b) with respect to a life insurance policy amended at any time after March 26, 1992 to increase the amount of the benefit on death.

S. 306 added by P.C. 1983-3530, s. 5, November 17, 1983, Canada Gazette, Part II, November 24, 1983, applicable to taxation years commencing after 1982.

307. Accumulating funds — (1) For the purposes of this Part and sections 12.2 and 148 of the Act, "accumulating fund", at any particular time, means,

(a) in respect of a taxpayer's interest in an annuity contract (other than a contract issued by a life insurer), the amount that is the greater of

(i) the amount, if any, by which the cash surrender value of his interest at that time exceeds the amount payable, if any, in respect of a loan outstanding at that time made under the contract in respect of the interest, and

(ii) the amount, if any, by which

(A) the present value at that time of future payments to be made out of the contract in respect of his interest exceeds the aggregate of

(B) the present value at that time of future premiums to be paid under the contract in respect of his interest, and

(C) the amount payable, if any, in respect of a loan outstanding at that time, made under the contract in respect of his interest;

(b) in respect of a taxpayer's interest in a life insurance policy (other than an exemption test policy or an annuity contract to which paragraph (1)(a) applies), the product obtained when,

(i) where the policy is not a deposit administration fund policy and the particular time is immediately after the death of any person on whose life the life insurance policy is issued or effected, the aggregate of the maximum amounts that could be determined by the life insurer immediately before the death in respect of the policy under paragraph 1401(1)(c) and subparagraph 1401(1)(d)(i) if the mortality rates used were adjusted to reflect the assumption that the death would occur at the time and in the manner that it did occur, and

(ii) in any other case, the maximum amount that could be determined at that particular time by the life insurer under paragraph 1401(1)(a), computed as though there were only one deposit administration fund policy, or under paragraph 1401(1)(c), as the case may be, in respect of the policy is multiplied by

(iii) the taxpayer's proportionate interest in the policy, assuming for the purposes of this paragraph that the life insurer carried on its life insurance business in Canada, its taxation year ended at the particular time and the policy was a life insurance policy in Canada; and

(c) in respect of an exemption test policy,

(i) where the policy was issued at least 20 years before the particular time, the amount that would be determined at that particular time by the life insurer under clause

1401(1)(c)(ii)(A) in respect of the policy if the insurer's taxation year ended at that particular time, and

(ii) in any other case, the product obtained when the amount that would be determined under subparagraph (i) in respect of the policy on its twentieth policy anniversary is multiplied by the quotient obtained when the number of years since the policy was issued is divided by 20.

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1), when computing the accumulating fund of an interest described in

(a) paragraph (1)(a), the amounts determined under clauses (1)(a)(ii)(A) and (B) shall be computed using,

(i) where an interest rate for a period used by the issuer when the contract was issued in determining the terms of the contract was less than any rate so used for a subsequent period, the single rate that would, if it applied for each period, have produced the same terms, and

(ii) in any other case, the rates used by the issuer when the contract was issued in determining the terms of the contract;

(b) paragraph (1)(b), where an interest rate used for a period by a life insurer in computing the relevant amounts in paragraph 1403(1)(a) or (b) is determined under paragraph 1403(1)(c), (d) or (e), as the case may be, and that rate is less than an interest rate so determined for a subsequent period, the single rate that could, if it applied for each period, have been used in determining the premiums for the policy shall be used; and

(c) paragraph (1)(c)

(i) the rates of interest and mortality used and the age of the person whose life is insured shall be the same as those used in computing the amounts described in paragraph 1403(1)(a) or (b) in respect of the life insurance policy in respect of which the exemption test policy was issued except that

(A) where the life insurance policy is one to which paragraph 1403(1)(e) applies and the amount determined under subparagraph 1401(1)(c)(i) in respect of that policy is greater than the amount determined under subparagraph 1401(1)(c)(ii) in respect thereof, the rates of interest and mortality used may be those used in computing the cash surrender values of that policy, and

(B) where an interest rate for a period otherwise determined under this subparagraph in respect of that interest is less than an interest rate so determined for a subsequent period, the single rate that could, if it applied for each period, have been used in determining the premiums for the life insurance policy shall be used, and

(ii) notwithstanding subparagraph (i),

(A) where the rates referred to in subparagraph (i) do not exist, the minimum guaranteed rates of interest used under the life insurance policy to determine cash surrender values and the rates of mortality under the Commissioners 1958 Standard Ordinary Mortality Table, as published in Volume X of the Transactions of the Society of Actuaries, relevant to the person whose life is insured under the life insurance policy shall be used, or

(B) where, in respect of the life insurance policy in respect of which the exemption test policy was issued, the period over which the amount determined under clause 1401(1)(c)(ii)(A) does not extend to the date determined under subparagraph 306(3)(d)(ii), the weighted arithmetic mean of the interest rates used to determine such amount shall be used for the period that is after that period and before that date.

(3) Notwithstanding paragraph (2)(c),

(a) in the case of a life insurance policy issued after April 30, 1985, no rate of interest used for the purpose of determining the accumulating fund in respect of an exemption test policy issued in respect thereof shall be less than 4 per cent per annum; and

(b) in the case of a life insurance policy issued before May 1, 1985, no rate of interest used for the purpose of determining the accumulating fund in respect of an exemption test policy issued in respect thereof shall be less than 3 per cent per annum.

(4) For the purposes of paragraph (1)(c),

(a) where on the date of issue of an exemption test policy the person whose life is insured has attained the age of 75 years, the references in paragraph (1)(c) to "20" and "twentieth" shall be read as references to "10" and "tenth" respectively; and

(b) where on the date of issue of an exemption test policy the person whose life is insured has attained the age of 66 years but not the age of 75 years, the references in paragraph (1)(c) to "20" and "twentieth" shall be read as references to

(i) the number obtained when the number of years by which the age of the person whose life is insured exceeds 65 years is subtracted from 20, and

(ii) the adjectival form of the number obtained by performing the computation described in subparagraph (i), respectively.

(5) In this section, any amount determined by reference to section 1401 shall be determined

(a) without regard to section 1402;

(b) as if each reference to "policy loan" in section 1401 were read as a reference to "policy loan, as defined in subsection 148(9) of the Act,"; and

(c) as if clauses 1401(1)(c)(i)(B) and 1401(1)(c)(ii)(C) were read without reference to the expression "or the interest thereon that has accrued to the insurer at the end of the year".

308. Net cost of pure insurance and mortality gains and losses — (1) For the purposes of subparagraph 20(1)(e.2)(ii) and paragraph (a) of the description of L in the definition "adjusted cost basis" in subsection 148(9) of the Act, the net cost of pure insurance for a year in respect of a taxpayer's interest in a life insurance policy is the product obtained when the probability, computed on the basis of the rates of mortality under the 1969-75 mortality tables of the Canadian Institute of Actuaries published in Volume XVI of the Proceedings of the Canadian Institute of Actuaries or on the basis described in subsection (1.1), that a person who has the same relevant characteristics as the person whose life is insured will die in the year is multiplied by the amount by which

(a) the benefit on death in respect of the taxpayer's interest at the end of the year

(b) the accumulating fund (determined without regard to any policy loan outstanding) in respect of the taxpayer's interest in the policy at the end of the year or the cash surrender value of such interest at the end of the year, depending on the method regularly followed by the life insurer in computing net cost of pure insurance.

Interpretation Bulletins: IT-87R2: Policyholders' income from life insurance policies; IT-309R2: Premiums on life insurance used as collateral.

(1.1) Where premiums for a particular class of life insurance policy offered by a life insurer do not depend directly on smoking or sex classification, the probability referred to in subsection (1) may be determined using rates of mortality otherwise determined provided that for each age for such class of life insurance policy, the expected value of the aggregate net cost of pure insurance, calculated using such rates of mortality, is equal to the expected value of the aggregate net cost of pure insurance, calculated using the rates of mortality under the 1969-75 mortality tables of the Canadian Institute of Actuaries published in Volume XVI of the Proceedings of the Canadian Institute of Actuaries.

(2) Subject to subsection (4), for the purposes of this section and of the description of G in the definition "adjusted cost basis" in subsection 148(9) of the Act, a "mortality gain" immediately before the end of any calendar year after 1982 in respect of a taxpayer's interest in a life annuity contract means such reasonable amount in respect of the taxpayer's interest in the life annuity contract at that time that the life insurer determines to be the increase to the accumulating fund in respect of the interest that occurred during that year as a consequence of the survival to the end of the year of one or more of the annuitants under the life annuity contract.

(3) Subject to subsection (4), for the purposes of this section and of paragraph (c) of the description of L in the definition "adjusted cost basis" in subsection 148(9) of the Act, a "mortality loss" immediately before a particular time after 1982 in respect of an interest in a life annuity contract disposed of immediately after that particular time as a consequence of the death of an annuitant under the life annuity contract means such reasonable amount that the life insurer determines to be the decrease, as a consequence of the death, in the accumulating fund in respect of the interest assuming that, in determining such decrease, the accumulating fund immediately after the death is determined in the manner described in subparagraph 307(1)(b)(i).

(4) In determining an amount for a year in respect of an interest in a life annuity contract under subsection (2) or (3), the expected value of the mortality gains in respect of the interest for the year shall be equal to the expected value of the mortality losses in respect of the interest for the year and the mortality rates for the year used in computing those expected values shall be those that would be relevant to the interest and that are specified under such of paragraphs 1403(1)(c), (d) and (e) as are applicable.

History: Subsecs. 308(2) and (3) amended by P.C. 2011-936, subsec. 11(1), September 22, 2011, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 12, 2011, applicable after February 1994.

That portion of subsec. 308(1) before para. (a) replaced by P.C. 1994-940, s. 3, June 2, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, June 15, 1994, applicable to years ending after 1989, except that for taxation years that ended before December 1991, the reference in subsec. 308(1) to "subparagraph 20(1)(e.2)(ii) and paragraph (a) of the description of L in the definition "adjusted cost basis" in subsection 148(9)" shall be read as "subparagraphs 20(1)(e.2)(ii) and 148(9)(a)(ix)".

That portion of subsec. 308(1) preceding para. (a) substituted and subsec. (1.1) added by P.C. 1991-769, subsecs. 2(1), (2), April 25, 1991, Canada Gazette, Part II, May 8, 1991, applicable to 1986 et seq.

S. 308 added by P.C. 1983-3530, s. 5, November 17, 1983, Canada Gazette, Part II, November 24, 1983, applicable to taxation years commencing May 31, 1985. S.C. 1984, c. 1, subsec. 82(4) provides that s. 308 is deemed to have been validly made on November 17, 1983, with effect as indicated above as if para. 148(9)(a) of the Income Tax Act as amended by 1984, c. 1, had been in force on that date.

309. Prescribed premiums and prescribed increases — (1) For the purposes of this section and section 306, and of subsection 89(2) of the Act, a premium at any time under a life insurance policy is a "prescribed premium" if the total amount of one or more premiums paid at that time under the policy exceeds the amount of premium that, under the policy, was scheduled to be paid at that time and that was fixed and determined on or before December 1, 1982, adjusted for such of the following transactions and events that have occurred after that date in respect of the policy:

(a) a change in underwriting class;

(b) a change in premium due to a change in frequency of premium payments within a year that does not alter the present value, at the beginning of the year, of the total premiums to be paid under the policy in the year;

(c) an addition or deletion of accidental death or guaranteed purchase option benefits or disability benefits that provide for annuity payments or waiver of premiums;

(d) a premium adjustment as a result of interest, mortality or expense considerations, or of a change in the benefit on death under the policy relating to an increase in the Consumer Price Index (as published by Statistics Canada under the authority of the Statistics Act) where such adjustment

(i) is made by the life insurer on a class basis pursuant to the policy's terms as they read on December 1, 1982, and

(ii) is not made as a result of the exercise of a conversion privilege under the policy;

(e) a change arising from the provision of an additional benefit on death under a participating life insurance policy, as defined in subsection 138(12) of the Act, as, on account or in lieu of payment of, or in satisfaction of

(i) policy dividends or other distributions of the life insurer's income from its participating life insurance business as determined under section 2402, or

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 309(1)(e)(i)

(i) policy dividends or other distributions of the life insurer's income from its participating life insurance business, or

Technical Notes: Section 309 prescribes certain premiums and increases in benefits under a life insurance policy for the purposes of section 306 of the Regulations and subsection 89(2) of the Act. This section also provides under what circumstances such premiums and increases will not be prescribed.

This section is updated and amended to reflect the amendments to Part XXIV of the Regulations. This amendment applies to taxation years that begin after October 31, 2011. For further information on related amendments, see the commentary on Part XXIV.

Related Provisions: Reg. Reg. 309.1 — Income from participating life insurance businesses.

(ii) interest earned on policy dividends that are held on deposit by the life insurer;

(f) redating lapsed policies, if the policy was reinstated not later than 60 days after the end of the calendar year in which the lapse occurred, or redating for policy loan indebtedness;

(g) a change in premium due to a correction of erroneous information contained in the application for the policy;

(h) payment of a premium after its due date, or payment of a premium no more than 30 days before its due date, as established on or before December 1, 1982; and

(2) For the purposes of subsections 12.2(9) and 89(2) of the Act, a "prescribed increase" in a benefit on death under a life insurance policy has occurred at any time where the amount of the benefit on death under the policy at that time exceeds the amount of the benefit on death at that time under the policy that was fixed and determined on or before December 1, 1982, adjusted for such of the following transactions and events that have occurred after that date in respect of the policy:

(a) an increase resulting from a change described in paragraph (1)(e);

(b) a change as a result of interest, mortality or expense considerations, or an increase in the Consumer Price Index (as published by Statistics Canada under the authority of the Statistics Act) where such change is made by the life insurer on a class basis pursuant to the policy's terms as they read on December 1, 1982;

(c) an increase in consequence of the prepayment of premiums (other than prescribed premiums) under the policy where such increase does not exceed the aggregate of the premiums that would otherwise have been paid;

(d) an increase in respect of a policy for which

(i) the benefit on death was, at December 1, 1982, a specific mathematical function of the policy's cash surrender value or factors including the policy's cash surrender value, and

(3) For the purposes of subsections (1) and (2), a life insurance policy that is issued as a result of the exercise of a renewal privilege provided under the terms of another policy as they read on December 1, 1982 shall be deemed to be a continuation of that other policy.

(a) there shall be included the amount determined by the formula

A is the insurer's gross Canadian life investment income (in this section as defined in subsection 2400(1)) for the year,

(A) all amounts on deposit with the insurer as at the end of the year in respect of policies described in subparagraph (i), and

(B) all amounts on deposit with the insurer as at the end of the immediately preceding taxation year in respect of policies described in subparagraph (i), and

C the total of all amounts, each of which is

(i) the insurer's mean maximum tax actuarial reserve for the year in respect of a class of life insurance policies in Canada, or

(ii) 1/2 of the total of

(A) all amounts on deposit with the insurer as at the end of the year in respect of a class of policies described in subparagraph (i), and

(B) all amounts on deposit with the insurer as at the end of the immediately preceding taxation year in respect of a class of policies described in subparagraph (i);

(b) there shall be included

(i) the insurer's maximum tax actuarial reserve for the immediately preceding taxation year in respect of participating life insurance policies in Canada, and

(d) subject to paragraph (a),

(i) there shall not be included any amount

(A) as a reserve that was deducted under paragraph 20(1)(l) of the Act in computing the insurer's income for the immediately preceding taxation year, or

(B) that was included in determining the insurer's gross Canadian life investment income for the year, and

(ii) no deduction shall be made in respect of any amount

(A) taken into account in determining the insurer's gross Canadian life investment income for the year, or

(B) deductible under paragraph 20(1)(l) of the Act in computing the insurer's income for the year;

(e) there shall be deducted

(i) the insurer's maximum tax actuarial reserve for the year in respect of participating life insurance policies in Canada, and

(ii) the maximum amount deductible by the insurer under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(ii) of the Act in computing its income for the year in respect of participating life insurance policies in Canada;

(f) no deduction shall be made in respect of any amount deductible under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(iii) of the Act in computing the insurer's income for the year;

(g) except as otherwise provided in paragraph (e), no deduction shall be made in respect of a reserve deductible under sub-paragraph 138(3)(a)(i) or (ii) of the Act in computing the insurer's income for the year; and

Application: The October 31, 2011 draft legislation, s. 63, will add s. 309.1, applicable to taxation years that begin after October 31, 2011 except that if a taxpayer has deducted an amount under subpara. 138(3)(a)(iv) of the Act, as it read in its application to the taxpayer's last taxation year that began before November 1, 2011, in computing the taxpayer's income for that taxation year, then for the taxpayer's first taxation year that begins after October 31, 2011 para. 309.1(1)(b) is to be read as follows:

(b) there shall be included

(i) the amount deducted by the insurer under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(iv) of the Act, as it read in its application to the insurer's last taxation year that began on or before October 31, 2011, in computing its income for the immediately preceding taxation year,

(ii) the insurer's maximum tax actuarial reserve for the immediately preceding taxation year in respect of participating life insurance policies in Canada, and

(iii) the maximum amount deductible by the insurer under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(ii) of the Act in computing its income for the immediately preceding taxation year in respect of participating life insurance policies in Canada;

Technical Notes: New section 309.1 provides rules for determining an insurer's income for a year from its participating life insurance business carried on in Canada. This provision was formerly found under section 2402. The substance of that section has been moved to Part III, the only Part to which it is applicable, and it has been updated to no longer reference obsolete provisions.

New section 309.1 applies to taxation years that begin after October 31, 2011 except that if a taxpayer has deducted an amount under subparagraph 138(3)(a)(iv) of the Act, as it read in its application to the taxpayer's last taxation year that began on or before October 31, 2011, in computing the taxpayer's income for that taxation year, then for the taxpayer's first taxation year that begins after October 31, 2011, paragraph 309.1(1)(b) shall be read with reference to former subparagraph 2402(b)(i).

(1.12) [Specified leasing property — new property] — Notwithstanding subsections (1) and (1.1), where, in a taxation year, a taxpayer has acquired a property that was not used by the taxpayer for any purpose in that year and the first use of the property by the taxpayer is a lease of the property in respect of which subsection (1.1) applies, the amount allowed to the taxpayer under subsection (1) in respect of the property for the year shall be deemed to be nil.

(1.13) [Specified leasing property — interpretation] — For the purposes of this section,

(a) "exempt property" means

(i) general purpose office furniture or office equipment included in Class 8 in Schedule II (including, for greater certainty, mobile office equipment such as cellular telephones and pagers) or general purpose electronic data processing equipment and ancillary data processing equipment, included in paragraph (f) of Class 10 in Schedule II, other than any individual piece thereof having a capital cost to the taxpayer in excess of $1,000,000,

(i.1) general-purpose electronic data processing equipment and ancillary data processing equipment, included in Class 45, 50 or 52 in Schedule II, other than any individual item of that type of equipment having a capital cost to the taxpayer in excess of $1,000,000,

(ii) furniture, appliances, television receivers, radio receivers, telephones, furnaces, hot-water heaters and other similar properties, designed for residential use,

(iii) a property that is a motor vehicle that is designed or adapted primarily to carry individuals on highways and streets and that has a seating capacity for not more than the driver and eight passengers, or a motor vehicle of a type commonly called a van or pick-up truck, or a similar vehicle,

(iv) a truck or tractor that is designed for hauling freight on highways,

(v) a trailer that is designed for hauling freight and to be hauled under normal operating conditions by a truck or tractor described in subparagraph (iv),

(vi) a building or part thereof included in Class 1, 3, 6, 20, 31 or 32 in Schedule II (including component parts such as electric wiring, plumbing, sprinkler systems, air-conditioning equipment, heating equipment, lighting fixtures, elevators and escalators) other than a building or part thereof leased primarily to a lessee that is

(A) a person who is exempt from tax by reason of section 149 of the Act,

(B) a person who uses the building in the course of carrying on a business the income from which is exempt from tax under Part I of the Act by reason of any provision of the Act, or

(C) a Canadian government, municipality or other Canadian public authority, who owned the building or part thereof at any time before the commencement of the lease (other than at any time during a period ending not later than one year after the later of the date the construction of the building or part thereof was completed and the date the building or part thereof was acquired by the lessee),

(vii) vessel mooring space, and

(viii) property that is included in Class 35 in Schedule II, and for the purposes of subparagraph (i), where a property is owned by two or more persons or partnerships, or any combination thereof, the capital cost of the property to each such person or partnership shall be deemed to be the total of all amounts each of which is the capital cost of the property to such a person or partnership;

Proposed Addition — Reg. 1100(1.13)(a.1), (a.2)

(a.1) notwithstanding paragraph (a), "exempt property" does not include property that is the subject of a lease if that property had, at the time the lease was entered into, an aggregate fair market value in excess of $1,000,000 and the lessee of the property is

(i) a person who is exempt from tax by reason of section 149 of the Act,

(ii) a person who uses the property in the course of carrying on a business, the income from which is exempt from tax under Part I of the Act by reason of any provision of the Act,

(iii) a Canadian government, or

(iv) a person not resident in Canada, except where the person uses the property primarily in the course of carrying on a business in Canada that is not a treaty-protected business;

(a.2) for the purposes of paragraph (a.1), where it is reasonable, having regard to all the circumstances, to conclude that one of the main reasons for the existence of two or more leases was to avoid the application of paragraph (a.1) by reason of each such lease being a lease of property where the property that was the subject of the lease had an aggregate fair market value, at the time the lease was entered into, not in excess of $1,000,000, each such lease shall be deemed to be a lease of property that had, at the time the lease was entered into, an aggregate fair market value in excess of $1,000,000.

Application: The August 27, 2010 draft legislation (Part 3 — other amendments), s. 126, will add paras. 1100(1.13)(a.1) and (a.2), applicable to property that is the subject of a lease entered into after 4:00 p.m. EST March 4, 2010.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): Paragraph 1100(1.13)(a) defines property that is "exempt property" for the purposes of the specified leasing property rules, which may apply to restrict a taxpayer's deduction of capital cost allowance in respect of specified leasing property.

New paragraph 1100(1.13)(a.1) extends the application of the specified leasing property rules to property leased in certain circumstances, by excluding them from the definition of "exempt property". There are two conditions for property to be subject to new paragraph 1100(1.13)(a.1).

First, the property must be the subject of a lease to:

- a person who is exempt from tax by reason of section 149 of the Act,
- a person who uses the property in the course of carrying on a business, the income from which is exempt from tax under Part I of the Act by reason of any provision of the Act,
- a Canadian government, or
- a person not resident in Canada, except where the person uses the property primarily in the course of carrying on a business in Canada that is not a treaty-protected business.

Second, the property must have, at the time the lease was entered into, an aggregate fair market value in excess of $1,000,000.

New paragraph 1100(1.13)(a.2) is an anti-avoidance rule that applies if it may be reasonable to conclude that one of the main reasons for the existence of two or more leases is to meet the $1,000,000 exemption and thus avoid the application of paragraph (a.1).

Federal Budget, Supplementary Information, March 4, 2010: Specified Leasing Property Rules

Arrangements to acquire and finance depreciable assets can have varying tax implications depending upon how the arrangement is structured. A taxpayer could borrow money from a financial institution to finance the acquisition, putting the property up as security for the loan, or lease the property from a financial institution that acquired the property for the purpose of leasing it to the taxpayer. Thus, economically, a lease and a loan are highly substitutable. The main difference between the two is the fact that they result in title to the asset being in different hands: in the case of a lease, the financial institution holds the title, whereas in the case of a loan the taxpayer holds this title.

However, unlike accounting rules, the income tax law does not reclassify the legal nature of lease arrangements. Because the income tax law looks at ownership to determine who may claim capital cost allowance, leases have been used to transfer capital cost allowance deductions from the user of an asset to the person financing its acquisition. To seek to neutralize the tax consequences of substituting a lease for a loan, the existing Specified Leasing Property rules in the Income Tax Regulations effectively recharacterize such a lease from the lessor's perspective to be a loan, with the lease payments received being treated as blended payments of principal and interest. The rules restrict a lessor's claim for capital cost allowance on the leased property to the lesser of the amount of capital cost allowance that would otherwise be deductible and the amount of lease payments received, less a calculation of notional interest amount for the year. In effect, the Specified Leasing Property rules put lessors in the same position as lenders who receive blended payments of principal (non-taxable) and interest (taxable).

The Specified Leasing Property rules contain certain exceptions. In particular, they do not apply to short-term leases or to leases of property with a value of less than $25,000, since generally such leases provide an immaterial tax benefit or do not, in substance, provide financing to the lessee. The rules also include an exception for certain types of property ("exempt property").

Some taxpayers have exploited these exemptions by leasing exempt property, and claiming capital cost allowance in respect of that property, to a lessee who is not subject to Canadian income tax and therefore cannot make use of the capital cost allowance, either because the lessee is tax-exempt or non-resident.

Budget 2010 proposes to extend the application of the Specified Leasing Property rules to otherwise exempt property that is the subject of a lease to a government or other tax-exempt entity, or to a non-resident. However, such a lease will continue to be exempt if the total value of the property that is the subject of the lease is less than $1 million. In this regard, an anti-avoidance rule will apply if it may reasonably be considered that one of the purposes of dividing property (or a class of property) among separate leases is to meet the $1 million exception.

These measures will apply to leases entered into after 4:00 pm Eastern Standard Time March 4, 2010.

(b) property shall be deemed to be the subject of a lease for a term of more than one year at any time where, at that time

(i) the property had been leased by the lessee thereunder, a person with whom the lessee does not deal at arm's length, or any combination thereof, for a period of more than one year ending at that time, or

(ii) it is reasonable, having regard to all the circumstances, to conclude that the lessor thereunder knew or ought to have known that the lessee thereunder, a person with whom the lessee does not deal at arm's length, or any combination thereof, would lease the property for more than one year; and

(c) for the purposes of paragraph (1.11)(c), where it is reasonable, having regard to all the circumstances, to conclude that one of the main reasons for the existence of two or more leases was to avoid the application of subsection (1.1) by reason of each such lease being a lease of property where the tangible property, other than exempt property, that was the subject of the lease had an aggregate fair market value, at the time the lease was entered into, not in excess of $25,000, each such lease shall be deemed to be a lease of tangible property that had, at the time the lease was entered into, an aggregate fair market value in excess of $25,000.

(c) the original lease shall be deemed to have expired and the renegotiated lease shall be deemed to be a new lease of the property entered into at that time, and

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 1100(26)

Letter from Dept. of Finance, Oct. 28, 2010:

Mr. Robert Raizenne, Osler, Hoskin & Harcourt LLP, Montréal, QC

Dear Mr. Raizenne:

I am writing in response to your letter dated September 27, 2010, concerning the "principal business" corporation exception in subsection 1100(26) of the Income Tax Regulations (Regulations), that applies to certain corporations as well as partnerships each member of which is such a corporation.

Subsection 1100(24) of the Regulations limits the amount of capital cost allowance (CCA) that may be used by passive investors in respect of specified energy property. A specified energy property is generally energy conservation property included in CCA class 34, 43.1, 43.2, 47 or 48 in Schedule II to the Regulations. The owners of such property benefit from an accelerated CCA rate. Subsection 1100(24) exists to prevent passive investors from sheltering other sources of income with losses that might otherwise arise due to the accelerated CCA.

Subsection 1100(26) of the Regulations provides an exception to the rule stated in subsection 1100(24). You suggest that this exception, which is limited to corporations the principal business of which is manufacturing or processing, mining operations or the sale, distribution or production of any form of energy, or partnerships of such corporations, be extended to include partnerships having as direct or indirect members one or more other partnerships which themselves satisfy all the criteria for "principal business" entity status.

We agree that this is in principle an appropriate result. In policy terms, the fact that the corporate structure includes more than one layer of partnership ought not to necessarily deny a corporation the accelerated CCA. We are, therefore, prepared to recommend to the Minister of Finance an amendment to subsection 1100(26) of the Regulations to apply to partnerships, all the members of which were, throughout the fiscal period of the partnerships, described by paragraph 1100(26)(a) or partnerships to which 1100(26) applies. We would also recommend that this amendment be effective for fiscal periods of partnerships that end after October 2010.

While I cannot offer any assurance that either the Minister of Finance or Parliament will agree with our recommendations, I hope that this statement of our intention is helpful to you.

Thank you for writing to us on this matter.

Yours sincerely,

Gerard Lalonde, Director, Tax Legislation Division, Tax Policy Branch

(i) expenses incurred after March, 1977 and before April, 1980 and before the particular time in respect of the well (other than expenses that may reasonably be regarded as having been incurred as consideration for services rendered to the taxpayer after March, 1980) if those expenses would be included in the Canadian exploration expense of the taxpayer within the meaning of paragraph 66.1(6)(a) [66.1(6)"Canadian exploration expense"] of the Act (if that paragraph were read without reference to subparagraphs (iii) and (iii.1) [paras. (f) and (g)] thereof and without reference to the words "within six months after the end of the year, the drilling of the well is completed and" in subparagraph (ii) [para. (c)] thereof, and if the reference in subparagraphs (iv) and (v) [paras. (h) and (i)] thereof to "any of subparagraphs (i) to (iii.1) [paras. (a) to (g)]" were read as a reference to "subparagraph (i) or (ii) [para. (a) or (c)]") other than

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1), where a rate of mortality or other probability used by an insurer in determining the premium for a policy is not reasonable in the circumstances, the Minister on the advice of the Superintendent of Insurance for Canada may make such revision to the rate as is reasonable in the circumstances and the revised rate shall be deemed to have been used by the insurer in determining the premium.

(3) For the purposes of subsection (1), where the present value of the premiums for a policy as at the date of issue of the policy is less than the aggregate of

(a) the present value, at that date, of the benefits provided for by the policy, and

(b) the present value, at that date, of all outlays and expenses made or incurred by the insurer or outlays and expenses that the insurer reasonably estimates it will make or incur in respect of the policy (except outlays and expenses to maintain the policy after all premiums under the policy have been paid and for which explicit provision has not been made in calculating the premiums) and such part of any other outlays and expenses made or incurred by the insurer that may reasonably be regarded as applicable thereto, an increased rate of interest shall be determined by multiplying the rate of interest used in determining the premiums by a constant factor so that when the increased rate of interest is used,

(c) the present value of the premiums at the date of issue of the policy shall equal

(d) the aggregate of the present values of the benefits, outlays and expenses referred to in paragraphs (a) and (b), and the increased rate of interest shall be deemed to have been used by the insurer in determining the premiums for the policy.

Related Provisions: Reg. 1403(4) — Computation of present value.

(4) For the purposes of subsection (3), a "present value" referred to in that subsection shall be computed by using the rates of mortality and other probabilities used by the insurer in determining its premiums, after making any revision required by subsection (2).

(5) For the purposes of subsection (1), where a record of the rate of interest or mortality used by an insurer in determining the premiums for a policy is not available,

(a) the insurer may, if the policy was issued before 1978, make a reasonable estimate of the rate; and

(b) the Minister, on the advice of the Superintendent of Insurance for Canada, may

(i) if the policy was issued before 1978 and the insurer has not made the estimate referred to in paragraph (a), or

(ii) if the policy was issued after 1977, make a reasonable estimate of the rate.

(6) Notwithstanding paragraph 1401(1)(c), a life insurer in computing its income for a taxation year may, in respect of any class of life insurance policies issued before its 1988 taxation year, other than policies referred to in paragraph 1401(1)(a) or (b), use a method of approximation to convert the reserve in respect of such policies reported by the insurer in its annual report to the relevant authority for the year to an amount that is a reasonable estimate of the amount that would otherwise be determined for such policies under paragraph 1401(1)(c), provided that that method of approximation is acceptable to the Minister on the advice of the relevant authority.

(7) For the purposes of subsection (1) and notwithstanding any other provision of this section, where

(a) an individual annuity contract was issued prior to 1969 by a life insurer, or

(b) a benefit was purchased prior to 1969 under a group annuity contract issued by a life insurer, and the contract

(c) is a policy in respect of which the provisions of paragraph 1401(1)(c) as it read in its application to the insurer's 1977 taxation year applied, the rates of interest and mortality used by the insurer in computing its reserve for the policy under that paragraph for its 1977 taxation year shall be used by the insurer in respect of that policy.

(8) For the purposes of subsection (1), where

(a) in a taxation year of an insurer, there has been a disposition to the insurer by another person with whom the insurer was dealing at arm's length in respect of which subsection 138(11.92) of the Act applied,

(b) as a result of the disposition, the insurer assumed obligations under life insurance policies (in this subsection referred to as the "transferred policies") in respect of which an amount may be claimed by the insurer as a reserve under paragraph 1401(1)(c) for the taxation year,

(c) the amount, if any, by which

(i) the aggregate of all amounts received or receivable by the insurer from the other person in respect of the transferred policies referred to in paragraph (b)

exceeds

(ii) the aggregate of all amounts paid or payable by the insurer to the other person in respect of commissions in respect of the amounts referred to in subparagraph (i)

exceeds the total of the maximum amounts that may be claimed by the insurer as a reserve under paragraph 1401(1)(c) (determined without reference to this subsection) in respect of the transferred policies for the taxation year, and

(d) the amount determined under paragraph (c) (in this subsection referred to as "reserve deficiency") can reasonably be attributed to the fact that the rates of interest or mortality used by the issuer of the transferred policies in determining the cash surrender values or premiums under such policies are no longer reasonable in the circumstances, the Minister, on the request of the insurer and with the advice of the relevant authority, may make such revision to the rates of interest or mortality to eliminate all or any part of that reserve deficiency, and those revised rates shall be deemed to have been used by the issuer of the transferred policies in determining the cash surrender value or premiums under the policies.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 1403(8)-(10)

(8) Subsections (9) and (10) apply to an insurer if

(a) in a taxation year of the insurer, there has been a disposition to the insurer by another person with whom the insurer was dealing at arm's length in respect of which subsection 138(11.92) of the Act applied;

(b) as a result of the disposition, the insurer assumed obligations under life insurance policies (in this subsection and subsections (9) and (10) referred to as the "transferred policies") in respect of which an amount may be claimed by the insurer as a reserve under paragraph 1401(1)(c) for the taxation year;

(c) the amount (referred to in this subsection and subsections (9) and (10) as the "reserve deficiency") determined by the following formula is a positive amount:

where

A is the total of all amounts received or receivable by the insurer from the other person in respect of the transferred policies,

B is the total of all amounts paid or payable by the insurer to the other person in respect of commissions in respect of the amounts referred to in the description of A, and

C is the total of the maximum amounts that may be claimed by the insurer as a reserve under 1401(1)(c) (determined without reference to this subsection) in respect of the transferred policies for the taxation year; and

(d) the reserve deficiency can reasonably be attributed to the fact that the rates of interest, mortality or policy lapse used by the issuer of the transferred policies in determining the cash surrender values or premiums under the transferred policies are no longer reasonable in the circumstances.

Related Provisions: ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas.

(9) If this subsection applies to an insurer in respect of transferred policies for which there was a reserve deficiency, then, for the purposes of subsection (1) and subject to subsection (10),

(a) the insurer may make such revisions to the rates of interest, mortality or policy lapse used by the issuer of the transferred policies to eliminate all or any part of the reserve deficiency; and

(b) the revised rates are deemed to have been used by the issuer of the transferred policies in determining the cash surrender value or premiums under the policies.

Related Provisions: Reg. 1403(8) — Conditions for Reg. 1403(9) to apply.

(10) If, under subsection (9), an insurer has revised the rates of interest, mortality or policy lapse used by the issuer of transferred policies, the Minister may, for the purposes of subsection (1) and paragraph (9)(b), make further revisions to the revised rates to the extent that the insurer's revisions to those rates are not reasonable in the circumstances.

Application: The October 31, 2011 draft legislation, s. 66, will amend subsec. 1403(8) to read as above and add subsecs. (9) and (10), applicable to dispositions that occur after November 1999.

Technical Notes: Part XIV of the Regulations provides rules for determining the amount that may be deducted by an insurer in computing its income for a taxation year under Part I of the Act as a reserve in respect of liabilities under insurance policies. Section 1403 provides rules regarding interest and mortality rates and other probabilities for the purposes of determining the life insurance policy reserve under paragraph 1401(1)(c). Subsection 1403(8) allows the Minister of National Revenue, in certain circumstances, to adjust upwards the life insurance policy reserves that otherwise may be claimed by a purchaser of an insurance business or line of business under paragraph 1401(1)(c) where the tax reserves are less than the actuarial reserves in respect of the insurance policies of that purchased business or line of business.

This subsection is amended to allow for the revision of policy lapse rates to eliminate all or part of a reserve deficiency if the deficiency is attributable to the fact that the lapse rates used by the insurer of the transferred policies are no longer reasonable in the circumstances. This subsection is also amended to better ensure that the ministerial discretion be limited to the approval of the adjusted rates provided the adjustments are reasonable.

Letter from Dept. of Finance, Dec. 1, 1999:

Dear [xxx]

This is in reply to your letter of November 8, 1999 requesting that amendments be made to the draft income tax legislation released on December 23, 1998 regarding trusts and to the Income Tax Regulations regarding the determination of tax reserves for life insurance policies. . . .

Regulations on Reserves

You are of the view that subsection 1403(8) of the Income Tax Regulations should be amended to allow an insurer that has acquired an insurance business, or a line of an insurance business, from another insurer to revise the lapse rates used by the other insurer for reserve purposes if those rates are no longer reasonable to eliminate all or part of what is referred to in subsection 1403(8) as a reserve deficiency (the "Reserve Deficiency"). From a policy perspective, we agree. Consequently, we are prepared to recommend to the Minister of Finance that subsection 1403(8) be amended to allow for revisions to lapse rates to eliminate all or part of a Reserve Deficiency if the deficiency is attributable to the fact that the lapse rates used by the issuer of the transferred policies are no longer reasonable in the circumstances.

Your second concern in regard to subsection 1403(8) of the Income Tax Regulations is that it provides the Minister of National Revenue with too much discretion in determining whether, and to what extent, rates can be changed to eliminate all or part of a Reserve Deficiency. We agree that subsection 1403(8) may be too broad in this regard. Consequently, we are prepared to recommend to the Minister of Finance that subsection 1403(8) be amended to better ensure that the Ministerial discretion be limited to the approval of adjusted rates provided the adjustments are reasonable.

We would also recommend that the amendments to subsection 1403(8) of the Income Tax Regulations be effective for dispositions occurring after November 1999. If the recommendation is acted upon, it is anticipated that the amendments would be included in a future technical bill.

I appreciate you taking the time to bring your concerns to my attention.

Yours sincerely,
Brian Ernewein, Director, Tax Legislation Division, Tax Policy Branch

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 1406(b)

(b) by excluding any liability to pay to a policyholder an amount out of a segregated fund.

Application: The March 16, 2011 draft legislation, s. 4, will amend para. 1406(b) to read as above, applicable to 2012 et seq.

Technical Notes: Section 1406 provides rules for the purpose of computing the policy reserves under sections 1404 and 1405 in respect of life insurance policies in Canada.

The Federal Court of Appeal, in Canada v. National Life Assurance Company of Canada, 2008 FCA 14 [[2008] 2 C.T.C. 39 — ed.] (dismissing the Crown's appeal from the decision in The National Life Assurance Company of Canada v. The Queen, 2006 TCC 551 [[2007] 1 C.T.C. 2251 — ed.]), determined that paragraph 1406(b) permitted the policy reserves computed under sections 1404 and 1405 to be computed without reference to any liabilities of an insurer in respect of a segregated fund other than liabilities in respect of an obligation on the part of a life insurer to make a guarantee payment. [Specifically, the Court ruled that the exclusion extended to negative policy reserves — ed.]

Paragraph 1406(b) is amended, in response to those Court decisions, to ensure that the policy reserves computed under sections 1404 and 1405 are computed excluding only the reserves of the insurer in respect of a benefit that is payable to a policyholder from a segregated fund. In effect, amounts determined under sections 1404 and 1405 of the Regulations will include liabilities in respect of guarantees in respect of the insurer's segregated fund policies, as well as the portion of the insurer's policy reserves that relate to their negative segregated fund policy reserves. This change is intended to ensure that the acquisition expenses associated with such a policy are amortized appropriately over the term of the policy.

DIVISION IV — INTERPRETATION

1703. (1) Taxation years for individuals in business — Where a taxpayer is an individual and his income for the taxation year includes income from a business the fiscal period of which does not coincide with the calendar year, in respect of depreciable properties acquired for the purpose of gaining or producing income from the business, a reference in this Part to

(a) "the taxation year" shall be deemed to be a reference to the fiscal period of the business; and

(b) "the end of the taxation year" shall be deemed to be a reference to the end of the fiscal period of the business.

(2) Depreciable cost — In this Part, "depreciable cost" to a taxpayer of property means, except as otherwise provided, the actual cost of the property to the taxpayer or the amount at which he is deemed under subsection 13(7) of the Act to have acquired the property, as the case may be.

(3) Notwithstanding the other provisions of this section, in the case of property the cost of which to a partnership has been determined under paragraph 20(5)(a) of the Income Tax Application Rules, the depreciable cost to the taxpayer of the property for the purposes of this Part shall be deemed to be an amount equal to the cost to the partnership of the particular property as determined under that paragraph.

(4) Personal use of property — Where a taxpayer has, in a taxation year, regularly used a property in part for the purpose of gaining or producing income from farming or fishing and in part for a purpose other than gaining or producing income, the depreciable cost to the taxpayer of the property for the purposes of this Part is the proportion of the amount that would otherwise be the depreciable cost that the use regularly made of the property for the purpose of gaining or producing income from farming or fishing is of the whole use regularly made of the property.

(5) Grants, subsidies or other government assistance — Where a taxpayer has received or is entitled to receive a grant, subsidy or other assistance from a government, municipality or other public authority in respect of or for the acquisition of property, the depreciable cost to the taxpayer of the property for the purposes of this Part is the amount that would otherwise be the depreciable cost minus the amount of the grant, subsidy or other assistance.

(6) Transactions not at arm's length — Where property did belong to a person (in this subsection referred to as the "original owner") and has, by one or more transactions between persons not dealing at arm's length, become vested in a taxpayer, the depreciable cost to the taxpayer of the property for the purposes of this Part is the lesser of

(a) the actual capital cost of the property to the taxpayer; and

(b) the amount by which the actual capital cost of the property to the original owner exceeds the aggregate of

(i) the total amount of depreciation for the property that, since the commencement of 1917, has been or should have been taken into account in accordance with the practice of the Department of National Revenue [Canada Revenue Agency] in ascertaining the income of the original owner and all intervening owners for the purposes of the Income War

Tax Act or in ascertaining a loss for a year where there was no income under that Act,

(ii) any accumulated depreciation reserves that the original owner or an intervening owner had for the property at the commencement of 1917 and that were recognized by the Minister for the purposes of the Income War Tax Act, and

(iii) the aggregate of the deductions, if any, allowed under this Part in respect of the property to the original owner and all intervening owners.

(7) Property acquired from a parent — Notwithstanding subsection (6), where depreciable property has been acquired by a taxpayer under such circumstances that the provisions of section 85H of the Act as it read in its application to the 1971 and prior taxation years are applicable for the determination of the capital cost of the property, the depreciable cost to the taxpayer of the property for the purposes of this Part is the capital cost as determined under that section.

(8) Property acquired by gift — Subsection (6) does not apply in respect of property which a taxpayer has acquired by gift.

2700. Interpretation — (1) Definitions — The definitions in this subsection apply in this Part.

"lump-sum premium" in relation to a group term life insurance policy means a premium for insurance under the policy on the life of an individual where all or part of the premium is for insurance that is (or would be if the individual survived) in respect of a period that ends more than 13 months after the earlier of the day on which the premium becomes payable and the day on which it is paid.

"paid-up premium" in relation to a group term life insurance policy means a premium for insurance under the policy on the life of an individual where the insurance is for the remainder of the lifetime of the individual and no further premiums will be payable for the insurance.

"premium category" in relation to term insurance provided under a group term life insurance policy means,

(a) where the premium rate applicable in respect of term insurance on the life of an individual depends on the group to which the individual belongs, any of the groups for which a premium rate is established, and

(b) in any other case, all individuals on whose lives term insurance is in effect under the policy, and, for the purpose of this definition, a single premium rate is deemed to apply for all term insurance under a policy in respect of periods in 1994, and where individuals are divided into separate groups solely on the basis of their age, sex, or both, the groups are deemed to be a single group for which a premium rate is established.

"term insurance" in relation to an individual and a group term life insurance policy means insurance under the policy on the life of the individual, other than insurance in respect of which a lump-sum premium has become payable or been paid.

(2) Accidental death insurance — For greater certainty, a premium for insurance on the life of an individual does not include an amount for accidental death insurance.

2701. Prescribed benefit — (1) Subject to subsection (2), for the purpose of subsection 6(4) of the Act, the amount prescribed for a taxation year in respect of insurance under a group term life insurance policy on the life of a taxpayer is the total of

(a) the taxpayer's term insurance benefit under the policy for the calendar year in which the taxation year ends,

(b) the taxpayer's prepaid insurance benefit under the policy for that calendar year, and

(c) the total of all sales and excise taxes payable in respect of premiums paid under the policy in that calendar year for insurance on the life of the taxpayer, other than

(i) taxes paid, directly or by way of reimbursement, by the taxpayer, and

(ii) taxes in respect of premiums for term insurance that, if the taxpayer were to die, would be paid otherwise than

(A) to the taxpayer,

(B) for the benefit of the taxpayer,

(C) as a benefit that the taxpayer desired to have conferred on any person.

(ii) no premium rate that applies for term insurance provided under the policy on the life of an individual in respect of the year depends on the age or sex of the individual,

(iii) no amounts are payable under the policy for term insurance on the lives of individuals in respect of the year other than premiums payable on a regular basis that are based on the amount of term insurance in force in the year for each individual, and

(iv) the year is after 1995,

where

A is the total of the premiums payable for term insurance provided under the policy on the taxpayer's life in respect of periods in the year, to the extent that each such premium is in respect of term insurance that, if the taxpayer died in the year, would be paid to or for the benefit of the taxpayer or as a benefit that the taxpayer desired to have conferred on any person, and

B is the total amount paid by the taxpayer in respect of term insurance under the policy on the taxpayer's life in respect of the year; and

where

A is the amount of term insurance in effect on that day under the policy on the taxpayer's life, except the portion, if any, of the amount that, if the taxpayer were to die on that day, would be paid otherwise than

(A) to the taxpayer,

(B) to benefit of the taxpayer, or

(C) as a benefit that the taxpayer desired to have conferred on any person, and

B is the average daily cost of insurance for the year for the premium category in which the taxpayer is included on that day

where

A is the total of the premiums payable for term insurance provided under the policy on the lives of individuals in respect of periods in the year while they are in the premium category,

B is the total of the amounts paid in the year under the policy for term insurance in respect of periods in preceding years (other than amounts that have otherwise been taken into account for the purpose of subsection 6(4) of the Act), to the extent that the total can reasonably be considered to relate to term insurance provided on the lives of individuals in the premium category,

C is the total amount of policy dividends and experience rating refunds paid in the year under the policy and not distributed to individuals whose lives are insured under the policy, to the extent that the total can reasonably be considered to relate to term insurance provided on the lives of individuals in the premium category, and

D is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount of term insurance in force on a day in the year on the lives of individuals in the premium category on that day; or

(b) the amount that the policyholder determines using a reasonable method that is substantially similar to the method set out in paragraph (a).

(4) Determination of present value — For the purpose of subsection (3), the present value on a day in a calendar year

(a) shall be determined using assumptions that are reasonable at some time in the year; and

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 2902(e) opening words

(e) for the purpose of sections 194 and 195 of the Act, an expenditure of a current or capital nature, to the extent that the taxpayer has received or is entitled to receive a reimbursement in respect of the expenditure from

Application: The October 27, 1998 draft regulations, s. 2, will amend the opening words of para. 2902(e) to read as above, applicable to amounts that become receivable after December 20, 1991.

Technical Notes: Section 2902 defines a prescribed expenditure for the purposes of subsection 127(9) of the Income Tax Act. Prescribed expenditures are not eligible for investment tax credits.

Paragraph 2902(e) is amended consequential on the amendments to the definition "contract payment" in subsection 127(9) of the Act. Those amendments provided that a contract payment included certain payments for scientific research and experimental development that is performed for or on behalf of a person entitled to a deduction in respect of the amount because of subparagraph 37(1)(a)(i) or (i.1) of the Act. Contract payments received reduce the base upon which a taxpayer's ITC in respect of SR&ED is calculated. Those amendments were effective for amounts that became payable after December 20, 1991. In view of the amended definition of "contract payment" applicable to ITCs in respect of SR&ED, the provisions of paragraph 2902(e) became redundant for ITC purposes. However, paragraph 2902(e) is still relevant in respect of claims for refunds of Part VIII Refundable Tax on Corporations in Respect of the Scientific Research and Experimental Development Tax Credit. Regulation 2902(e) is, therefore, amended to apply only for the purposes of the Part VIII Refundable Tax.

exchange rate expected to prevail at the date on which each such payment would be required to be made, will be substantially less than that total would be if each such payment was converted to Canadian currency at the time that each such payment became owing;

(b) that the purchaser or a person with whom the purchaser does not deal at arm's length is entitled at any time to, directly or indirectly, receive or have available

(i) as a form of assistance from a government, municipality or other public authority, whether as a grant, a subsidy, a forgivable loan, a deduction from tax (other than an amount described in clause (b)(i)(B) of the definition "tax shelter" in subsection 237.1(1) of the Act) or an investment allowance, or as any other form of assistance, or

(ii) by reason of a revenue guarantee or other agreement in respect of which revenue may be earned by the purchaser or a person with whom the purchaser does not deal at arm's length, to the extent that the revenue guarantee or other agreement may reasonably be considered to ensure that the purchaser or person will receive a return of all or a portion of the purchaser's outlays in respect of the interest;

(c) that is the proceeds of disposition to which the purchaser may be entitled by way of an agreement or other arrangement under which the purchaser has a right, either absolutely or contingently, to dispose of the interest (otherwise than as a consequence of the purchaser's death), including the fair market value of any property that the agreement or arrangement provides for the acquisition of in exchange for all or any part of the interest; and

4800.1 [Prescribed trusts] — For the purposes of paragraph 107(1)(a) and subsections 107(1.1), (2) and (4.1) of the Act, the following are prescribed trusts;

Application: The July 16, 2010 draft regulations (Part 1 — technical), s. 171, will amend the opening words of s. 4800.1 to read as above, applicable after 1999.

Technical Notes (July 2010): Section 4800.1 provides a list of trusts that are prescribed for a number of identified provisions in the Act. Section 4800.1 is amended to update the list of provisions in the Act for which it applies. As a result, a reference to subsection 107(1.1) of the Act is added and a reference to paragraph 108(1)(c) is removed. The amendments to the Act that give rise to the need for these changed references have generally had effect since the start of 2000.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 4801

4801. [Mutual fund trust — prescribed conditions] — In applying at any time paragraph 132(6)(c) of the Act, the following are prescribed conditions in respect of a trust:

(a) either

(i) the following conditions are met:

(A) there has been at or before that time a lawful distribution in a province to the public of units of the trust and a prospectus, registration statement or similar document was not, under the laws of the province, required to be filed in respect of the distribution, and

(B) the trust

(I) was created after 1999 and on or before that time, or

(II) satisfies, at that time, the conditions prescribed in section 4801.001, or

(ii) a class of the units of the trust is, at that time, qualified for distribution to the public; and

(b) in respect of a class of the trust's units that meets at that time the conditions described in paragraph (a), there are at that time no fewer than 150 beneficiaries of the trust, each of whom holds

(i) not less than one block of units of the class, and

(ii) units of the class having an aggregate fair market value of not less than $500.

Application: The July 16, 2010 draft regulations (Part 1 — technical), s. 172, will amend s. 4801 to read as above, applicable to 2000 et seq., except that for the purpose of applying cl. 4801(a)(i)(B) to taxation years that end before 2004, that clause is to be read as follows:

(B) the trust was created after 1999 and on or before that time, or Technical Notes (July 2010): Section 4801 contains a number of prescribed conditions that apply for the purposes of paragraph 132(6)(c) of the Act. These conditions must be met in order for a trust to qualify for income tax purposes as a mutual fund trust. The expression "mutual fund trust" is defined in subsection 132(6) of the Act.

Part XLVIII of the Regulations is amended — by adding subclause 4801(a)(i)(B)(II) and section 4801.001 — so that a trust created before 2000 that is a widely held unit trust may qualify as a mutual fund trust where it makes a lawful distribution in a province to the public of its units and a number of other conditions are met. This amendment — which extends to trusts created before 2000 a similar existing rule that applies only to trusts created after 1999 — applies only for the 2004 and subsequent taxation years and only to trusts that elect for section 4801.001 to apply.

Section 4801 is also amended to update the language of the provision — these changes do not represent a change in tax policy. These amendments apply to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years.

Technical Notes to ITA 132(6)(c), July 18, 2005: It is intended that proposed amendments to Part XLVIII of the Regulations would include the following: [Amendment to French version omitted] ... Paragraph 4801(a) of the Regulations would be amended so that subparagraph 4801(a)(ii) applies to a trust created before 2000, for its 2004 and subsequent taxation years, if the trust elects by notifying the Minister of National Revenue in writing in its return of income for the taxation year of the trust that ends in the calendar year in which the amending regulations are published in Part II of the Canada Gazette. As a result of the proposed change, if there has been a lawful distribution in a province to the public of units of a class of units of a trust created before 2000 and a prospectus, registration statement or similar document was not required under the laws of the province to be filed in respect of the distribution, the trust could rely upon subparagraph 4801(a)(ii) to meet, in its 2004 and later taxation years, the condition prescribed under paragraph 4801(a).

These amendments to the Regulations would, except as described above, be proposed to apply to the 2000 and subsequent taxation years of trusts.

Letter from Dept. of Finance, March 12, 2003:

Dear [xxx]

Thank you for your letter of November 6, 2002, concerning the application of section 4801 of the Income Tax Regulations to a trust seeking to qualify as a mutual fund trust for income tax purposes.

The meaning for income tax purposes of the expression "mutual fund trust" is found in subsection 132(6) of the Income Tax Act. Paragraph 132(6)(c) of the Act requires that a trust meet at a particular time prescribed conditions in order to qualify at that time as a mutual fund trust.

The first prescribed condition is found in paragraph 4801(a): it requires either that a class of units of a trust be qualified for distribution to the public, as defined in subsection 4803(2) of the Regulations, or for trusts established after 1999, that there be a lawful distribution in a province to the public of units off the trust where a prospectus, registration statement or similar document was not required under the laws of the province to be filed in respect of the distribution.

You are seeking an amendment to paragraph 4801(a) of the Regulations so that a trust created before 2000 would be able to elect to rely upon the condition in subparagraph 4801(a)(ii) in order to satisfy the requirements of that paragraph.

Subparagraph 4801(a)(ii) of the Regulations is generally intended to ensure that the requirements under the Act for a securities distribution are generally no more onerous than those imposed under provincial securities requirements for mutual fund trusts. From a tax policy perspective, it would not be inconsistent with this goal to permit a trust created before 2000 to be able to rely upon that subparagraph in satisfying the prescribed conditions for mutual fund trusts.

We are, therefore, prepared to recommend an amendment to the Regulations so that, for the 2004 and subsequent taxation years of trusts created before 2000, the condition prescribed under paragraph 4801(a) would be met, under subparagraph 4801(a)(ii), if there has been a lawful distribution in a province to the public of units of a class of units of the trust and a prospectus, registration statement or similar document was not required under the laws of the province to be filed in respect of the distribution. However, to prevent such a trust from being re-characterized, contrary to the intention of its trustee or investors, as a mutual fund trust under the Act, such a revised subparagraph 4801(a)(ii) would apply to trusts created before 2000 only if the trust were to so elect and only for taxation years that end after the time at which the election was made.

Of course, we cannot offer any assurance that either the Minister of Finance or Parliament will agree with the recommendation that we intend to make in this regard. Nonetheless, we trust that this statement of our position is helpful.

Thank you for writing.

Yours sincerely,
Brian Ernewein, Director, Tax Legislation Division, Tax Policy Branch

Proposed Addition — PEI Community Economic Development Equity Tax Credit Act

Letter from Dept. of Finance, Oct. 28, 2011: The Honourable Wesley J. Sheridan, Minister of Finance and Municipal Affairs, Government of Prince Edward Island, Charlottetown, PE

Dear Minister Sheridan:

Thank you for your correspondence of August 30, 2011 regarding a potential amendment to the Income Tax Regulations to allow shares of corporations (including incorporated cooperative associations) registered under the Community Economic Development Equity Tax Credit Act to be qualified investments for registered retirement savings plans (RRSPs) and other registered plans. Please excuse the delay in replying.

Our Government is committed to working closely with provinces on their priorities and I congratulate you on the launch of Prince Edward Island's Community Economic Development Business Program to encourage local investment and strengthen the rural business sector. I also note that the tax credit portion of this program will be administered under the Canada-Prince Edward Island Tax Collection Agreement.

Department of Finance officials have considered your request. They confirm that the Community Economic Development Equity Tax Credit Act creates a program that is similar to an existing program in Nova Scotia under its Equity Tax Credit Act. Since shares registered under that program are treated as qualified investments for RRSPs and other registered plans, prescribing shares registered under PEI's new program will help ensure consistent treatment of programs and taxpayers in different provinces. On that basis, I am prepared to recommend to the Governor in Council that the list of qualified investments under subsection 4900(1) of the Income Tax Regulations be expanded to include shares registered under the Community Economic Development Equity Tax Credit Act. I would also recommend that the amendment apply in respect of investments acquired after August 2011.

I trust that this statement of our intention is helpful to you.

Yours sincerely,

James M. Flaherty, Minister of Finance

5202. Interpretation — In this Part, except as otherwise provided in section 5203 or 5204,

"adjusted business income" of a corporation for a taxation year means the amount, if any, by which

(a) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the income of the corporation for the year from an active business carried on in Canada

exceeds

(b) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the loss of the corporation for the year from an active business carried on in Canada;

"Canadian resource profits" has the meaning that would be assigned to the expression "resource profits" by section 1204 if

(a) section 1204 were read without reference to subparagraph 1204(1)(b)(iv), and

(b) the definition "resource activity" in subsection 1206(1) were read without reference to paragraph (d) of that definition;

History: The definition "Canadian resource profits" in s. 5202 amended by P.C. 1996-1488, s. 6, September 24, 1996, Canada Gazette, Part II, October 16, 1996, applicable to taxation years that begin after December 20, 1991.

"Canadian resource profits" added by P.C. 1994-230, s. 6, February 10, 1994, Canada Gazette, Part II, February 23, 1994, applicable to 1990 et seq.

"cost of capital" of a corporation for a taxation year means an amount equal to the aggregate of

(a) 10 per cent of the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the gross cost to the corporation of a property referred to in paragraph 1100(1)(e), (f), (g) or (h), paragraph 1102(1)(d) or (g) or Schedule II that

(i) was owned by the corporation at the end of the year, and

(ii) was used by the corporation at any time during the year, and

(b) the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the rental cost incurred by the corporation during the year for the use of any property a portion of the gross cost of which would be included by virtue of paragraph (a) if the property were owned by the corporation at the end of the year, but for the purposes of this definition, the gross cost of a property or rental cost for the use of any property does not include that portion of those costs that reflects the extent to which the property was used by the corporation during the year

(c) in an active business carried on outside Canada, or

(d) to earn Canadian investment income or foreign investment income as defined in subsection 129(4) of the Act;

"cost of labour" of a corporation for a taxation year means an amount equal to the aggregate of

(a) the salaries and wages paid or payable during the year to all employees of the corporation for services performed during the year, and

(b) all other amounts each of which is an amount paid or payable during the year for the performance during the year, by any person other than an employee of the corporation, of functions relating to

(i) the management or administration of the corporation,

(ii) scientific research and experimental development, or

(iii) a service or function that would normally be performed by an employee of the corporation, but for the purposes of this definition, the salaries and wages referred to in paragraph (a) or other amounts referred to in paragraph (b) do not include that portion of those amounts that

(c) was included in the gross cost to the corporation of a property (other than a property that was manufactured by the corporation and leased during the year by the corporation to another person) that was included in computing the cost of capital of the corporation for the year, or

(d) was related to an active business carried on outside Canada by the corporation;

History: Subpara. (b)(ii) of the definition 5202"cost of labour" amended by P.C. 2000-1095, s. 2, July 27, 2000, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 16, 2000, applicable to costs incurred after Feburary 27, 1995.

"cost of manufacturing and processing capital" of a corporation for a taxation year means 100/85 of that portion of the cost of capital of the corporation for that year that reflects the extent to which each property included in the calculation thereof was used directly in qualified activities of the corporation during the year, but the amount so calculated shall not exceed the cost of capital of the corporation for the year;

"cost of manufacturing and processing labour" of a corporation for a taxation year means 100/75 of that portion of the cost of labour of the corporation for that year that reflects the extent to which

(a) the salaries and wages included in the calculation thereof were paid or payable to persons for the portion of their time that they were directly engaged in qualified activities of the corporation during the year, and

(b) the other amounts included in the calculation thereof were paid or payable to persons for the performance of functions that would be directly related to qualified activities of the corporation during the year if those persons were employees of the corporation, but the amount so calculated shall not exceed the cost of labour of the corporation for the year;

Proposed Addition — Reg. 5600 — Fiat demerger

Letter from Dept. of Finance, December 23, 2011: Mr. Richard Palmer and Ms. Monica Ciceri, Chief Financial Officer, and Group Controller, Fiat S.p.A., Torino, Italy

Dear Mr. Palmer and Ms. Ciceri:

Re: Canadian Tax Aspects of Fiat S.p.A. Demerger of January 1, 2011

I am replying to your letter of December 12, 2011 concerning your original request of June 28, 2011 to the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) on behalf of Canadian resident shareholders of Fiat S.p.A. (Fiat). You ask that Fiat's distribution of shares of Fiat Industrial S.p.A. (Fiat Industrial) be a "prescribed" distribution for the purposes of the foreign spin-off distribution rules in section 86.1 of the Income Tax Act.

We understand that Fiat's common shares were widely held and actively traded on the Milan Stock Exchange at the time of the distribution, Fiat's distribution of shares of Fiat Industrial occurred on January 1, 2011, and that the distribution was tax-deferred in Italy. We also understand that the distribution complies with Article 173 of Presidential Decree No. 917/86 of Italy and that it complies with Article 37-bis of Presidential Decree No. 600/73, which is a specific anti-avoidance rule in Italian income tax law that can be applied to an abusive reorganization of a corporation to cause such a reorganization to be disregarded.

On December 16, 2011, Mr. Michael Wall and Ms. Silvia Sardi spoke on behalf of Fiat with Kerry Harnish and Venetia Putureanu of the Tax Legislation Division of the Department of Finance Canada for the purpose of clarifying certain aspects of the above-mentioned Italian income tax law related to tax-deferred spin-off transactions as well as the types of shares distributed on the spin-off. It was noted at that time that prescription under the Income Tax Act can be considered only in respect of a distribution of common shares of Fiat Industrial to the common shareholders of Fiat. We understand that the distribution by Fiat on January 1, 2011 also included a distribution of preferred shares and savings shares of Fiat Industrial to Fiat's preferred shareholders and its savings shareholders, respectively. It is not our understanding that the preferred shares and the savings shares are common shares within the meaning [typo corrected by Finance email Jan. 17/12 — ed.] in the Income Tax Act.

Based on our understanding of the information referred to above, we are prepared to recommend to the Minister of Finance that the distribution by Fiat to its common shareholders of common shares of Fiat Industrial, made on January 1, 2011, be a "prescribed" distribution for the purpose of section 86.1 of the Income Tax Act. While we cannot offer any assurance that our recommendation will be accepted, we hope that this statement of our intention is helpful to the common shareholders of Fiat.

We ask that Fiat and Fiat Industrial confirm in writing that the Government of Canada has their permission to publish this letter without redacting the names of the parties given that Canadian shareholders who held common shams of Fiat at the time of the distribution may be interested in knowing the content of this letter.

Finally, we wish to thank both Mr. Wall and Ms. Sardi for their timely assistance in responding to our requests for additional information in respect of this matter.

Yours sincerely,

Shawn D. Porter, Director, Tax Legislation Division, Tax Policy Branch

Proposed Addition — Reg. 5600 — Foster's spinoff of Treasury Wine

Letter from Dept. of Finance, December 23, 2011: Ms. Carmen Wong and Mr. Terry McDowell, Ernst & Young LLP, Chartered Accountants, Toronto, ON

Dear Ms. Wong and Mr. McDowell:

Re: Foreign Spin-off — Eligible Distribution by Foster's Group Limited of Treasury Wine Estates Limited on May 9, 2011

I am replying to your letters of September 23, 2011 and August 8, 2011 to the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) concerning your request on behalf of Canadian resident shareholders of Foster's Group Limited (Foster's). You ask that Foster's distribution of shares of Treasury Wine Estates Limited (TWE) to Foster's common shareholders be a "prescribed" distribution for the purposes of the foreign spin-off rules in section 86.1 of the Income Tax Act.

The CRA has confirmed to the Department of Finance that the Foster's distribution of TWE shares to Foster's common shareholders satisfies the technical requirements of the Canadian foreign spin-off rules in section 86.1 of the Income Tax Act. The Department of Finance has reviewed the general scheme of the Australian income tax law applicable to tax-deferred spin-off transactions undertaken under Australia income tax law. We understand that Foster's common shares were widely held and actively traded on the Australian Securities Exchange at the time of the distribution, that TWE was a wholly-owned subsidiary of Foster's immediately before the distribution, that Foster's distribution of common shares of TWE occurred on May 9, 2011, and that the distribution was tax-deferred in Australia. We also understand that the distribution complies with Division 125 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 (Australia) and that the Australian Taxation Office has issued a Ruling confirming that the distribution of the TWE common shares to Foster's common shareholders qualified as a tax-free distribution.

Based on our understanding of the information referred to above, we are prepared to recommend to the Minister of Finance that the distribution by Foster's to its common shareholders of common shares of TWE, made on May 9, 2011, be a "prescribed" distribution for the purposes of section 86.1 of the Income Tax Act. While we cannot offer any assurance that our recommendation will be accepted, we hope that this statement of our intention is helpful to the common shareholders of Foster's.

We ask that Foster's and TWE confirm in writing that the Government of Canada has their permission to publish this letter without redacting the names of the parties given that Canadian shareholders who held common shares of Foster's at the time of the distribution may be interested in knowing the content of this letter.

Yours sincerely,

Shawn D. Porter, Director, Tax Legislation Division, Tax Policy Branch

PART LIX — FOREIGN AFFILIATES

History: Part LIX was consolidated by the Consolidated Regulations of Canada, chapter 945, proclaimed in force August 15, 1979, by P.C. 1979-1934, July 19, 1979, Canada Gazette, Part II, August 8, 1979.

Proposed Amendments — Reg. 5900–5910

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): Part LIX of the Regulations contains rules for the provisions of the Act that relate to foreign affiliates of a taxpayer resident in Canada. These provisions are primarily found in sections 91 to 93.1, 95 and 113 of the Act. Part LIX also provides, in section 5909, a rule relating to non-resident trusts, but that rule is not the subject of any amendment in this package.

Part LIX contains, among other things, rules respecting the computation of the exempt surplus, taxable surplus and underlying foreign tax balances of a foreign affiliate. These balances are used in determining (under section 113 of the Act) the amount deductible from the taxable income of a Canadian corporation in respect of the actual payment of a dividend by a foreign affiliate or, where an election is made under subsection 93(1) of the Act, a deemed dividend from a foreign affiliate. Part LIX also contains rules for the computation of a foreign affiliate's FAPL for a taxation year (in section 5903) and for the determination, in certain circumstances, of a share's "participating percentage" (in section 5904) for the purpose of determining the amount of FAPI to be included (under subsection 91(1) of the Act) in a taxpayer's income in respect of a share of a controlled foreign affiliate.

Various provisions of Part LIX are being amended. These amendments can be grouped into 10 different categories.

1. Budget 2007 Consequentials: This package of amendments provides consequential changes to the Regulations that flow from the amendments to the foreign affiliate provisions of the Act contained in Bill C-28 (which received royal assent on December 14, 2007) and the Budget Implementation Act, 2009 (which received royal assent on March 12, 2009). These Act changes, taken together, are referred to in these notes as the "Budget 2007 Act changes". These consequential amendments are primarily in section 5907, but there is also one change in new subsection 5905(5.2).

2. Partnerships: This package includes the restructuring of section 5902 and portions of section 5905 in order to accommodate elections under subsection 93(1.2) of the Act in respect of partnership dispositions of foreign affiliate shares. New section 5908 is also added in order to consolidate various partnership provisions of Part LIX and provide for consequential changes that flow from certain amendments made to the Act in the Income Tax Amendments Act, 2000.

3. Foreign Accrual Property Losses ("FAPLs"): This package includes amendments in respect of FAPLs. These amendments are in section 5903 and subsections 5907(1.3) and (1.4). Some of these changes to section 5903 are consequential to the Budget 2007 Act changes that deal with paragraph 95(2)(f) of the Act and its related provisions.

4. Restructuring of Section 5905: As a result of certain changes that were necessitated by the partnership rules, portions of section 5905 have been either consolidated or restructured to make them more user-friendly. These provisions are generally found in existing subsections 5905(1) to (9), although no changes are proposed to existing subsection 5905(7).

5. Bump Rules: Substantial revisions are being made to rules initially proposed, in part, in a December 2002 draft technical bill and, in part, in the February 2004 revised version of that bill that deal with the interaction between foreign affiliate surplus balances and the winding-up bump under paragraph 88(1)(d) of the Act. These rules are found in new subsections 5905(5.11) to (5.13) and subsection 5905(5.4).

6. February 27, 2004 Proposals: Three significant features of the remaining foreign affiliate proposals issued in February 2004 are, as part of this package, being abandoned in favour of a new provision. This new provision is referred to in these notes as the "fill-the-hole" rule and is found in proposed subsections 5905(7.1) to (7.7). The three rules from the February 2004 proposals that are being abandoned, are as follows:

- the "deficit levitation" rules that were found in proposed subsections 5905(7) to (7.4);
- the "interest push-down rules" that were found in proposed subsections 5907(2.8) to (2.83); and
- the "consolidated net surplus" rules that were generally found in various provisions of sections 5902 and 5905 and section 92 of the Act. Note, however, that taxpayers can elect to have these rules apply on a transitional basis. Readers are referred to the notes under clause 51 of this package for further details.

7. Permanent Establishments: Although partly consequential to the Budget 2007 Act changes, amendments are being made to section 5906 (and also to section 8201) to introduce a comprehensive definition of the term "permanent establishment" for the various foreign affiliate provisions of the Act and Part LIX of the Regulations. These amendments ensure that a common definition of "permanent establishment" applies for all purposes of the foreign affiliate rules.

8. Non-Taxable Portion of ECP Gains: A rule that was originally proposed in 2002 that includes in "exempt earnings" the non-taxable portion of gains from the disposition of eligible capital property, in certain circumstances, is included in this package. Additionally, a new rule is also being added to provide symmetry in respect of certain non-deducted amounts in respect of eligible capital property. That rule is found in paragraph (a.1) of the definition "exempt loss" in subsection 5907(1).

9. Foreign Tax Consolidation: This package also includes some minor modifications to the foreign tax consolidation provisions in subsection 5907(1.1).

10. Foreign Oil and Gas Levies: This package includes new section 5910 which deems, in certain circumstances, a portion of certain foreign oil and gas levies to be income taxes paid by a foreign affiliate for the purposes of Part LIX of the Regulations. These rules are analogous to the amendments to section 126 of the Act (foreign tax credits) made as part of Budget 2000.

For more details on all of these amendments, refer to the notes below under the relevant headings.

Note that, to the extent they have not been dealt with as part of the amendments to the Act and the Regulations noted above, any outstanding measures from the foreign affiliate proposals issued in February 2004 will be the subject of a separate package of proposals to be issued in the near future.

Section 5900 is the main "gateway" to Part LIX. Its primary function is to prescribe the amounts that are deductible by a corporation resident in Canada under section 113 of the Act in respect of dividends from a foreign affiliate. Section 5900 is the section that makes relevant the concepts of exempt and taxable surplus, concepts that occupy a substantial portion of Part LIX of the Regulations. Section 5900 also prescribes rules for the purpose of claiming deductions under subsection 91(5) of the Act in respect of dividends received out of "previously-taxed FAPI". Subsection 91(5) is a rule that is aimed at avoiding double taxation.

5900. Dividends out of exempt, taxable and pre-acquisition surplus — (1) Where at any time a corporation resident in Canada or a foreign affiliate of the corporation receives a dividend on a share of any class of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation,

(a) for the purposes of this Part and paragraph 113(1)(a) of the Act, the portion of the dividend paid out of the exempt surplus of the affiliate is prescribed to be that proportion of the dividend received that

(i) such portion of the whole dividend paid by the affiliate on the shares of that class at that time as was deemed by section 5901 to have been paid out of the affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation

is of

(ii) the whole dividend paid by the affiliate on the shares of that class at that time;

Proposed Addition — Reg. 5900(1)(a.1)

(a.1) for the purposes of this Part and paragraph 113(1)(a.1) of the Act, the portion of the dividend paid out of the hybrid surplus of the affiliate is prescribed to be that proportion of the dividend received that

(i) such portion of the whole dividend paid by the affiliate on the shares of that class at that time as was deemed by section 5901 to have been paid out of the affiliate's hybrid surplus in respect of the corporation

is of

(ii) the whole dividend paid by the affiliate on the shares of that class at that time;

Application: The August 19, 2011 draft legislation (foreign affiliates), subsec. 23(1), will add para. 5900(1)(a.1), applicable to dividends received after August 19, 2011.

Technical Notes: Subsection 5900(1) is being amended to add new paragraphs (a.1) and (c.1) to take into account the new concept of "hybrid surplus", as discussed in the overview section of these notes and as newly defined in subsection 5907(1), which is discussed below.

New paragraph 5900(1)(a.1) prescribes the amounts that are deductible by a corporation resident in Canada under new subparagraph 113(1)(a.1)(i) of the Act in respect of dividends from a foreign affiliate's hybrid surplus. New paragraph 5900(1)(c.1) prescribes the amount that is to be taken into account under new subparagraph 113(1)(a.1)(ii) of the Act as foreign tax applicable to the hybrid surplus portion of the dividend.

(b) for the purposes of this Part and subsection 91(5) and paragraphs 113(1)(b) and (c) of the Act, the portion of the dividend paid out of the taxable surplus of the affiliate is prescribed to be that portion of the dividend received that

(i) such portion of the whole dividend paid by the affiliate on the shares of that class at that time as was deemed by section 5901 to have been paid out of the affiliate's taxable surplus in respect of the corporation

is of

(ii) the whole dividend paid by the affiliate on the shares of that class at that time;

(c) for the purposes of this Part and paragraph 113(1)(d) of the Act, the portion of the dividend paid out of the pre-acquisition surplus of the affiliate is prescribed to be that proportion of the dividend received that

(ii) the whole dividend paid by the affiliate on the shares of that class at that time; and

Proposed Addition — Reg. 5900(1)(c.1)

(c.1) for the purposes of this Part and paragraph 113(1)(a.1) of the Act, the foreign tax applicable to the portion of the dividend prescribed to have been paid out of the hybrid surplus of the affiliate is prescribed to be that proportion of the hybrid underlying tax applicable, in respect of the corporation, to the whole dividend paid by the affiliate on the shares of that class at that time that

(i) the amount of the dividend received by the corporation or the affiliate, as the case may be, on that share at that time

is of

(ii) the whole dividend paid by the affiliate on the shares of that class at that time; and

Application: The August 19, 2011 draft legislation (foreign affiliates), subsec. 23(2), will add para. 5900(1)(c.1), applicable to dividends received after August 19, 2011.

See also Application under ITA s. 90 re extended reassessment deadline.

Technical Notes: See under Reg. 5900(1)(a.1).

(d) for the purposes of this Part and paragraph 113(1)(b) of the Act, the foreign tax applicable to the portion of the dividend prescribed to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the affiliate is prescribed to be that proportion of the underlying foreign tax applicable, in respect of the corporation, to the whole dividend paid by the affiliate on the shares of that class at that time that

(i) the amount of the dividend received by the corporation or the affiliate, as the case may be, on that share at that time

is of

(ii) the whole dividend paid by the affiliate on the shares of that class at that time.

(2) Notwithstanding paragraphs (1)(a) and (b), where at any time a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada pays a dividend on a share of a class of its capital stock (other than a share in respect of which an election is made under subsection 93(1) of the Act) to the corporation, the corporation may, in its return of income under Part I of the Act for its taxation year in which the dividend was received by it, designate an amount not exceeding the portion of the dividend received that would, but for this subsection, be prescribed to have been paid out of the affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation and that amount

(a) is prescribed to have been paid out of the affiliate's taxable surplus in respect of the corporation and not to have been paid out of that exempt surplus; and

(b) for the purposes of paragraph (1)(d) and the definitions "underlying foreign tax" and "underlying foreign tax applicable" in subsection 5907(1) is deemed to have been paid by the affiliate to the corporation as a separate whole dividend on the shares of that class of the capital stock immediately after that time, and that whole dividend is deemed to have been paid out of the affiliate's taxable surplus in respect of the corporation.

History: Paras. 5900(2)(a), (b) amended by P.C. 1997-1670, s. 2, November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the amendments apply to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

(3) For the purposes of subsection 91(5) of the Act, where at any time an individual resident in Canada receives a dividend on a share of any class of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of that individual, the affiliate shall be deemed to have an amount of taxable surplus in respect of the individual and the portion of the dividend paid out of the taxable surplus of the affiliate in respect of the individual is prescribed to be an amount equal to the dividend received.

(3) For the purposes of subsection 91(5) of the Act, if a person resident in Canada (other than a corporation) receives a dividend on a share of any class of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the person, the dividend is prescribed to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the affiliate.

Application: The August 27, 2010 draft legislation (Part 2 — foreign affiliates), s. 40, will amend subsec. 5900(3) to read as above, applicable in respect of dividends received after November 1999.

S. 53 of the draft legislation provides that any assessment of a taxpayer's tax, interest and penalties payable under the Act for any taxation year that ends before the day on which the draft legislation is assented to that would, in the absence of this section, be precluded because of subsecs. 152(4) to (5) of the Act shall be made to the extent necessary to take into account this amendment, if the taxpayer

(i) elects in writing in respect of all of its foreign affiliates that this section apply in respect of that provision, and

(ii) files that election with the Minister of National Revenue on or before June 30, 2011.

An earlier version of this amendment appeared in the March 16, 2001 draft regulations.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): Subsection 5900(3) is a rule that applies for the purpose of subsection 91(5) of the Act. Subsection 5900(3) ensures that an individual who reports FAPI is able to avoid double taxation of that FAPI when he or she receives a distribution of that income in the form of a dividend from a foreign affiliate.

Amended subsection 5900(3) clarifies the language of the provision and replaces the phrase "individual resident in Canada" with the phrase "person resident in Canada (other than a corporation)". The latter phrase is intended to clarify that deductions under subsection 91(5) are available to a partnership that has had an amount of FAPI included in its income under subsection 91(1) of the Act.

Application: The August 19, 2011 draft legislation (foreign affiliates), s. 24, will amend subsec. 5901(1) to read as above and add subsec. 5901(1.1), applicable to dividends paid after August 19, 2011 by a foreign affiliate of a corporation.

See also Application under ITA s. 90 re extended reassessment deadline.

Technical Notes: Section 5901 sets out ordering rules in respect of a whole dividend paid by a foreign affiliate on its shares. Under those rules, a whole dividend is generally treated as having been paid out of exempt surplus (until that surplus is exhausted), then taxable surplus (until that surplus is exhausted), then pre-acquisition surplus.

Section 5901 is amended in a number of ways to reflect the introduction of the new concept of "hybrid surplus" and the new election in respect of pre-acquisition surplus dividends, which are both referred to above in the overview section of these notes.

The subsection 5901(1) amendments are consequential to the introduction of "hybrid surplus". These amendments provide the default rule whereby hybrid surplus is deemed to be distributed after exempt surplus but before taxable surplus. However, in recognition of the possibility that taxable surplus may in some cases be more valuable to a taxpayer than hybrid surplus, new subsection 5901(1.1) is added in order to give taxpayers the ability to elect, in respect of a particular whole dividend, to have taxable surplus come out before hybrid surplus. Because the deficit offset rules are based on deficits being applied to the most valuable surplus balances first, this "switch-over" election requires a reordering of those deficit offset rules.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5901(1.1) — Election for dividend to come out of taxable surplus before hybrid surplus; Reg. 5901(2)(b) — Election for dividend (return of capital) to come out of pre-acquisition surplus; Reg. 5902(1) — Rules for calculating surplus accounts on elected dividend.

(2) Notwithstanding subsection (1), where a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada pays a whole dividend (other than a whole dividend referred to in subsection 5902(1)) at any particular time in its taxation year that is more than 90 days after the commencement of that year or at any particular time in its 1972 taxation year that is before January 1, 1972, the portion of the whole dividend that would, but for this subsection, be deemed to have been paid out of the affiliate's pre-acquisition surplus in respect of the corporation is deemed to have been paid out of the exempt surplus and taxable surplus of the affiliate in respect of the corporation to the extent that it would have been deemed to have been so paid if, immediately after the end of that year, that portion were paid as a separate whole dividend before any whole dividend paid after the particular time and after any whole dividend paid before the particular time by the affiliate, and for the purposes of determining the exempt deficit, exempt surplus, taxable deficit, taxable surplus and underlying foreign tax of the affiliate in respect of the corporation at any time, that portion is deemed to have been paid as a separate whole dividend immediately following the end of the year and not to have been paid at the particular time.

(2) Notwithstanding subsection (1),

(a) if a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada pays a whole dividend (other than a whole dividend referred to in subsection 5902(1)) at any particular time in its taxation year that is more than 90 days after the commencement of that year or at any particular time in its 1972 taxation year that is before January 1, 1972, the portion of the whole dividend that would, in the absence of this paragraph, be deemed to have been paid out of the affiliate's pre-acquisition surplus in respect of the corporation (otherwise than because of an election under paragraph (b)) is instead deemed to have been paid out of the exempt surplus, hybrid surplus and taxable surplus of the affiliate in respect of the corporation to the extent that it would have been deemed to have been so paid if, immediately after the end of that year, that portion were paid as a separate whole dividend before any whole dividend paid after the particular time and after any whole dividend paid before the particular time by the affiliate, and for the purposes of determining the exempt deficit, exempt surplus, hybrid deficit, hybrid surplus, hybrid underlying tax, taxable deficit, taxable surplus and underlying foreign tax of the affiliate in respect of the corporation at any time, that portion is deemed to have been paid as a separate whole dividend immediately following the end of the year and not to have been paid at the particular time; and

(b) a whole dividend referred to in subsection (1) any portion of which is paid at any time by a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada to the corporation that would, in the absence of this paragraph, be deemed under subsection (1) to have been, in whole or in part, paid out of the exempt surplus, hybrid surplus or taxable surplus of the affiliate in respect of the corporation is instead deemed to have been paid out of the pre-acquisition surplus of the affiliate in respect of the corporation if

(i) the corporation, and each other corporation, if any, of which the affiliate would, at that time, be a foreign affiliate if paragraph (b) of the definition "equity percentage" in subsection 95(4) were read as if the reference in that paragraph to "any corporation" were a reference to "any corporation other than a corporation resident in Canada" and that is, at that time, related to the corporation,

(A) where there is no such other corporation, elects in writing under this subparagraph and files the election with the Minister on or before the filing-due date for its taxation year in which the whole dividend is paid, and

(B) in any other case, jointly elect in writing under this subparagraph and file the election with the Minister on or before the earliest of the filing-due dates for their taxation years in which the whole dividend is paid, and

(ii) no shareholder of the affiliate is, at that time, a partnership of which a corporation electing under subparagraph (i) is a member.

Application: The August 19, 2011 draft legislation (foreign affiliates), s. 24, will amend subsec. 5901(2) to read as above, applicable to dividends paid after August 19, 2011 by a foreign affiliate of a corporation; however,

(a) if the corporation and each other corporation (the corporation and those other corporations together referred to in this paragraph as the "elector corporations"), if any, of which the affiliate would be a foreign affiliate if para. (b) of the definition "equity percentage" in subsec. 95(4) were read as if the reference in that paragraph to "any corporation" were a reference to "any corporation other than a corporation resident in Canada" and that is related to the corporation jointly elect in writing under this paragraph [para. 24(2)(a) of the draft legislation] in respect of all of their respective foreign affiliates and file the election with the Minister of National Revenue on or before the day that is the later of the earliest of the filing-due dates for their taxation years that include the day on which this draft legislation is assented to and the day that is one year after the day on which this draft legislation is assented to, subsec. 5901(2) applies to dividends paid after February 27, 2004 by all the respective foreign affiliates of the elector corporations, except that, for such dividends paid on or before August 19, 2011,

(i) para. 5901(2)(a) is to be read as follows:

(a) if a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada pays a whole dividend (other than a whole dividend referred to in subsection 5902(1)) at any particular time in its taxation year that is more than 90 days after the commencement of that year or at any particular time in its 1972 taxation year that is before January 1, 1972, the portion of the whole dividend that would, in the absence of this paragraph, be deemed to have been paid out of the affiliate's pre-acquisition surplus in respect of the corporation (otherwise than because of an election under paragraph (b)) is instead deemed to have been paid out of the exempt surplus and taxable surplus of the affiliate in respect of the corporation to the extent that it would have been deemed to have been so paid if, immediately after the end of that year, that portion were paid as a separate whole dividend before any whole dividend paid after the particular time and after any whole dividend paid before the particular time by the affiliate, and for the purposes of determining the exempt deficit, exempt surplus, taxable deficit, taxable surplus and underlying foreign tax of the affiliate in respect of the corporation at any time, that portion is deemed to have been paid as a separate whole dividend immediately following the end of the year and not to have been paid at the particular time, and

(ii) the opening words of para. 5901(2)(b) are to be read as follows:

(b) a whole dividend referred to in subsection (1) any portion of which is paid at any time by a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada to the corporation that would, in the absence of this paragraph, be deemed under subsection (1) to have been, in whole or in part, paid out of the exempt surplus or taxable surplus of the affiliate in respect of the corporation is instead deemed to have been paid out of the pre-acquisition surplus of the affiliate in respect of the corporation if

(b) any election referred to in subpara. 5901(2)(b)(i) that would otherwise be required to be filed with the Minister of National Revenue before the day that is 120 days after the day on which this draft legislation is assented to is deemed to have been filed with the Minister on a timely basis if it is filed with the Minister within 365 days after the day on which this draft legislation is assented to.

The above election under para. 24(2)(a) of the draft legislation also affects the in-force rule for the Proposed Amendment to Reg. 5902(5). See Application annotation to that proposal.

See also Application under ITA s. 90 re extended reassessment deadline.

Technical Notes: Subsection 5901(2), which contains the so-called "90-day rule" is amended and restructured. The content of current subsection 5901(2) is being moved into new paragraph (a). This paragraph now also incorporates references to "hybrid surplus", and related concepts, as well as a carve-out for pre-acquisition surplus dividends that would arise from an election under paragraph (b).

New paragraph 5901(2)(b) allows taxpayers to elect to "side-step" the normal ordering rules of subsection 5901(1) and instead have a whole dividend deemed to be paid out of pre-acquisition surplus. This election is meant to allow taxpayers to access their capital first as measured by the adjusted cost base ("ACB") of the shares rather than a legal notion of paid up capital. The amount elected is not limited to the ACB of the shares and thus can cause ACB to become negative. However, any gain created under subsection 40(3) will, as discussed above, be subject to a forced subsection 93(1) election, by virtue of new paragraph 93(1.1)(b) and new subsection 93(1.11). This will ensure that taxpayers cannot use this new pre-acquisition surplus election to convert low-taxed hybrid or taxable surplus into a capital gain.

It is also notable that all related Canadian companies in respect of which the dividend-paying corporation is a foreign affiliate must jointly make the election. However, a special reading of the definition "equity percentage" in subsection 95(4), which is a key determinant of foreign affiliate status, applies to ensure that it is only the bottom company in a chain of Canadian corporations that need be included in the election. In other words, the dividend-paying corporation will not be considered, for these purposes, to be a foreign affiliate of a Canadian corporation that has no direct ownership of the dividend-paying corporation but that owns the shares of another Canadian corporation that owns the shares of the dividend-paying corporation.

Because of the special deferred treatment given to pre-acquisition surplus dividends paid on foreign affiliate shares held by a partnership (as per subsections 92(4) to (6) of the Act), this new election is not available where any electing corporation (as described in subparagraph 5901(2)(b)(i)) is a member of a partnership and that partnership is a shareholder of the dividend-paying foreign affiliate.

These amendments generally apply to dividends paid after August 19, 2011. However, taxpayers may elect that the pre-acquisition surplus election rules apply to dividends paid after February 27, 2004. In such cases, a transitional reading of paragraph 5901(2)(a) is provided in order to remove the references relating to hybrid surplus concepts.

Example

Assumptions

1. Canco, a corporation resident in Canada, owns 60 of the 100 common shares of FA, a non-resident corporation. The 40 other common shares of FA are owned by an arm's length person.

2. On June 15, 2012, FA pays a dividend of $1,000, $600 of which is paid to Canco.

3. Immediately prior to the dividend payment,

a. FA has an exempt surplus balance of $200, a taxable surplus balance of $400, an underlying foreign tax balance of $40, and no other surplus/deficit balances, in respect of Canco; and

b. the adjusted cost base ("ACB") to Canco of its 60 shares of FA was $350.

4. No foreign withholding tax is imposed on the payment of the $1,000 dividend.

Analysis

If no election is made under new paragraph 5901(2)(b), $200 of the dividend will be deemed to be paid out of exempt surplus, $400 out of taxable surplus, and $400 from pre-acquisition surplus. Thus, Canco will be entitled to a $120 deduction under paragraph 113(1)(a) for its portion of the exempt surplus dividend and, assuming a tax rate of 25%, a $72 deduction under paragraph 113(1)(b) for its $240 portion of the taxable surplus dividend, resulting in a net taxable income inclusion of $168. The remaining $240 portion of the dividend paid to Canco will be deemed paid out of pre-acquisition surplus and will reduce Canco's ACB of the FA shares to $110.

If Canco does elect under paragraph 5901(2)(b), its $600 portion of the $1,000 dividend will be deemed to come entirely out of pre-acquisition surplus. This will result in a negative ACB of $250 causing a capital gain to Canco under subsection 40(3). However, new paragraph 93(1.1)(b), in conjunction with new subsection 93(1.11), will deem Canco to have made a subsection 93(1) election, and in this example to have designated in that election a prescribed amount of $250. The resulting $250 deemed dividend will be prescribed to be a $120 dividend paid out of the exempt surplus of FA and a $130 dividend paid out of taxable surplus, which results in deductions of $120 and $39 under paragraphs 113(1)(a) and (b), respectively, and a net taxable income inclusion of $91.

Thus, as a result of this new pre-acquisition surplus election, Canco is able to reduce its net taxable income inclusion in respect of the dividend from $168 to $91 by first reducing its "capital" to zero. (Note that this example ignores the possibility of making a so-called "disproportionate UFT" election under paragraph (b) of the definition "underlying foreign tax applicable" in subsection 5907(1).)

5902. Election in respect of capital gains — (1) Where at any time a dividend is, by virtue of an election made under subsection 93(1) of the Act in respect of a disposition, deemed to have been received on one or more shares of a class of the capital stock of a particular foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada, the following rules apply:

(a) determine the amounts that would be the particular affiliate's exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, underlying foreign tax and net surplus in respect of the corporation at that time if

(i) each other foreign affiliate of the corporation in which the affiliate had an equity percentage had immediately before that time paid a dividend equal to its net surplus in respect of the corporation immediately before the dividend was paid, and

(ii) any dividend referred to in subparagraph (i) that any other foreign affiliate would have received had been received by it immediately before any such dividend that it would have paid;

(b) determine the amount that would have been received on the shares (of that class) in respect of which an election is made, if the particular affiliate had at that time paid dividends the aggregate of which on all shares of its capital stock was equal to the amount of its net surplus referred to in paragraph (a); and

(c) for the purposes only of subsection 5900(1), in applying the provisions of subsection 5901(1)

(i) the particular affiliate's exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation shall be deemed to be the respective amounts thereof referred to in paragraph (a), and

(ii) the particular affiliate shall be deemed to have paid a whole dividend at that time on the shares of that class of its capital stock in an amount equal to the product obtained when the aggregate of amounts so deemed by subsection 93(1) of the Act to have been received as dividends on shares of that class is multiplied by the greater of

(A) one, and

(B) the proportion that the amount of the particular affiliate's net surplus determined under paragraph (a) is of the amount determined under paragraph (b), except that where the amount determined under paragraph (b) is less than one, the amount determined under paragraph (b) is deemed for the purpose of this clause to be one.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5902(1) [to be further amended, below]

(1) [Rules for surplus accounts on elected dividend] — If at any time a dividend (such time and each such dividend, respectively, referred to in this subsection and subsection (2) as the "dividend time" and an "elected dividend") is, by virtue of an election made under subsection 93(1) of the Act by a corporation in respect of a disposition, deemed to have been received on a share (each such share referred to in this subsection as an "elected share") of a class of the capital stock of a particular foreign affiliate of the corporation, the following rules apply:

(a) for the purposes of subsection 5900(1), in applying the provisions of subsection 5901(1),

(i) the particular affiliate's exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, underlying foreign tax and net surplus, in respect of the corporation at the dividend time, are deemed to be those amounts that would otherwise be determined immediately before the dividend time if

(A) each other foreign affiliate of the corporation in which the affiliate had an equity percentage (within the meaning assigned by subsection 95(4) of the Act) at the dividend time had, immediately before the time that is immediately before the dividend time, paid a dividend equal to its net surplus in respect of the corporation, determined immediately before the time the dividend was paid, and

(B) any dividend referred to in clause (A) that any other foreign affiliate would have received had been received by it immediately before any such dividend that it would have paid, and

(ii) the particular affiliate is deemed to have paid a whole dividend at the dividend time on the shares of that class of its capital stock in an amount determined by the formula

where

A is the total of all amounts each of which is the amount of an elected dividend, and

B is the greater of

(A) one, and

(B) the quotient determined by the formula

where

C is the amount of the particular affiliate's net surplus determined under subparagraph (a)(i), and

D is the greater of

(I) one unit of the currency in which the amount determined for C is expressed, and

(II) the amount that would have been received on the elected shares if the particular affiliate had at the dividend time paid dividends on all shares of its capital stock the total of which was equal to the amount of its net surplus referred to in subparagraph (a)(i); and

(b) subject to paragraph 5905(5)(c), there is to be included, at the dividend time,

(i) under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1) in computing the particular affiliate's exempt surplus or exempt deficit, as the case may be, in respect of the corporation an amount equal to the product obtained when the specified adjustment factor in respect of the disposition is multiplied by the total of all amounts each of which is the portion of any elected dividend that is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(a) to have been paid out of the exempt surplus of the particular affiliate,

(ii) under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1) in computing the particular affiliate's taxable surplus or taxable deficit, as the case may be, in respect of the corporation an amount equal to the product obtained when the specified adjustment factor in respect of the disposition is multiplied by the total of all amounts each of which is the portion of any elected dividend that is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(b) to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the particular affiliate, and

(iii) under subparagraph (iii) of the description of B in the definition "underlying foreign tax" in subsection 5907(1) in computing the particular affiliate's underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation an amount equal to the product obtained when the specified adjustment factor in respect of the disposition is multiplied by the total of all amounts each of which is the amount prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(d) to be the foreign tax applicable to such portion of any elected dividend as is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(b) to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the particular affiliate.

Application: The August 27, 2010 draft legislation (Part 2 – foreign affiliates), subsec. 41(1), will amend subsec. 5902(1) to read as above, applicable in respect of elections made in respect of dispositions that occur after December 18, 2009. However, in applying subsec. 5905(5.6), as added by the draft regulations, subpara. 5902(1)(a)(i) also applies after December 18, 2009.

See Application note under Proposed Amendment to Reg. 5900(3) for rule in s. 53 of the draft legislation) permitting late reassessment to give effect to this amendment.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): Current section 5902 applies where a corporation elects to treat proceeds of disposition of a share of a foreign affiliate as a dividend under subsection 93(1) of the Act. By virtue of new paragraph 5908(8)(a), section 5902 will also apply to elections made under subsection 93(1.2) in respect of dispositions of foreign affiliate shares by a partnership.

Section 5902 currently serves mainly to determine a foreign affiliate's surplus accounts and the amount of a whole dividend used in applying subsection 5901(1) for the purpose of subsection 5900(1). These rules, in turn, determine the amount of the dividend that is deductible under section 113 of the Act.

Section 5905 provides special rules for the purposes of determining surpluses and deficits and underlying foreign tax balances of a foreign affiliate in the context of certain share transactions and corporate reorganizations.

Section 5905 currently serves two main objectives:

- it requires, in specified circumstances, reductions to the surplus balances of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada in respect of dividends arising because of elections by the corporation under subsection 93(1) of the Act in respect of a disposition of shares of a foreign affiliate, and
- it resets, in specified circumstances, the surplus balances of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada to reflect changes in the surplus entitlement of the corporation in respect of the affiliate.

Significant portions of sections 5902 and 5905 are being restructured in order to provide appropriate treatment of elections made under subsection 93(1.2) of the Act in respect of dispositions of shares of foreign affiliates by partnerships. In particular, the adjustments to surplus balances to reflect the deemed payment of dividends, under either subsection 93(1) or 93(1.2) of the Act, that are currently required to be made under various provisions of section 5905 (as per the first objective above), will now be made under a more general rule in section 5902. Certain of the remaining rules in section 5905 are also being restructured with a view to making them more user-friendly.

subsection 5902(2) — replaced

subsection 5902(3) — repealed

subsection 5905(2) — repealed (consolidated with subsection 5905(1))

subsection 5905(3) — replaced

subsection 5905(4) — repealed (consolidated with subsection 5905(3))

subsection 5905(5) — replaced

subsection 5905(5.1) — added, to complement subsection 5905(5) subsection 5905(6) — repealed (consolidated with subsections 5905(5) and (5.1))

subsection 5905(9) — repealed (consolidated with subsection 5905(1))

Subsection 5902(1) provides rules to compute a foreign affiliate's surplus accounts, and the amount of a whole dividend, which are used in applying subsection 5901(1) for the purposes of subsection 5900(1) with respect to an elected dividend under subsection 93(1).

The existing features of subsection 5902(1) are unchanged, except for some language and structural improvements, but are now found entirely in paragraph (a). The main change to this subsection is the addition of paragraph (b) which takes over the surplus adjustment function currently performed by various provisions of section 5905 (as per the first objective above) and ensures that these adjustments will be made in all appropriate circumstances.

Subsection 5902(2) provides application rules for the purpose of subsection 5902(1). This subsection is amended by moving existing paragraphs (a) and (b) to subparagraphs (a)(i) and (ii) and by replacing paragraph (b) with the rule, currently found in various provisions of section 5905, that provides the meaning of "specified adjustment factor".

Subsection 5902(3) currently provides that no adjustments to surplus balances shall be made other than as specified in certain provisions of section 5905. As these adjustments will now be made in section 5902 and not in section 5905, this subsection is no longer necessary and is being repealed.

The amendments to subsections 5902(1) to (3) apply in respect of elections made in respect of dispositions that occur after December 18, 2009. However, the reference to subsection 93(1) of the Act in the current version of subsection 5902(1) will, by virtue of new paragraph 5908(8)(a), include a reference to subsection 93(1.2) for elections made in respect of dispositions that occur after November 1999. Also, subparagraph 5902(1)(a)(i) applies after December 18, 2009 to the extent it is used in determining a foreign affiliate's "tax-free surplus balance", by virtue of new subsection 5905(5.6).

The following example illustrates the application of amended sections 5902 and 5905.

Example

Assumptions:

1. Canco, a corporation resident in Canada, owns all 100 shares of FA1, a foreign affiliate of Canco.

2. Canco disposes of 40 shares of FA1 to an arm's length party.

3. Immediately prior to the disposition, FA1 has an exempt surplus balance of $100 in respect of Canco and no other surplus balances.

4. Canco makes a subsection 93(1) election of $40 in respect of the 40 disposed shares of FA1.

Analysis:

Section 5902

Subject to paragraph 5905(5.6)(c), paragraph 5902(1)(b) will require reductions to the surplus balances of a particular affiliate in respect of a corporation resident in Canada whenever a subsection 93(1) or, by virtue of paragraph 5908(8)(a), a subsection 93(1.2) election is made by the corporation resident in Canada, in connection with a disposition of shares of the affiliate. In this example, paragraph 5902(1)(b) will apply to the election and will require a reduction, immediately before the disposition, in FA1's exempt surplus in respect of Canco by the $40 elected exempt surplus dividend.

Subsection 5905(1)

Subsection 5905(1) requires adjustments (resets) to the surplus balances of a particular foreign affiliate in respect of a corporation resident in Canada whenever the corporation's surplus entitlement percentage in the affiliate changes as a result of an acquisition or disposition of shares of that affiliate or of any other affiliate that has an equity percentage in the particular affiliate. An exception is provided in the case of a transaction to which paragraph 5905(3)(a) or subsection 5905(5) or (5.1) applies.

The reset balances reflect the corporation's increased or reduced surplus entitlement percentage in the particular affiliate and the balances that will be reset are the balances at the time of the acquisition or disposition of shares — these balances will reflect, for example, any adjustment made to the surplus balances under new paragraph 5902(1)(b).

In this example, Canco's surplus entitlement percentage in FA1 is 100% immediately prior to the disposition and is 60% immediately after the disposition. Accordingly, subsection 5905(1) resets FA1's exempt surplus balance in respect of Canco from the $60 balance (after the paragraph 5902(1)(b) adjustment) back to $100 ($60 × 100%/60%), and this $100 becomes FA1's "opening exempt surplus" in respect of Canco.

A is the amount of dividends that would be received, at that time, by the calculating foreign affiliate from the providing foreign affiliate if, at that time, the providing foreign affiliate had paid dividends on all of its shares and the total of those dividends were equal to its consolidated net surplus (determined using the provisions of this subsection on the assumption that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate) in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, or, where it does not have such a consolidated net surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, its consolidated exempt surplus (determined in accordance with this paragraph on the assumption that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, and

(b) the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, (in this subsection referred to as the "consolidated exempt deficit" in respect of the corporation resident in Canada) at the calculation time, is deemed to be the amount that would be its exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, if

(i) the particular foreign affiliate and each subsidiary affiliate had (except for the purpose of determining consolidated net surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in subparagraph (iii)), at the calculation time, no amount of exempt surplus, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

(ii) the amount of the exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular foreign affiliate, were, immediately before the calculation time, increased by the total of all amounts each of which is an amount equal to the particular foreign affiliate's proportionate share of the exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of a subsidiary affiliate in which the particular foreign affiliate has, immediately before the calculation time, a direct equity percentage if that exempt deficit were, immediately before the calculation time, determined in the following manner

(A) the exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the subsidiary affiliate, were increased by the subsidiary affiliate's proportionate share of the exempt deficit of a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada in which the subsidiary affiliate has, immediately before the time that is immediately before the calculation time, a direct equity percentage, and

(A) the taxable surplus, and underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the subsidiary affiliate, were increased by the subsidiary affiliate's proportionate share of the taxable surplus, or underlying foreign tax, respectively, of a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada in which the subsidiary affiliate had, immediately before the time that is immediately before the calculation time, a direct equity percentage, and

(B) the taxable surplus, and underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of a subsidiary affiliate in which another subsidiary affiliate has a direct equity percentage, were increased because of this subparagraph before the increase in that other subsidiary affiliate's taxable surplus, and underlying foreign tax, respectively, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

A is the amount of dividends that would be received, at that time, by the calculating foreign affiliate from the providing foreign affiliate if, at that time, the providing foreign affiliate had paid dividends on all of its shares and the total of those dividends were equal to its consolidated net surplus (determined using the provisions of this subsection on the assumption that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, or, where it does not have such consolidated net surplus, its consolidated taxable surplus (determined in accordance with this paragraph on the assumption that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, and

B is the amount of the providing foreign affiliate's consolidated net surplus (determined using the provisions of this subsection on the assumption that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, or, where it does not have such consolidated net surplus, its consolidated taxable surplus (determined in accordance with this paragraph on the assumption that the providing foreign affiliate were the particular foreign affiliate), in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time, and

(d) the amount of the particular foreign affiliate's taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, (in this subsection referred to as the "consolidated taxable deficit" in respect of the corporation resident in Canada) at the calculation time is deemed to be the amount that would be its taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, at that time if

(i) the particular foreign affiliate and each subsidiary affiliate had (except for the purpose of determining consolidated net surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, in subparagraph (iii)), at the calculation time, no amount of exempt surplus, exempt deficit or taxable surplus, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada,

(ii) the amount of the taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the particular foreign affiliate, were, immediately before the calculation time, increased by the total of all amounts each of which is an amount equal to the particular foreign affiliate's proportionate share of the taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of a subsidiary affiliate in which the particular foreign affiliate has, immediately before the calculation time, a direct equity percentage if that taxable deficit were, immediately before the calculation time, determined in the following manner

(A) the taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation resident in Canada, of the subsidiary affiliate, were increased by the subsidiary affiliate's proportionate share of the taxable deficit of a foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada in which the subsidiary affiliate had, immediately before the time that is immediately before the calculation time, a direct equity percentage, and

(g) for the purpose of applying subsection 5901(1) to subsection 5900(1), the amount of the whole dividend paid by the particular foreign affiliate, at the dividend time, on the shares of the specified class is deemed to be equal to the amount obtained when the total of all amounts each of which is an amount deemed by subsection 93(1) of the Act to have been received as a dividend on a disposed share of the specified class is multiplied by the greater of

(i) one, and

(ii) the amount determined by the formula

(h) for the purposes of paragraphs (a) to (d), the consolidated net surplus, at any time, in respect of a corporation resident in Canada, of a particular foreign affiliate of the corporation resident in Canada is the amount that would be determined in paragraph (e) in respect of the particular foreign affiliate if the reference in that paragraph to the expression "immediately before the dividend time" were read as a reference to the expression "at any time".

(iii) section 5902 of the Regulations is, in respect of the designated section 93 election, to be read without reference to its subsection (2),

(iv) subsection 5902(3) of the Regulations is, in respect of the designated section 93 election, to be read as follows:

(3) If a corporation resident in Canada elects, under subsection 93(1) of the Act, in respect of the disposition of a share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation, no adjustment, other than an adjustment referred to in subsection 5905(2), (4), (6) or (8), may be made to the foreign affiliate's

(a) exempt surplus in respect of the corporation,

(b) exempt deficit in respect of the corporation;

(c) taxable surplus in respect of the corporation;

(d) taxable deficit in respect of the corporation; or

(e) underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation.

(v) subsection 5902(6) of the Regulations is, in respect of the designated section 93 election, to be read as follows:

(6) The amount designated in an election deemed by subsection 93(1.1) of the Act to have been made under subsection 93(1) of the Act is prescribed to be the amount that is the lesser of

(a) the capital gain, if any, otherwise determined in respect of the disposition of the share, and

(b) the amount of attributed net surplus (as determined under paragraph (1)(f)) in respect of the share.

(b)-(d) [See under Proposed Amendment to Reg. 5905(1) [transitional] — ed.]

52 (1) Subsection (2) applies if

(a) a corporation has made an election under section 51;

(b) the corporation has made an election under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Income Tax Act in respect of a disposition of a share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation that occurs after December 20, 2002 and on or before February 27, 2004 (other than a disposition required to be made under an agreement in writing made by a vendor on or before December 20, 2002), or in respect of a disposition that occurs after February 27, 2004 and that is required to be made under an agreement in writing made by a vendor after December 20, 2002 and before February 28, 2004; and

(c) the corporation elects in writing to apply subsection (2) in respect of all of its foreign affiliates and files the election with the Minister of National Revenue on or before the day that is the later of the corporation's filing-due date for the corporation's taxation year that includes the day on which this Act is assented to and the day that is one year after the day on which this Act is assented to.

(2) If this subsection applies, section 51 does not apply in respect of dispositions referred to in paragraph (1)(b) and the Regulations shall be read, in respect of the dispositions, as if section 5902 of the Regulations also contained a subsection (6.1) that read as follows:

(6.1) If an election under subsection 93(1) of the Act is made at any time by a particular corporation resident in Canada in respect of a share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate (in this subsection referred to as the "particular affiliate") of the particular corporation that is disposed of to the particular corporation, to another corporation resident in Canada with which the particular corporation does not deal at arm's length or to another foreign affiliate of the particular corporation, the amount of the particular affiliate's exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, underlying foreign tax and net surplus in respect of the particular corporation at that time is to be determined under paragraph (1)(a) as if the amount of any dividend referred to in subparagraph (1)(a)(i) or (ii) were nil.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): Clause 51 of these amendments provides a special election that allows taxpayers to apply, on a transitional basis, certain rules that were proposed in a February 2004 package of draft legislation but that were never enacted. These rules, which are referred to in these notes as the "consolidated net surplus" rules, were proposed to be found in section 92 of the Act [former proposed 92(1.1)-(1.4); now proposed transitional 92(1.2)-(1.5) — ed.] and sections 5902, 5905 and a new section 5911 (which is renumbered herein as section 5905.1). These transitional rules are generally the same as those published in the February 2004 draft, but do contain some modifications to take into account intervening changes to other provisions of the Act and Regulations as well as certain rules that have not yet been introduced. Readers are referred to the explanatory notes accompanying the February 2004 draft for additional details.

These rules, if elected, generally apply to dispositions of foreign affiliate shares that occur after December 20, 2002 and before December 19, 2009 in respect of which an election is made under subsection 93(1) or (1.2), but there are some exceptions. Furthermore, these rules are subject to a further election under section 59 of these amendments.

Modified Consolidated Net Surplus Election

Clause 52 of these amendments applies where a taxpayer has elected under clause 51 of these amendments and further elects to have this section apply. It allows taxpayers to forgo the "consolidated net surplus" rules for the period between December 20, 2002 and February 27, 2004 and instead apply a different rule, found in subsection 5902(6.1), that was originally announced in a December 20, 2002 package of draft legislation. Readers are referred to the explanatory notes accompanying the December 20, 2002 draft for additional details.

These rules, if elected, generally apply to dispositions of foreign affiliate shares that occur after December 20, 2002 and on or before February 27, 2004 in respect of which an election is made under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Act.

Technical Notes: Subsection 5902(1) computes, in its paragraph (a), a foreign affiliate's surplus accounts and the amount of a whole dividend that are used in applying subsection 5901(1) for the purposes of subsection 5900(1), in the context of a subsection 93(1) election. It also provides, in its paragraph (b), for surplus reductions to account for the dividends that are deemed to be paid as a result of such an election.

Paragraphs (a) and (b) of subsection 5902(1) are each being amended, consequential to the introduction of the "hybrid surplus" rules, to add references to the relevant hybrid surplus concepts.

(i.2) under subparagraph (iii) of the description of B in the definition "hybrid underlying tax" in subsection 5907(1) in computing the particular affiliate's hybrid underlying tax in respect of the corporation an amount equal to the product obtained when the specified adjustment factor in respect of the disposition is multiplied by the total of all amounts each of which is the amount prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(c.1) to be the foreign tax applicable to the portion of any elected dividend that is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(a.1) to have been paid out of the hybrid surplus of the particular affiliate,

(2) In this section,

(a) for the purpose of paragraph (1)(a),

(i) in determining the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, the taxable surplus or taxable deficit, the underlying foreign tax and the net surplus of a particular foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada in which any other foreign affiliate of the taxpayer has an equity percentage (within the meaning assigned by subsection 95(4) of the Act), no amount shall be included in respect of any distribution that would be received by the particular affiliate from that other affiliate, and

(ii) if any foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada has issued shares of more than one class of its capital stock, the amount that would be paid as a dividend on the shares of any class is the portion of its exempt surplus or exempt deficit and its taxable surplus (including underlying foreign tax applicable) or taxable deficit (and thus net surplus) that, in the circumstances, would reasonably be expected to have been paid on all the shares of that class; and

(b) the specified adjustment factor in respect of a disposition is the amount determined by the formula

Technical Notes: Subsection 5902(2) provides some interpretive rules for the purposes of paragraph 5902(1)(a). One of those rules, the one found in subparagraph 5902(2)(a)(i), is meant to address situations where foreign affiliate groups have circular shareholdings, i.e. one foreign affiliate owns shares in another foreign affiliate, which in turn owns shares in the first-mentioned affiliate, directly or indirectly.

Subparagraph 5902(2)(a)(i) is being amended to clarify its intended application. Essentially the current mechanical rule is being replaced with a more conceptual one. The intent of this rule is to provide results that simulate what would happen if a series of actual dividends had been paid all the way up the relevant foreign affiliate chain and back down and repeated a sufficient number of times in order to establish a reasonably accurate measure of the taxpayer's entitlement to earnings of the group.

Subparagraph 5902(2)(a)(ii) is being amended to modernize its language.

These amendments apply to relevant dispositions that occur after August 19, 2011.

Example

Assumptions

1. Canco is a corporation resident in Canada. FA1 is a non-resident corporation.

2. Canco owns 50 of the 100 shares of FA1's only class of capital stock. Canco's aggregate adjusted cost base of those 50 shares is $50.

3. FA1 owns 50 of the 100 shares of FA2's only class of capital stock. FA2 is also a non-resident corporation.

4. FA2 owns the other 50 shares of FA1.

5. An arm's length person owns the remaining 50 shares of FA2.

6. Canco sells its 50 shares of FA1 for $400 and wishes to make a subsection 93(1) election to reduce its $350 gain.

7. Immediately prior to the sale:

a. FA1 has an exempt surplus balance of $200, and no other surplus balances, in respect of Canco; and

b. FA2 has an exempt surplus balance of $100, and no other surplus balances, in respect of Canco.

Analysis

Under amended paragraph 93(1)(a) of the Act, Canco can elect a dividend of up to $350. In this example, it is assumed that Canco elects that maximum amount.

Subsection 5902(1) of the Regulations applies to determine the treatment of that $350 elected dividend under subsection 5900(1) (which in turn determines section 113 treatment) by deeming FA1's surplus for the purposes of subsection 5901(1) to be an aggregate of the surplus of FA1 and FA2. More specifically, subparagraph 5902(1)(a)(i) provides that for purposes of an elected subsection 93(1) dividend, FA1's exempt surplus is deemed to include the amount of FA2's exempt surplus that FA1 would have received if, immediately before the elected dividend time, FA2 had paid a dividend equal to its exempt (net) surplus. This rule works appropriately in most circumstances but not where multiple dividends from the same foreign affiliates need to be contemplated in order to arrive at a proper measure of surplus entitlement, as is the case with circular shareholdings. The special rules of subparagraph 5902(2)(a)(i) are meant to help interpret the rules of subparagraph 5902(1)(a)(i) in these situations.

More specifically, amended subparagraph 5902(2)(a)(i) provides, in circular shareholding situations, that the determination of the amount of FA1's exempt surplus is to be made in a manner that is both reasonable in the circumstances and consistent with the results that would be obtained if a series of actual dividends had been paid by FA1 and FA2. In this example, it is necessary to assume a number of dividends to be paid by both FA1 and FA2 in order to arrive at the proper exempt surplus balance of FA1 to be used in the determination of Canco's deduction under paragraph 113(1)(a).

This determination could start with an assumed dividend of $100 paid by FA2 (of which $50 would be paid to FA1), followed by an assumed dividend of $250 paid by FA1 (of which $125 would be paid to FA2), followed by an assumed dividend of $125 paid by FA2, etc. Alternatively, the determination could start with an assumed dividend of $200 paid by FA1. Either approach should yield the same result.

Although theoretically these dividends would go in an endless loop, after only 2 or 3 "circles" a very good approximation of the proper result becomes evident. That is the intent of the rule — a reasonable result in the circumstances by reference to a series of hypothetical dividends. In this example it is reasonable that the amount determined under clause 5902(1)(a)(i)(A) as the dividend received by FA1 from FA2 should be $133, resulting in the amount of FA1's exempt surplus for the purposes of the subsection 93(1) election being determined to be $333. (Although the $333 is in excess of the $300 total surplus of FA1 and FA2, this is the amount that is necessary for the shares disposed of by Canco, being 50% of FA1's shares, to be entitled to their proper portion of exempt surplus, being $167).

The logic of this result can be verified by an analysis of Canco's economic interest in each of FA1 and FA2, being 67% in respect of FA1 and 33% in respect of FA2. Thus, Canco should be entitled to $134 (67% × $200) of FA1's exempt surplus and $33 (33% × $100) of FA2's exempt surplus, for a total of $167.

Under subparagraph 5902(1)(a)(ii), the "whole dividend" in respect of all the shares of FA1 is $700, which is effectively the $350 elected amount grossed-up for the 50% portion of the shares to which it relates. Subsection 5901(1) will classify this dividend as being $333 from exempt surplus, based on the exempt surplus computed above, and the remaining $367 as being from pre-acquisition surplus. Paragraph 5900(1)(a) will prescribe 333/700ths of the $7 deemed dividend in respect of each of the 50 shares disposed of to be from exempt surplus, such that Canco will be entitled to an aggregate paragraph 113(1)(a) deduction of $167. Paragraph 5900(1)(c) will prescribe 367/700ths of those $7 dividends to be from pre-acquisition surplus, which will result in a paragraph 113(1)(d) deduction of $183 and an ACB grind of the same amount, which will produce a net capital gain of $183.

Thus, Canco would, in this example, be able to reduce its $350 capital gain by $167 in respect of its entitlement to FA1's "group" exempt surplus.

These same principles in respect of circular shareholdings should apply for the purposes of amended paragraphs 5904(3)(b) and 5905(11)(a), which are discussed below.

52. (1) Subsection (2) applies if

(a) a corporation has made an election under section 51 [of the draft regulations; see Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5902(1) [transitional] — ed.];

(b) the corporation has made an election under subsection 93(1) or (1.2) of the Income Tax Act in respect of a disposition of a share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation that occurs after December 20, 2002 and on or before February 27, 2004 (other than a disposition required to be made under an agreement in writing made by a vendor on or before December 20, 2002), or in respect of a disposition that occurs after February 27, 2004 and that is required to be made under an agreement in writing made by a vendor after December 20, 2002 and before February 28, 2004; and

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5903 [to be further amended, below]

5903. (1) [Application of foreign accrual property loss] — For the purposes of the description of F in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act, subject to subsection (2), the prescribed amount for a year (referred to in this subsection and subsection (2) as the "particular year") is the total of all amounts each of which is a portion designated for the particular year by the taxpayer of the foreign accrual property loss of the affiliate for a taxation year of the affiliate that is

(a) one of the twenty taxation years of the affiliate that immediately precede the particular year; or

(b) one of the three taxation years of the affiliate that immediately follow the particular year.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): Subsection 95(1) of the Act defines FAPI of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer. FAPI is reduced by variable F, which is currently described by reference to the "deductible loss" of the affiliate, as determined under section 5903.

Under current section 5903, the deductible loss of a foreign affiliate includes FAPLs of the affiliate for each of the five immediately preceding taxation years. Current rules also ensure that FAPLs are included in the amount of the deductible loss of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer only where the affiliate is a controlled foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, or of a person described in "old" subparagraphs 95(2)(f)(ii) to (vii) of the Act, during the year the loss was incurred. As well, current rules prevent active business losses from being part of a deductible loss of a foreign affiliate.

Section 5903 is being amended in a number of ways. These changes can generally be grouped into the following categories:

- FAPL carryforward and carryback periods,
- loss claim mechanics,
- FAPL computation,
- consequential amendments to reflect Budget 2007 Act changes.

Amended subsection 5903(1) allows a taxpayer to designate an amount for a particular year in respect of the FAPLs of the affiliate for the twenty taxation years immediately preceding the particular year and the three taxation years immediately following the particular year. Thus, amended subsection 5903(1) will both extend the FAPL carryforward period from 5 to 20 years and provide for a 3 year carryback. However, see below under "Application" for a discussion of the transitional rules.

Related Provisions: ITA 152(6.1) — Reassessment to apply FAPL carryback; ITA 161(7)(a)(xii), 161(7)(b)(iii), 164(5)(b.4), (k) – Interest calculation on carryback of FAPL; Reg. 5903(2)-(7) — Interpretation.

(2) [FAPL restrictions] — For the purposes of this subsection and subsection (1),

(a) a portion of a foreign accrual property loss of the affiliate for any taxation year of the affiliate may be designated for the particular year only to the extent that the foreign accrual property loss exceeds the total of all amounts each of which is a portion, of the foreign accrual property loss, designated by the taxpayer for a taxation year of the affiliate that precedes the particular year;

(b) no portion of the foreign accrual property loss of the affiliate for a taxation year of the affiliate is to be designated for the particular year until the foreign accrual property losses of the affiliate for the preceding taxation years referred to in paragraph (1)(a) have been fully designated; and

(c) if any person or partnership that was, at the end of a taxation year (referred to in this paragraph as the "relevant loss year") of the affiliate, a relevant person or partnership in respect of the taxpayer designates for a taxation year (referred to in this paragraph as the "relevant claim year") of the affiliate a particular portion of the foreign accrual property loss of the affiliate for the relevant loss year, there is deemed to have been designated for the relevant claim year by the taxpayer the portion of that loss that is the greater of

(i) the particular portion, and

(ii) the greatest of the portions of that loss that are so designated by any other relevant persons or partnerships in respect of the taxpayer.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): Amended subsection 5903(2) does two main things. First, in paragraphs 5903(2)(a) and (b), it aligns the loss claim mechanics in respect of FAPLs more closely with the rules applicable to losses in a domestic context — those found in subsections 111(1) and 111(3) of the Act. Second, in paragraph 5903(2)(c), it provides for a group claim rule.

The group claim rule is a concept under which a designation by any "relevant person or partnership" of a FAPL of a particular affiliate will be deemed to be a designation of the taxpayer in respect of the affiliate. For example, if a particular affiliate is owned by both Canco 1 and Canco 2, and Canco 2 is a "relevant person or partnership" in respect of Canco 1, an amount of FAPL that is designated by Canco 2 will be deemed to have been designated by Canco 1 where Canco 1 does not itself make a designation. This group claim rule is aimed at preventing the duplication of losses through non-arm's length transfers of the shares of the foreign affiliate.

(3) ["Foreign accrual property loss"] — For the purposes of this section, and subject to subsection (4), "foreign accrual property loss" of the affiliate for a taxation year of the affiliate means

(a) where, at the end of the year, the affiliate is a controlled foreign affiliate of a person or partnership that is, at the end of the year, a relevant person or partnership in respect of the taxpayer, the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of the amounts determined for D, E, G and H in the formula in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act in respect of the affiliate for the year

exceeds

(ii) the total of the amounts determined for A to C in that formula in that definition in respect of the affiliate for the year; and

(b) in any other case, nil.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): Amended subsection 5903(3) defines the FAPL of an affiliate of a taxpayer for a taxation year. Where, at the end of the taxation year, an affiliate is a controlled foreign affiliate of a relevant person or partnership in respect of the taxpayer (which includes the taxpayer), the FAPL of the affiliate is the amount, if any, by which the total of all amounts represented by variables D, E, G and H in the FAPI definition in subsection 95(1) of the Act exceeds the total of all amounts represented by variables A, A.1, A.2, B and C of that definition. The current rules only include variables A, B, C, D and E in the computation of a FAPL, under paragraph 5903(1)(a).

Related Provisions: ITA 152(6.1) — Reassessment to apply FAPL carryback.

(4) [Certain losses deemed nil] — In computing under subsection (3) the foreign accrual property loss of the affiliate for a taxation year, if the affiliate or another corporation receives a payment described in subsection 5907(1.3) from a non-resident corporation that is, at the time of the payment, a foreign affiliate of a relevant person or partnership in respect of the taxpayer and any portion of the payment can reasonably be considered to relate to a loss or portion of a loss of the affiliate for the year described in the description of D or E in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act, the amount of the loss or portion of the loss is deemed to be nil.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): New subsection 5903(4) is substantively similar to existing paragraph 5903(1)(c). It is being amended as a consequence of the restructuring of section 5903 and to broaden its application to include foreign affiliates of a relevant person or partnership, as defined in new subsection 5903(6).

(5) [Mergers and windups] — For the purpose of this section,

(a) if there is a foreign merger (within the meaning assigned by subsection 87(8.1) of the Act) of two or more foreign affiliates of a taxpayer resident in Canada in respect of each of which the taxpayer's surplus entitlement percentage immediately before the merger is not less than 90 per cent to form one corporate entity in respect of which the taxpayer's surplus entitlement percentage immediately after the merger is not less than 90 per cent, the corporate entity is deemed to be the same corporation as, and a continuation of, each of those predecessor affiliates; and

(b) if there is a liquidation and dissolution of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada in respect of which the taxpayer's surplus entitlement percentage immediately before the liquidation and dissolution is not less than 90 per cent into another foreign affiliate of the taxpayer in respect of which the taxpayer's surplus entitlement percentage immediately before and immediately after the liquidation and dissolution is not less than 90 per cent, the other affiliate is deemed to be the same corporation as, and a continuation of, that predecessor affiliate.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): New subsection 5903(5) provides that a predecessor affiliate's FAPLs may flow through to a successor affiliate following a foreign merger or winding up of one or more affiliates of a taxpayer provided the taxpayer's surplus entitlement percentage exceeds 90% in each predecessor affiliate and in the successor affiliate. New subsection 5903(5) is substantially similar to existing subsection 5903(3), except that new subsection 5903(5) does not contain the additional 90% surplus entitlement percentage condition for the loss accrual period that is currently found in the "post-amble" of current subsection 5903(3).

(6) ["Relevant person or partnership"] — In this section, a "relevant person or partnership" in respect of the taxpayer, at any time, means the taxpayer or a person (other than a designated acquired corporation of the taxpayer), or a partnership, that is at that time

(a) a person (other than a partnership) that is resident in Canada and does not, at that time, deal at arm's length (otherwise than because of a right referred to in paragraph 251(5)(b) of the Act) with the taxpayer;

(b) an antecedent corporation of a relevant person or partnership in respect of the taxpayer;

(c) a partnership a member of which is at that time a relevant person or partnership in respect of the taxpayer under this subsection; or

(d) where paragraph (1)(b) is being applied, a corporation of which the taxpayer is an antecedent corporation.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): New subsection 5903(6) defines the expression "relevant person or partnership". The introduction of this new concept is consequential to the Budget 2007 Act changes that restructured paragraph 95(2)(f), in particular the repeal of subparagraphs 95(2)(f)(v) to (vii). The "relevant person or partnership" definition is a modified version of the "specified person or partnership" definition in subsection 95(1) of the Act, which is a key component of the so-called "carve-out" rule found in paragraph 95(2)(f.1) of the Act.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5903(7) — Interpretation.

(7) [Non-arm's length dealings] — For the purposes of paragraphs (6)(a) to (d),

(a) if a person or partnership (referred to in this subsection as the "relevant person") is not dealing at arm's length (otherwise than because of a right referred to in paragraph 251(5)(b) of the Act) with another person or partnership (referred to in this paragraph as the "particular person") at a particular time, the relevant person is deemed to have existed and not to have dealt at arm's length with the particular person, nor with each antecedent corporation (other than a designated acquired corporation of the particular person) of the particular person, throughout the period that began when the particular person or the antecedent corporation, as the case may be, came into existence and that ends at the particular time; and

(b) where paragraph (1)(b) is being applied, if a corporation of which a particular person (other than a designated acquired corporation of the corporation) is an antecedent corporation is not dealing at arm's length (otherwise than because of a right referred to in paragraph 251(5)(b) of the Act) with another person or partnership at any time, the particular person is deemed to exist and not to be dealing at arm's length with the other person or the partnership, as the case may be, at that time.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): New paragraph 5903(7)(a) is similar to subsection 95(2.6) of the Act, and is an interpretation rule for the purpose of the "relevant person or partnership" definition in subsection 5903(6). New paragraph 5903(7)(b) does not have an analogous provision in the Act and applies only in the context of a carryback of a FAPL to a prior year. Essentially, both paragraphs of subsection 5903(7) attribute non-arm's length status to certain persons that do not exist contemporaneously.

Application: The August 27, 2010 draft legislation (Part 2 — foreign affiliates), s. 42, will amend s. 5903 to read as above, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after November 1999, except that

(a) the words "twenty taxation years" in para. 5903(1)(a) are, in respect of foreign accrual property losses for taxation years of the foreign affiliate that end in taxation years of the taxpayer that end

(i) before March 23, 2004, to be read as "seven taxation years", and

(ii) after March 22, 2004 and before 2006, to be read as "ten taxation years";

(b) in its application to taxation years that begin before 2001, s. 5903 is to be read without reference to its para. 5903(2)(b);

(c) para. 5903(3)(a) is, in its application to taxation years of the foreign affiliate that begin before December 19, 2009, to be read as follows:

(a) where, at the end of the year, the affiliate is a controlled foreign affiliate of a person or partnership that is, at the end of the year, a relevant person or partnership in respect of the taxpayer, the amount, if any, by which

(i) the total of the amounts determined for D and E in the formula in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act in respect of the affiliate for the year

exceeds

(ii) the total of the amounts determined for A, B and C in that formula in that definition in respect of the affiliate for the year, and

(d) subsec. 5903(4) is, in its application to taxation years of the foreign affiliate that begin before December 19, 2009, to be read as follows:

(4) In computing under subsection (3) the foreign accrual property loss of the affiliate for a taxation year, if the affiliate or another corporation has received a payment described in subsection 5907(1.3) from another foreign affiliate of the taxpayer and any portion of the payment can reasonably be considered to relate to a loss or portion of a loss of the affiliate for the year described in the description of D or E in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act, the amount of the loss or portion of the loss is deemed to be nil.

(e) subsec. 5903(6) is, in its application to taxation years of the foreign affiliate that begin before December 19, 2009, to be read as follows:

(6) In this section, a "relevant person or partnership", in respect of a taxpayer, at any time means

(a) the taxpayer;

(b) any person with whom the taxpayer was not dealing at arm's length;

(c) any person with whom the taxpayer would not have been dealing at arm's length if the person had been in existence after the taxpayer came into existence;

(d) any predecessor corporation (within the meaning assigned by subsection 87(1) of the Act) of a person described in any of paragraphs (a) to (c), or

(e) any predecessor corporation (within the meaning assigned by paragraph 87(2)(l.2) of the Act) of a person described in any of paragraphs (a) to (c).

(f) in its application to taxation years that begin before December 19, 2009, s. 5903 is to be read without reference to its subsec. (7).

See Application note under Proposed Amendment to Reg. 5900(3) for rule (s. 53 of the draft legislation) permitting late reassessment to give effect to this amendment.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): Section 5903 generally applies for taxation years of foreign affiliates that begin after November 1999, however there are a number of exceptions. Most of these exceptions preserve the application of draft proposals issued in March 2001 for periods before December 18, 2009. Another key exception provides for a gradual transition of the FAPL carryforward period from the existing 5 years to 7 years then 10 and, finally, 20 years.

The following examples illustrate the application of certain aspects of new section 5903.

Example 1

The application of paragraph 5903(6)(d) in the context of a FAPL carryback is illustrated by the following example.

Assumptions

1. In year 1, Canco, a corporation resident in Canada, owns all the shares of Subco, another corporation resident in Canada, and all the shares of FA, a foreign affiliate of Canco.

2. FA earns FAPI of $1,000,000 in year 1 which is included in computing the income of Canco in accordance with section 91 of the Act.

3. In year 2, Newco, a corporation resident in Canada, is formed as a result of a vertical amalgamation of Canco and Subco.

4. FA incurs a FAPL of $1,000,000 in year 3.

Analysis

Under paragraph 5903(1)(b), Canco can designate in year 1 an amount of FAPL incurred by FA in the 3 following taxation years. However, under the definition of FAPL in subsection 5903(3), FA has to be a controlled foreign affiliate of a relevant person or partnership in respect of Canco at the end of year 3.

In the absence of new paragraph 5903(6)(d), Newco would not be a relevant person or partnership in respect of Canco at the end of year 3 since Canco is not considered to exist for the purposes of the Act and, therefore, it could not be said that Newco was not dealing at arm's length with Canco under paragraph (a) of that definition at the end of year 3. Also, Newco is not an antecedent corporation in respect of Canco, it is a successor.

Under new subsection 5903(6)(d), since Newco is, at the end of year 3, a corporation of which Canco is an antecedent corporation, Newco is a relevant person or partnership in respect of Canco in year 3. Consequently, Canco would be able to carry back the amount of FAPL realized by FA in year 3 to year 1.

Example 2

The application of paragraph 5903(7)(b) in the context of a FAPL carryback is illustrated by the following example.

Assumptions

1. In year 1, Canco 1, a corporation resident in Canada, owns all of the shares of Canco 2, another corporation resident in Canada, which in turn owns all of the shares of FA, a non-resident corporation. In year 1, FA earns FAPI of $1,000,000.

2. On January 1st of year 2, Amalco is formed as a result of a vertical amalgamation of Canco 1 and Canco 2.

3. On January 1 of year 3, Amalco forms Canco 3, a corporation resident in Canada, and transfers the shares of FA to Canco 3.

4. In year 3, FA realizes a FAPL of $1,000,000.

Analysis

Under subsection 5903(1), Canco 2 can designate in year 1 an amount that is the FAPL of FA for the 3 following taxation years. Under the definition of FAPL in subsection 5903(3), the $1,000,000 loss incurred by FA in year 3 would be a FAPL vis-a-vis Canco 2 only if FA is a controlled foreign affiliate of a relevant person or partnership in respect of Canco 2 at the end of year 3. At the end of year 3, FA is a controlled foreign affiliate of Canco 3.

In the absence of paragraph 5903(7)(b), Canco 3 would not be a relevant person or partnership in respect of Canco 2 at the end of year 3 under subsection 5903(6) as Canco 2 cannot be said to be non-arm's length with Canco 3 given that it did not exist at that time. Also, paragraph 5903(7)(a) cannot deem Canco 2 to be in existence and not to be dealing at arm's length with Canco 3 in year 3 because Canco 3 is not an antecedent corporation of Canco 1.

Paragraph 5903(7)(b) ensures that, because Amalco (the corporation of which Canco 2 — the "particular person" — is an antecedent corporation) was not dealing at arm's length with Canco 3 (the other person) at the end of year 3, Canco 2 is deemed to be in existence and not to be dealing at arm's length with Canco 3 at the end of year 3. As a result, Canco 3 is a relevant person or partnership in respect of Canco 2 at the end of year 3 under paragraph 5903(6)(a), which allows Canco 2 to apply the FAPL of year 3 to year 1.

Definitions "amount" — ITA 248(1), Reg. 5907(7), "antecedent corporation" — ITA 95(1), "arm's length" — ITA 251(1), "controlled foreign affiliate" — ITA 94.1(2)(b), 95(1), 248(1), Reg. 5907(1), "corporation" — ITA 248(1), Interpretation Act 35(1), "designated acquired corporation", "designated liquidation and dissolution", "entity" — ITA 95(1), "foreign accrual property income" — ITA 95(1), (2), 248(1), "foreign accrual property loss" — Reg. 5903(3), (4), "foreign affiliate" — ITA 95(1), 248(1), Reg. 5907(3), "loss" — Reg. 5907(1), "non-resident", "person", "prescribed", "property" — ITA 248(1), "relevant person or partnership" — Reg. 5903(6), "resident in Canada" — ITA 250, "shareholder" — ITA 248(1), "surplus entitlement percentage" — Reg. 5905(13), "taxation year" — ITA 249, "taxpayer" — ITA 248(1).

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5903(3)(a)

(a) where, at the end of the year, the affiliate is a controlled foreign affiliate of a person or partnership that is, at the end of the year, a relevant person or partnership in respect of the taxpayer, the amount, if any, determined by the formula

where

J is the amount determined for D in the formula in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act in respect of the affiliate for the year,

(i) the amount determined for A in that formula in respect of the affiliate for the year

exceeds

(ii) the amount determined for H in that formula in respect of the affiliate for the year,

L is the amount, if any, by which

(i) the amount determined for B in that formula in respect of the affiliate for the year

exceeds

(ii) the amount determined for G in that formula in respect of the affiliate for the year; and

Application The August 19, 2011 draft legislation (foreign affiliates), subsec. 26(1), will amend para. 5903(3)(a) (the version in the August 27, 2010 draft legislation; see Proposed Amendment above) to read as above, applicable in respect of taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after August 19, 2011.

Technical Notes Subsection 5903(3) sets out the mechanics for determining the FAPL, for a taxation year, of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer by reference to the variables in the FAPI definition in subsection 95(1) of the Act.

Paragraph 5903(3)(a) is being restructured in order to make it function better, to remove capital losses, and to incorporate appropriate references to deal with the amendments to variable E, and the addition of variable E.1, of the FAPI definition. Essentially, variable E amounts will no longer be included in FAPLs and will only be relevant, along with variable E.1 amounts, in determining how much of variable B capital gains are to be included in a FAPL determination. Variable E amounts will now become the principal component of foreign accrual capital losses, as discussed below under the commentary to new section 5903.1.

Related Provisions [Reg. 5903(3)] ITA 257 — Negative amounts in formulas; Reg. 5907(1.4) — Where loss is in respect of another corporation's loss.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5903(4)

(4) In computing under subsection (3) the foreign accrual property loss of the affiliate for a taxation year, if the affiliate or another corporation receives a payment described in subsection 5907(1.3) from a non-resident corporation that is, at the time of the payment, a foreign affiliate of a relevant person or partnership in respect of the taxpayer and any portion of the payment can reasonably be considered to relate to a loss or portion of a loss of the affiliate for the year described in the description of D in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act, the amount of the loss or portion of the loss is deemed to be nil.

Application: The August 19, 2011 draft legislation (foreign affiliates), subsec. 26(2), will amend subsec. 5903(4) (the version in the August 27, 2010 draft legislation; see Proposed Amendment above) to read as above, applicable in respect of taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after August 19, 2011.

See also Application under ITA s. 90 re extended reassessment deadline.

Technical Notes Subsection 5903(4) prevents the double counting of FAPLs. It provides that FAPLs of one foreign affiliate will not include any of its losses for which certain other foreign affiliates have made compensatory payments where those other affiliates have claimed those payments as foreign accrual tax. This rule is aimed at foreign tax regimes which allow one company's losses to be used by another in determining their liability for foreign income tax, whether by way of consolidated tax returns or a more direct system of loss surrendering.

Subsection 5903(4) is being amended to eliminate the reference to variable E of the FAPI definition. This amendment is consequential to the introduction of FACLs and the addition of a parallel provision in new subsection 5903.1(4), as discussed below.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5903(5) opening words

(5) For the purposes of this section and section 5903.1,

Application The August 19, 2011 draft legislation (foreign affiliates), subsec. 26(3), will amend the opening words of subsec. 5903(5) (the version in the August 27, 2010 draft legislation; see Proposed Amendment above) to read as above, applicable in respect of taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after August 19, 2011.

See also Application under ITA s. 90 re extended reassessment deadline.

Technical Notes Subsection 5903(5) provides for the flow-through of FAPLs upon certain foreign mergers or liquidations involving foreign affiliates.

Subsection 5903(5) is amended in two ways.

First, it is being amended to extend its application to section 5903.1, the new section that deals with FACLs.

Second, it is being amended to make direct reference to paragraphs 95(2)(d.1) and (e) of the Act thereby incorporating the conditions built into those provisions and removing the conditions that currently exist within subsection 5903(5). Furthermore, the flow-through rules are being clarified to ensure that FAPLs and FACLs of a new corporation or shareholder affiliate, as the case may be, cannot be carried back against FAPI of a predecessor or disposing affiliate.

(Note that there is no need to specifically refer to subsection 87(8.1) of the Act for the meaning of "foreign merger" as subsection 95(4) of the Act defines that term for the purposes of section 95 and section 5903 applies exclusively for the purposes of a provision within section 95, i.e. the FAPI definition in subsection 95(1).)

The first amendment applies to foreign affiliate taxation years that end after August 19, 2011.

The second amendment applies on the same basis as the amendments to paragraphs 95(2)(d.1) and (e) of the Act, as discussed above (which allow for retroactive elections). However, transitional readings are provided to ensure that the clarifying FAPL and FACL carryback language applies prospectively.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5903(5)(a), (b)

(a) if paragraph 95(2)(d.1) of the Act applies to a foreign merger, the new foreign corporation referred to in that paragraph is, except in the determination of the foreign accrual property income of a foreign affiliate predecessor referred to in that paragraph, deemed to be the same corporation as, and a continuation of, each foreign affiliate predecessor; and

(b) if paragraph 95(2)(e) of the Act applies to a liquidation and dissolution, of a disposing affiliate referred to in that paragraph, that is a designated liquidation and dissolution of the disposing affiliate, the shareholder affiliate referred to in that paragraph is, except in the determination of the foreign accrual property income of the disposing affiliate, deemed to be the same corporation as, and a continuation of, the disposing affiliate.

Related Provisions [Reg. 5903(5)] ITA 95(4.2) — Absorptive mergers.

Application: The August 19, 2011 draft legislation (foreign affiliates), subsec. 26(4), will amend para. 5903(5)(a) and (b) (the versions in the August 27, 2010 draft legislation, see Proposed Amendment above) to read as above, applicable in respect of mergers or combinations that occur, and liquidations and dissolutions that begin, in respect of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer, after August 19, 2011; however,

(a) if the taxpayer has elected under subsec. 16(31) of the draft legislation [see Application annotation to Proposed Amendment to ITA 95(2)(d.1)],

(i) para. 5903(5)(a), as amended, also applies in respect of mergers or combinations in respect of all foreign affiliates of the taxpayer that occur after December 20, 2002 and on or before August 19, 2011, and

(ii) para. 5903(5)(a) is, for such mergers or combinations, to be read as follows:

(a) if paragraph 95(2)(d.1) of the Act applies to a foreign merger, the new foreign corporation referred to in that paragraph is deemed to be the same corporation as, and a continuation of, each foreign affiliate predecessor; and

(b) if the taxpayer has elected under subsec. 16(28) of this draft legislation [see Application annotation to proposed ITA 95(1)"designated liquidation and dissolution"],

(i) para. 5903(5)(b), as amended, also applies in respect of liquidations and dissolutions of all foreign affiliates of the taxpayer that begin after December 20, 2002 and on or before August 19, 2011, and

(ii) para. 5903(5)(b) is, in respect of such liquidations and dissolutions, to be read as follows:

(b) if paragraph 95(2)(e) of the Act applies to a liquidation and dissolution, of a disposing affiliate referred to in that paragraph, that is a designated liquidation and dissolution of the disposing affiliate, the shareholder affiliate referred to in that paragraph is deemed to be the same corporation as, and a continuation of, the disposing affiliate.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5903(6) opening words

(6) In this section and section 5903.1, a "relevant person or partnership", in respect of the taxpayer at any time, means the taxpayer or a person (other than a designated acquired corporation of the taxpayer), or a partnership, that is at that time

Application: The August 19, 2011 draft legislation (foreign affiliates), subsec. 26(5), will amend the opening words of subsec. 5903(6) (the version in the August 27, 2010 draft legislation, see Proposed Amendment above) to read as above, applicable in respect of taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after August 19, 2011.

See also Application under ITA s. 90 re extended reassessment deadline.

Technical Notes: Subsection 5903(6) defines the expression "relevant person or partnership" for the purposes of section 5903.

Subsection 5903(6) is being amended to extend its application to section 5903.1, which is the new section that deals with FACLs.

Proposed Addition — 5903.1

5903.1 [Prescribed amount for FAPI F.1 — FACL] — (1) For the purposes of the description of F.1 in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act, subject to subsection (2), the prescribed amount for the year (referred to in this subsection and subsection (2) as the "particular year") is the total of all amounts each of which is a portion designated for the particular year by the taxpayer of the foreign accrual capital loss of the affiliate for a taxation year of the affiliate that is

(a) one of the twenty taxation years of the affiliate that immediately precede the particular year; or

(b) one of the three taxation years of the affiliate that immediately follow the particular year.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5903(5) — Effect of merger or liquidation-and-dissolution.

(2) For the purposes of this subsection and subsection (1),

(a) a portion of a foreign accrual capital loss of the affiliate for any taxation year of the affiliate may be designated for the particular year only to the extent that the foreign accrual capital loss exceeds the total of all amounts each of which is a portion, of the foreign accrual capital loss, designated by the taxpayer for a taxation year of the affiliate that precedes the particular year;

(b) no portion of the foreign accrual capital loss of the affiliate for a taxation year of the affiliate is to be designated for the particular year until the foreign accrual capital losses of the affiliate for the preceding taxation years referred to in paragraph (1)(a) have been fully designated; and

(c) if any person or partnership that was, at the end of a taxation year (referred to in this paragraph as the "relevant loss year") of the affiliate, a relevant person or partnership in respect of the taxpayer designates for a taxation year (referred to in this paragraph as the "relevant claim year") of the affiliate a particular portion of the foreign accrual capital loss of the affiliate for the relevant loss year, there is deemed to have been designated for the relevant claim year by the taxpayer the portion of that loss that is the greater of

(i) the particular portion, and

(ii) the greatest of the portions of that loss that are so designated by any other relevant persons or partnerships in respect of the taxpayer.

(3) For the purposes of this section, and subject to subsection (4), "foreign accrual capital loss" of the affiliate for a taxation year of the affiliate means

(a) where, at the end of the year, the affiliate is a controlled foreign affiliate of a person or partnership that is, at the end of the year, a relevant person or partnership in respect of the taxpayer, the amount, if any, by which

(i) the amount determined under paragraph (a) of the description of E in the formula in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act in respect of the affiliate for the year

exceeds

(ii) the amount determined for E in that formula in respect of the affiliate for the year; and

(b) in any other case, nil.

Related Provisions: ITA 152(6.1)(b)(i)(A) — Reassessment to apply FACL carryback; Reg. 5907(1.4) — Where loss is in respect of another corporation's loss.

(4) In computing under subsection (3) the foreign accrual capital loss of the affiliate for a taxation year, if the affiliate or another corporation receives a payment described in subsection 5907(1.3) from a non-resident corporation that is, at the time of the payment, a foreign affiliate of a relevant person or partnership in respect of the taxpayer and any portion of the payment can reasonably be considered to relate to an allowable capital loss or a portion of an allowable capital loss of the affiliate for the year described in the description of E in the definition "foreign accrual property income" in subsection 95(1) of the Act, the amount of the loss or portion of the loss is deemed to be nil.

Application: The August 19, 2011 draft legislation (foreign affiliates), s. 27, will add s. 5903.1, applicable in respect of taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after August 19, 2011.

See also Application under ITA s. 90 re extended reassessment deadline.

Technical Notes: New section 5903.1 introduces the new concept of a "foreign accrual capital loss" or "FACL". Under current rules, FACLs are included in the determination of FAPLs in section 5903, which are deducted under variable F of the FAPI definition in subsection 95(1) of the Act. Some of the amendments to section 5903 that are discussed above have the effect of removing FACLs from FAPLs, and new section 5903.1 provides the rules for determining FACLs. FACLs feed into new variable F.1 of the FAPI definition. FAPLs and FACLs are the loss carryforward concepts applicable in the FAPI context. Current year "income" and "capital" losses are deducted under variables D and E of the FAPI definition.

This new FACL concept is part of an initiative to bring the foreign affiliate FAPI rules in line with the rules applicable to Canadian corporations, i.e. the rules that "stream" capital losses against capital gains. Essentially, FAPLs and FACLs will now have to be accounted for separately and FACLs, as well as the current year capital losses that are captured under variable E of the FAPI definition, will be limited to capital gains. For more details on these limitations, refer to the above commentary dealing with amended variable E and new variable F.1 of the FAPI definition in subsection 95(1) of the Act.

The intended effect of the separate deduction of FAPLs and FACLs is that taxpayers should no longer be able to reduce FAPI earnings that are on income account with FAPI losses that are on capital account.

New subsections 5903.1(1) to (4) provide the rules for determining and claiming FACLs for the purposes of new variable F.1 of the FAPI definition in subsection 95(1) of the Act. These rules are essentially equivalent to the FAPL rules in subsections 5903(1) to (4). The only notable distinction is that the FACL definition is more concise than the FAPL definition. FACLs capture only the excess of current year capital losses over the amount claimed under variable E of the FAPI definition. (FAPLs capture all other amounts that are eligible for carryforward in the determination of FAPI.)

As discussed above under subsection 5903(5), the corporate continuity rules also apply in the FACL context. Furthermore, "relevant person or partnership", as used in section 5903.1, is defined in subsection 5903(6). This is also discussed above.

This new section applies to foreign affiliate taxation years that end after August 19, 2011.

Example 1

Assumptions

1. Canco, a corporation resident in Canada, owns 100% of the shares of FA, a nonresident corporation.

2. FA carries on an investment business, as defined in subsection 95(1).

3. FA has the following amounts of income and loss for its 2012 taxation year:

a. $1,000 of property income (under FAPI variable A);

b. $2,000 of taxable capital gains (under FAPI variable B);

c. $300 of property losses (under FAPI variable D);

d. $2,500 of allowable capital losses (under FAPI variable E, pgh. (a));

e. $2,000 of FAPL carryforwards.

Analysis

FA's FAPI in respect of Canco for 2012 will be based on the following relevant variables from the FAPI definition in subsection 95(1):

$$(A + B) - (D + E + F)$$

In this example, only variables E and F require determination, the others are as indicated above.

The variable E amount is limited to $2,000, being the taxable capital gains included in B.

Canco could claim a variable F amount of up to $2,000, but in this example only $700 is required to bring FAPI to zero, i.e. A + B − D − E = $1,000 + $2,000 − $300 − $2,000 = $700. Thus, it would be expected that Canco would claim $700 under variable F such that FA would have a remaining FAPL balance of $1,300.

In addition, FA will have, pursuant to new subsection 5903.1(3), a FACL for 2012 based on the excess of the amount under paragraph (a) of variable E ($2,500) over the amount claimed under E ($2,000). This $500 FACL can be carried back 3 years and forward for 20 years, pursuant to new subsection 5903.1(1).

Example 2

Assumptions

1. Canco, a corporation resident in Canada, owns 100% of the shares of FA, a non-resident corporation.

2. FA carries on an investment business, as defined in subsection 95(1).

3. FA has the following amounts of income and loss for its 2012 taxation year:

a. $1,000 of property income (under FAPI variable A);

b. $2,000 of taxable capital gains (under FAPI variable B);

c. $2,500 of property losses (under FAPI variable D);

d. $2,200 of FACL carryforwards.

Analysis

FA's FAPI in respect of Canco for 2012 will be based on the following relevant variables from the FAPI definition in subsection 95(1):

$$(A + B) - (D + F.1)$$

In this example, only variable F.1 requires determination, the others are as indicated above.

Canco can get a deduction under variable F.1 of up to $2,000 because $2,000 of taxable capital gains are included under variable B. If Canco makes a full $2,000 claim under variable F.1, the FAPI formula would produce a negative amount of $1,500 ($1,000 + $2,000 − $2,500 − $2,000). This negative amount would simply mean that no FAPI inclusion would arise, as section 257 of the Act would force the amount to nil. Thus, Canco only needs to make a $500 claim under variable F.1 to wipe out FA1's FAPI. However, it is important to note that a $2,000 claim under variable F.1 (which would reduce the FACL balance to $200) would not waste the extra $1,500 as that excess amount would be picked up as a FAPL under amended paragraph 5903(3)(a), because of the reduction of the variable L amount to zero. In such a case, paragraph 5903(3)(a) would compute a FAPL for 2012 of J − K − L, in this case derived by D − A − (B − F.1), which is $2,500 − $1,000 − ($2,000 − $2,000) = $1,500.

Thus, Canco has a choice between FAPL carryforwards and FACL carryforwards.

5904. Participating percentage — (1) For the purpose of subparagraph (b)(ii) of the definition "participating percentage" in subsection 95(1) of the Act, the participating percentage of a particular share owned by a taxpayer of the capital stock of a corporation in respect of any foreign affiliate of the taxpayer that was, at the end of its taxation year, a controlled foreign affiliate of the taxpayer is prescribed to be the percentage that would be the taxpayer's equity percentage in the affiliate at that time on the assumption that

(a) the taxpayer owned no shares other than the particular share;

(b) the direct equity percentage of a person in any foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, for which the total of the distribution entitlements of all the shares of all classes of the capital stock of the affiliate was greater than nil, was determined by the following rules and not by the rules contained in the definition "direct equity percentage" in subsection 95(4) of the Act:

(i) for each class of the capital stock of the affiliate, determine that amount that is the proportion of the distribution entitlement of all the shares of that class that the number of shares of that class owned by that person is of all the issued shares of that class, and

(ii) determine the proportion that

(A) the aggregate of the amounts determined under subparagraph 5904(1)(b) (i) for each class of the capital stock of the affiliate

is of

(B) the aggregate of the distribution entitlements of all the issued shares of all classes of the capital stock of the affiliate and the proportion determined under subparagraph 5904(1)(b)(ii) when expressed as a percentage is that person's direct equity percentage in the affiliate; and

(c) the direct equity percentage of a person in any foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, for which the total of the distribution entitlements of all the shares of all classes of the capital stock of the affiliate was not greater than nil, was determined by the rules contained in the definition "direct equity percentage" in subsection 95(4) of the Act.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5904(1)(c)

(c) the direct equity percentage of a person in any foreign affiliate of the taxpayer, for which the total of the distribution entitlements of all the shares of all classes of the capital stock of the affiliate would not, in the absence of this paragraph, be greater than nil, was determined on the assumption that the amount determined under subparagraph (2)(b)(i) were the greater of

(i) the amount of the affiliate's retained earnings, if any, determined at the end of the taxation year under accounting principles that are relevant to the affiliate for the taxation year, and

(ii) the amount determined by the formula

where

A is the amount of the affiliate's total assets determined at the end of the taxation year under accounting principles that are relevant to the affiliate for the taxation year, and

B is 25 percent.

Application: The August 19, 2011 draft legislation (foreign affiliates), subsec. 28(1), will amend para. 5904(1)(c) to read as above, applicable in respect of taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after August 19, 2011.

See also Application under ITA s. 90 re extended reassessment deadline.

Technical Notes: Section 5904 determines "participating percentage" for the purposes of subparagraph (b)(ii) of the definition "participating percentage" in subsection 95(1) of the Act. Essentially, this is determined based on the concept of "equity percentage" in subsection 95(4) of the Act, with a few modifications, as set out in paragraphs 5904(1)(a) to (c). Subsection 5904(2) provides the meaning of "distribution entitlement" for the purposes of paragraphs 5904(1)(b) and (c), and subsection 5904(3) provides interpretive rules for the purposes of subsection 5904(2).

Paragraph 5904(1)(c) currently provides that where "distribution entitlement" is nil, "direct equity percentage" is derived directly from the concept of "direct equity percentage" in subsection 95(4), i.e. without modification.

This "nil distribution entitlement" rule is being replaced with a rule that measures net surplus (for the purposes of the distribution entitlement definition in subsection 5904(2)) based on the greater of the retained earnings of the relevant affiliate and 25% of its total assets. (A similar modification is being made in subsection 5905(11) in the context of the "surplus entitlement percentage" rules.)

Paragraph 5904(3)(b) provides an interpretive rule to deal with circular shareholdings. This rule is similar to the rule in subparagraph 5902(2)(a)(i) that is discussed above, and it is being similarly amended. For more details, refer to the comments under that subparagraph.

History: That portion of subsec. 5904(1) before subpara (b)(i), and para. (c), amended by P.C. 1997-1670, subsecs. 6(1), (2), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the amended portions apply to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

(2) For the purposes of this section, the distribution entitlement of all the shares of a class of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the taxpayer at the end of its taxation year is the aggregate of

(a) the distributions made during the year by the affiliate to holders of shares of that class; and

(b) the amount that the affiliate might reasonably be expected to distribute to holders of shares of that class immediately after the end of the year if at that time it had distributed to its shareholders an amount equal to the aggregate of

(i) the amount, if any, by which the net surplus of the affiliate in respect of the taxpayer at the end of the year, computed as though any adjustments resulting from the provisions of sections 5902 and 5905 and subsections 5907(2.1) and (2.2) and any references thereto during the year were ignored, exceeds the net surplus of the affiliate in respect of the taxpayer at the end of its immediately preceding taxation year, and

(ii) the amount that the affiliate would receive if at that time each controlled foreign affiliate of the taxpayer in which the affiliate had an equity percentage had distributed to its shareholders an amount equal to the aggregate of

(A) the amount that would be determined under subparagraph 5904(2)(b)(i) for the controlled foreign affiliate if the controlled foreign affiliate were the foreign affiliate referred to in subparagraph 5904(2)(b)(i), for each of the taxation years of the controlled foreign affiliate ending in the taxation year of the affiliate, and

(B) each such amount that the controlled foreign affiliate would receive from any other controlled foreign affiliate of the taxpayer in which it had an equity percentage.

(3) For the purposes of subsection 5904(2),

(a) the net surplus of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer who is an individual, in respect of that individual, shall be computed as if that individual were a corporation resident in Canada;

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5904(3)(a)

(a) the net surplus of a foreign affiliate of a person resident in Canada is, in respect of that person, to be computed as if that person were a corporation resident in Canada;

Application: The August 27, 2010 draft legislation (Part 2 — foreign affiliates), s. 43, will amend para. 5904(3)(a) to read as above, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after November 1999.

See Application note under Proposed Amendment to Reg. 5900(3) for rule (s. 53 of the draft legislation) permitting late reassessment to give effect to this amendment.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): Section 5904 prescribes rules for subparagraph (b)(ii) of the definition "participating percentage" in subsection 95(1). This definition is relevant for determining the amount to be included in FAPI under subsection 91(1) of the Act.

Subsection 5904(3) contains application rules for subsection 5904(2). Subsection 5904(2) determines the distribution entitlement of all shares of a foreign affiliate for the purpose of subsection 5904(1), the main operative rule in section 5904. Current paragraph 5904(3)(a) provides that the net surplus of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer who is an individual shall be computed as if the individual were a corporation resident in Canada.

New paragraph 5904(3)(a) is being amended to clarify that it applies where the relevant shareholder for FAPI purposes is a partnership. This is accomplished by replacing the references to an individual with references to a "person resident in Canada".

(b) in computing the net surplus of a particular foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada in which any other foreign affiliate of the taxpayer has an equity percentage, no amount shall be included in respect of any distribution that would be received by the particular affiliate from such other affiliate;

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5904(3)(b)

(b) if a particular foreign affiliate of a corporation has an equity percentage (within the meaning assigned by subsection 95(4) of the Act) in another foreign affiliate of the corporation that has an equity percentage in the particular affiliate, the net surplus of, or the amount of a distribution received by, the particular affiliate is to be determined in a manner that is

(i) reasonable in the circumstances, and

(ii) consistent with the results that would be obtained if a series of actual distributions had been made and received by the foreign affiliates of the corporation that are relevant to the determination;

Application: The August 19, 2011 draft legislation (foreign affiliates), subsec. 28(2), will amend para. 5904(3)(b) to read as above, applicable in respect of taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after August 19, 2011.

See also Application under ITA s. 90 re extended reassessment deadline.

Technical Notes: See under proposed 5904(1)(c).

(c) if any controlled foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada has issued shares of more than one class of its capital stock, the amount that would be distributed to the holders of shares of any class is such portion of the amount determined under subparagraph 5904(2)(b)(ii) as, in the circumstances, it might reasonably be expected to distribute to the holders of those shares; and

(d) in determining the distribution entitlement

(i) of a class of shares of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate that is entitled to cumulative dividends, the amount of any distribution referred to in paragraph (2)(a) shall be deemed not to include any distribution in respect of such class that is, or would, if it were made, be referable to profits of a preceding taxation year, and

(ii) of any other class of shares of the capital stock of the affiliate, the net surplus of the affiliate at the end of the year referred to in subparagraph (2)(b)(i) shall be deemed not to have been reduced by any distribution described in subparagraph (i) with respect to a class of shares that is entitled to cumulative dividends to the extent that the distribution was referable to profits of a preceding taxation year.

5905. Special rules — (1) [Corporation or FA acquiring shares of another FA] — Where at any time, other than in the course of a transaction to which subsection (2) or (5) applies, a corporation resident in Canada or a foreign affiliate of such a corporation acquires in any manner whatever shares of the capital stock of another corporation that was a foreign affiliate of the corporation immediately before that time (in this subsection referred to as the "acquired affiliate") and as a result thereof the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation in respect of the acquired affiliate increases, for the purposes of this Part, the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, the taxable surplus or taxable deficit and the underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation, of the acquired affiliate and of each other foreign affiliate of the corporation in which the acquired affiliate has an equity percentage (in this subsection referred to as the "other affiliate"), other than an acquired affiliate or other affiliate in respect of which subsection (8) applies, shall at that time be reduced to the proportion of the amount thereof otherwise determined that

(b) the surplus entitlement percentage immediately after that time of the corporation in respect of the acquired affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the acquired affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately after that time, and, for the purposes of the definitions "exempt deficit", "exempt surplus", "taxable deficit", "taxable surplus" and "underlying foreign tax" in subsection 5907(1), those reduced amounts are referred to as the opening exempt deficit, opening exempt surplus, opening taxable deficit, opening taxable surplus and opening underlying foreign tax, as the case may be, of each of those affiliates in respect of the corporation.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5905(1) [to be further amended, below]

(1) [Corporation or FA acquiring shares of FA] — If, at any time, there is an acquisition or a disposition of shares of the capital stock of a particular foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada and the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation in respect of the particular foreign affiliate or any other foreign affiliate (the particular affiliate and those other affiliates being referred to individually in this subsection as a "relevant affiliate") of the corporation in which the particular affiliate has an equity percentage (within the meaning assigned by subsection 95(4) of the Act) changes, for the purposes of the definitions "exempt surplus", "taxable surplus" and "underlying foreign tax" in subsection 5907(1), each of the opening exempt surplus or opening exempt deficit, opening taxable surplus or opening taxable deficit, and opening underlying foreign tax, as the case may be, of the relevant affiliate in respect of the corporation is, except where the acquisition or disposition occurs in a transaction to which paragraph (3)(a) or subsection (5) or (5.1) applies, the amount determined at that time by the formula

where

A is the amount of that surplus, deficit or tax, as the case may be, as otherwise determined at that time;

B is the corporation's surplus entitlement percentage immediately before that time in respect of the relevant affiliate; and

C is the corporation's surplus entitlement percentage immediately after that time in respect of the relevant affiliate.

Application: The August 27, 2010 draft legislation (Part 2 — foreign affiliates), subsec. 44(1), will amend subsec. 5905(1) to read as above, applicable in respect of acquisitions and dispositions that occur after December 18, 2009.

See Application note under Proposed Amendment to Reg. 5900(3) for rule (s. 53 of the draft legislation) permitting late reassessment to give effect to this amendment.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): Section 5905 provides special rules for the purposes of determining surpluses and deficits and underlying foreign tax balances of a foreign affiliate in the context of certain share transactions and corporate reorganizations. See the discussion under section 5902 for a more complete description of the current functions of section 5905 and a general description of certain proposed changes in respect thereof.

Subsections 5905(1), (2), (8) and (9) currently provide rules for resetting the amount of the exempt surplus or deficit, taxable surplus or deficit and underlying foreign tax, in respect of a corporation resident in Canada, of any particular foreign affiliate of the corporation (and, in general, of each other foreign affiliate of the corporation in which the particular affiliate has an equity percentage) in cases where the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation in respect of the particular affiliate increases or decreases because of certain acquisitions, redemptions or issuances in respect of shares of the particular affiliate.

As noted above in the discussion under section 5902, the feature of some of these subsections that adjusts surplus balances as a result of subsection 93(1) adjustments is being moved to section 5902. The remaining aspects of these rules are being combined in new subsection 5905(1). Subsections (2), (8) and (9) are being repealed. Amended subsection 5905(1) will also adjust certain surplus balances in the context of a foreign merger, as described below under subsection 5905(3).

These amendments will apply for acquisitions and dispositions, and certain other more specific categories of transactions, that occur after December 18, 2009.

Application: The August 19, 2011 draft legislation (foreign affiliates), subsec. 29(1), will amend the opening words of subsec. 5905(1) (the version in the August 27, 2010 draft legislation, see Proposed Amendment above, to read as above, applicable in respect of acquisitions and dispositions that occur after August 19, 2011.

See also Application under ITA s. 90 re extended reassessment deadline.

Technical Notes: Subsections 5905(1) to (5.1) provide rules for resetting or establishing, depending on the provision, the amount of the exempt surplus or deficit, taxable surplus or deficit and underlying foreign tax of a foreign affiliate (and, in general, of each other foreign affiliate in which the affiliate has an equity percentage) in cases where:

- the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation in respect of the particular affiliate increases or decreases because of certain acquisitions or dispositions of shares of the particular affiliate (subsection 5905(1));
- the affiliate has been formed as a result of a foreign merger (subsection 5905(3));
- shares of the affiliate are transferred between non-arm's length Canadian corporations, including transfers occurring as a result of certain windings-up (subsection 5905(5)), or
- foreign affiliate shares become property of a merged entity as a result of an amalgamation governed by subsection 87(1) of the Act (subsection 5905(5.1)).

Subsections 5905(1), (3), (5) and (5.1) are amended, consequential to the introduction of the "hybrid surplus" concept, so that they also reset or establish, as the case may be, balances of "hybrid surplus", "hybrid deficit" and "hybrid underlying tax".

These amendments apply to relevant events that occur after August 19, 2011.

B is the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation immediately before the merger time in respect of the predecessor corporation, and

See Application note under Proposed Amendment to Reg. 5900(3) for rule (s. 53 of the draft legislation) permitting late reassessment to give effect to this amendment.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): Current subsections 5905(3) and (4) provide for the establishment of opening surplus balances of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada, and certain other corporations in which the foreign affiliate has an equity interest, where the affiliate has been formed as a result of a foreign merger.

These subsections, themselves, are being "merged" into one. The rules in current subsection 5905(4) are being moved into a new paragraph 5905(3)(b), and the functions of existing paragraph (b) will now be carried out by new paragraph (c) in combination with amended subsection 5905(1). Subsection 5905(4) is thus being repealed.

In addition, new subparagraph 5905(3)(b)(ii) ensures that appropriate adjustments are made to the surplus balances of the merged affiliate where a subsection 93(1) election has been filed in respect of the merger.

(b) in any other case, nil.

Application: The August 27, 2010 draft legislation (Part 2 — foreign affiliates), subsec. 44(4), will add subsecs. 5905(5.11) to (5.13), applicable as follows (and subject to proposed repeal below):

- subsecs. (5.11) and (5.12) applicable in respect of an amalgamation that occurs, or a winding-up that begins, after February 27, 2004, except that, if subsec. 5905(6) applies in respect of the amalgamation or winding-up, then the opening words of subsec. 5905(5.12) are to be read as follows:

  (5.12) If this subsection applies, the following rules apply for the purposes of subsections (5) and (6):

- subsec. 5905(5.13) applicable to windings-up that begin, and amalgamations that occur, after February 27, 2004.

See Application note under Proposed Amendment to Reg. 5900(3) for rule (s. 53 of the draft legislation) permitting late reassessment to give effect to this amendment.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): Subsections 5905(5.11) and (5.12) are new rules that will apply for the purposes of existing subsections 5905(5) and (6), or new subsections 5905(5) and (5.1), where a corporation resident in Canada has claimed a so-called "bump" under paragraph 88(1)(d) of the Act in respect of a transfer, upon a winding-up governed by subsection 88(1) of the Act, of shares of a foreign affiliate or an interest in a partnership that holds shares of a foreign affiliate. By virtue of subsection 87(11), these bump rules can also apply in the context of certain amalgamations.

Where the conditions of subsection 5905(5.11) are met, subsection 5905(5.12) will restate the surplus balances of a relevant affiliate to reflect only the surplus it had, immediately before the wind-up or amalgamation, in respect of the parent corporation or new corporation, as the case may be. Any surplus accrued in respect of the subsidiary corporation, as defined in subsection 5905(5.11), will be eliminated.

These new subsections will apply in respect of an amalgamation that occurs, or a winding-up that begins, after February 27, 2004, except where the acquisition of control that precedes the amalgamation or winding-up occurs after December 18, 2009.

Subsection 5905(5.13) prescribes an amount for the purpose of new clause 88(1)(d)(i)(C)(B) of the Act. The rules in this subsection, combined with that clause, have the effect of limiting the amount of "bump" a taxpayer may claim in respect of shares of a foreign affiliate, or interests in a partnership that holds such shares, where the shares or interests, as the case may be, are transferred from a subsidiary corporation to its parent upon a winding-up governed by subsection 88(1) of the Act. By virtue of subsection 87(11), these bump limitation rules can also apply in the context of certain amalgamations.

The limitation under subsection 5905(5.13) is generally determined by reference to any dividends paid by the subsidiary to the parent, after the acquisition of control of the subsidiary by the parent, that are deductible under either paragraph 113(1)(a) or (b) of the Act and that do not relate to exempt or taxable surplus that arose after the parent last acquired control of the subsidiary.

This subsection applies to windings-up that begin, and amalgamations that occur, after February 27, 2004. However, it is important to note that where the acquisition of control that precedes the winding-up (or amalgamation) occurs after December 18, 2009, new subsection 5905(5.4) will apply instead of subsection 5905(5.13).

Proposed Repeal — Reg. 5905(5.11)–(5.13)

Application: The August 27, 2010 draft legislation (Part 2 — foreign affiliates), subsec. 44(5), will repeal subsecs. 5905(5.11) to (5.13), applicable in respect of acquisitions of control that occur after December 18, 2009.

See Application note under Proposed Amendment to Reg. 5900(3) for rule (s. 53 of the draft legislation) permitting late reassessment to give effect to this amendment.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): See under Reg. 5905(5.11), (5.13) [temporary] above.

Proposed Addition — Reg. 5905(5.2)–(5.6) [to be further amended, below]

(5.2) [Change in control of parent] — Where, at a particular time, control of a corporation resident in Canada has been acquired by a person or a group of persons and, at the particular time, the corporation owns shares of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation, there shall be included — under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1) in computing the affiliate's exempt surplus or exempt deficit, as the case may be, in respect of the corporation at the time that is immediately before the particular time — the amount, if any, determined by the formula

where

A is the amount determined by the formula

$$E \times F$$

where

E is the tax-free surplus balance of the affiliate in respect of the corporation, determined at the time (referred to in this subsection as the "relevant time") that is immediately before the time that is immediately before the particular time, and

F is the corporation's surplus entitlement percentage in respect of the affiliate determined at the relevant time;

B is the total of all amounts each of which is the corporation's cost amount, determined at the particular time, of a share of the capital stock of the affiliate that is owned by the corporation at the particular time;

C is the total of

(a) the fair market value, determined at the particular time, of all of the shares of the capital stock of the affiliate that are owned by the corporation at the particular time, and

(b) the amount, if any, determined under paragraph 5908(6)(b); and

D is the corporation's surplus entitlement percentage in respect of the affiliate determined at the relevant time.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): New subsection 5905(5.2) applies to foreign affiliates of a corporation resident in Canada that undergoes an acquisition of control. This rule is similar in concept to paragraph 111(4)(e) of the Act, which applies to reduce the adjusted cost base of certain capital property of a Canadian corporation to the extent it exceeds the fair market value of the property immediately before an acquisition of control. This new rule is, in part, consequential to the Budget 2007 Act changes, more specifically the new definition "designated acquired corporation" in subsection 95(1) of the Act.

New subsection 5905(5.2) applies to shares of foreign affiliates held directly by a Canadian resident corporation and, by virtue of the application of new subsections 5908(1) and (6), to foreign affiliate shares held by a partnership of which such a corporation is a member. The general effect of the rule is to reduce the exempt surplus balance of the top foreign affiliate, i.e. the one held directly by the Canadian resident corporation or the partnership, as the case may be, to the extent the aggregate of the "tax-free surplus balance" of the affiliate and the adjusted cost base of the shares exceeds the fair market value of the shares at the time of acquisition of control. "Tax-free surplus balance" is a new term that derives its meaning from new subsections 5905(5.5) and (5.6). It is a measure of the "good" surplus inherent in the top affiliate and any affiliates in which the top affiliate has a direct or indirect interest. "Good" surplus is, generally, the aggregate of exempt surplus and the grossed up amount of underlying foreign tax (i.e. taxes paid in respect of taxable surplus).

Because of the potential overlap between new subsection 5905(5.2) and subsection 111(4), a special ordering rule is provided in subsection 5905(5.3) to ensure that the adjusted cost base of the shares referred to in variable B of subsection 5905(5.2) is determined after taking into account any adjustments under subsection 111(4) of the Act.

These new subsections will apply in respect of acquisitions of control that occur after December 18, 2009, although "grandfathering" is provided for certain agreements in writing.

Assumptions:

1. Can Target, a corporation resident in Canada, is a widely-held public company.

2. Can Target owns all 100 shares of FA1.

3. FA1 owns all of the shares of FA2.

4. Can Acquisition is an arm's length corporation resident in Canada.

5. On May 1st, 2010, Can Acquisition acquires all of the shares of Can Target for $2,000.

6. At the time of acquisition, the shares of FA1 have an adjusted cost base of $300 and a fair market value of $1,200.

7. At the time of acquisition, FA1 and FA2 each have an exempt surplus balance vis-à-vis Can Target of $700.

Analysis:

Since there has been an acquisition of control of Can Target and it owns shares of a foreign affiliate, new subsection 5905(5.2) must be considered.

In this example, variable A in the formula is equal to FA1's "tax-free surplus balance" in respect of Can Target (because Can Target's surplus entitlement percentage in respect of FA1 is 100%). Tax-free surplus balance is defined in subsection 5905(5.5), but it is also important to refer to new subsection 5905(5.6) and subparagraph 5902(1)(d)(ii). In this case, having regard to the latter provisions, FA1's tax-free surplus balance is the aggregate of FA1's and FA2's exempt surplus balances in respect of Can Target, or $1,400.

Variable B is simply Can Target's cost amount, or adjusted cost base, of the FA1 shares, or $300.

In this example, because there is no partnership in the ownership structure, variable C is simply the aggregate fair market value of the FA1 shares, or $1,200.

Variable D is 100%, as noted above.

Thus, because A + B exceeds C, or in words, the total of the tax-free surplus balance and the adjusted cost base of the shares exceeds the fair market value of the shares, a reduction will be required to FA1's exempt surplus balance vis-à-vis Can Target. The amount of the reduction is $500 ((1,400 + 300 - 1,200)/100%).

Assumptions:

Same as Example 1 except that Can Target's shares of FA1 are held through a partnership of which Can Target owns 90% of the member interests, and the partnership's adjusted cost base of the FA1 shares is $300. Also, it is assumed that FA1 has never paid a dividend.

Analysis:

Since new subsection 5908(1) applies for the purposes of section 5905, Can Target will, for the purposes of subsection 5905(5.2), be considered to own 90 shares of FA1.

In this example, variable A in the formula is $1,400 × 90% (Can Target's surplus entitlement percentage in respect of FA1), or $1,260.

For variable B, pursuant to paragraph 5908(6)(a), Can Target's cost amount of the shares of FA1 is $270 (300 × 90/100).

For variable C, as FA1 has never paid a dividend, paragraph 5908(6)(b) has no application and C is simply the fair market value of the 90 shares deemed owned, which is $1,200 × 90/100, or $1,080.

As Can Target is deemed to own only 90 shares in this example, variable D is 90%.

In this example, the reduction to FA1's exempt surplus is also $500 ((1,260 + 270 − 1,080)/90%), but Can Target, effectively, only has a reduction of 90% of that $500.

(5.3) [Ordering — interaction with ITA 111(4)] — The cost amount of a share that is referred to in the description of B in subsection (5.2) shall be determined after taking into account the application of subsection 111(4) of the Act.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): See under Reg. 5902(5.2) above.

(5.4) [Prescribed amount for bump] — For the purposes of clause (B) of subparagraph 88(1)(d)(ii) of the Act, the prescribed amount is

(a) if the property described in that subparagraph is a share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the subsidiary, the amount determined by the formula

where

A is the tax-free surplus balance of the affiliate, in respect of the subsidiary, determined at the time at which the parent last acquired control of the subsidiary, and

B is the percentage that would be the subsidiary's surplus entitlement percentage, determined at that time, in respect of the affiliate if at that time the subsidiary had owned no shares of the capital stock of the affiliate other than the share;

(b) if the property described in that subparagraph is an interest in a partnership, the amount determined by subsection 5908(7); and

(c) in any other case, nil.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): Subsection 5905(5.4) prescribes an amount for the purpose of new clause 88(1)(d)(ii)(B) of the Act. The rules in this subsection, combined with that clause, have the effect of limiting the amount of "bump" a taxpayer may claim in respect of shares of a foreign affiliate, or interests in a partnership that holds such shares, where the shares or interests, as the case may be, are transferred from a subsidiary corporation to its parent upon a winding-up governed by subsection 88(1) of the Act. By virtue of subsection 87(11), these bump limitation rules can also apply in the context of certain amalgamations.

Subsection 5905(5.4) is different in design than the rule in subsection 5905(5.13) that it replaces. Subsection 5905(5.4) looks to the attributes of the foreign affiliate at the time of acquisition of control rather than at the time of the winding-up or amalgamation. By adding an additional limitation amount reflecting the "tax-free surplus balance" of the affiliate, subsection 5905(5.4) makes it such that a paragraph 88(1)(d) bump will only be available to the extent the fair market value of the affiliate's shares at the time of acquisition of control exceeds the aggregate of the adjusted cost base of the shares and the "good" surplus of the affiliate. Subsection 5905(5.4) thus has some similar elements to new subsection 5905(5.2). In fact, where subsection 5905(5.2) has applied to a foreign affiliate upon an acquisition of control, it should be the case that no bump would be available in respect of the shares of the affiliate.

Subsection 5905(5.4) applies to a share of a foreign affiliate held directly by a Canadian resident corporation and to such a corporation's interest in a partnership that holds such shares. In the case of a partnership interest, regard must also be had to new subsection 5908(7).

This new subsection applies in respect of acquisitions of control that occur after December 18, 2009, although "grandfathering" is provided for certain agreements in writing.

The following examples illustrate the intended operation of new subsection 5905(5.4).

Example 1

Assumptions:

Assume the same facts as for Example 1 under subsection 5905(5.2) above except also assume that Can Target is, immediately after the takeover, wound-up into Can Acquisition.

Analysis:

Paragraph 5905(5.4)(a) is the relevant paragraph in this example.

In this example, variable A in the formula is equal to FA1's tax-free surplus balance in respect of Can Target determined at the time of acquisition of control. As the adjustment to FA1's exempt surplus balance under subsection 5905(5.2) occurs immediately before the acquisition of control, variable A would be $1,400 less the $500 reduction under subsection 5905(5.2), or $900.

Variable B is 1% for each share of FA1 (all 100 shares are owned by Can Target).

Thus, for each share of FA1 owned by Can Target an additional amount of $9 will be prescribed for purposes of the bump limitation in subparagraph 88(1)(d)(ii) of the Act. The result under that subparagraph is that no bump is available for any share of FA1 as there is no excess of the fair market value of $12 over the cost amount of each share ($3) plus the prescribed amount ($9).

Example 2

Assumptions:

1. Can Target, a corporation resident in Canada, is a widely-held public company.

2. Can Target owns an 80% interest (based on relative fair market values) in partnership P1.

3. P1 owns 100 common shares of FA1. (The common shares are the only issued shares of FA1.)

4. Can Acquisition is an arm's length corporation resident in Canada.

5. On May 1st, 2010, Can Acquisition acquires all of the shares of Can Target for $3,000.

6. At the time of acquisition, the fair market value of Can Target's interest in P1 is $2,000.

7. Can Target's cost amount of its interest in P1 is $80.

8. At the time of acquisition, FA1 has exempt surplus vis-à-vis Can Target of $1,000.

Analysis:

Paragraph 5905(5.4)(b) is the relevant paragraph in this example, and thus regard must be had to subsection 5908(7).

Variable A in subsection 5908(7) is simply $1,000 (FA1's exempt surplus is the same as its tax-free surplus balance in this case).

Under subsection 5908(1), Can Target is deemed to own 80 shares of FA1. Variable B in subsection 5908(7) is thus 80% (80/100), and the amount determined by subsection 5908(7) is $800 (1,000 × 80%).

As such, an additional amount of $800 will be prescribed under paragraph 5905(5.4)(b) for the purposes of the bump limitation in subparagraph 88(1)(d)(ii) of the Act, with the result that the bump limitation for Can Target's interest in P1 will be $1,120, being the excess of the fair market value of the interest ($2,000) over the aggregate of the cost amount of the interest ($80) and the prescribed amount ($800).

Related Provisions: Reg. 5905(5.5) — Tax-free surplus balance; Reg. 5908(7) — Calculation where corporation owns FA shares through partnership.

(5.5) [Tax-free surplus balance] — For the purposes of subsections (5.2), (5.4), (7.2) and (7.3), the "tax-free surplus balance" of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the corporation, at any time, is the total of

(a) the amount, if any, by which the affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation at that time exceeds the affiliate's taxable deficit in respect of the corporation at that time; and

(b) the lesser of

(i) the amount, if any, determined by the formula

$$A \times B$$

where

A is the affiliate's underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation at that time, and

B is the amount by which the corporation's relevant tax factor, for the corporation's taxation year that includes that time, exceeds one, and

(ii) the amount, if any, by which the affiliate's taxable surplus in respect of the corporation at that time exceeds the affiliate's exempt deficit in respect of the corporation at that time.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): New subsections 5905(5.5) and (5.6) provide the meaning of the term "tax-free surplus balance" for the purposes of new subsections 5905(5.2), (5.4) and, as discussed below, subsections 5905(7.2) and (7.3).

The "tax-free surplus balance" of a particular foreign affiliate is defined in subsection 5905(5.5) and is a measure of the "good" surplus inherent in the particular affiliate. "Good" surplus is, generally, the aggregate of exempt surplus and the grossed-up amount of underlying foreign tax (i.e. taxes paid in respect of taxable surplus).

Subsection 5905(5.6) provides that, for the purpose of subsection 5905(5.5), the surplus balances of the particular affiliate include its share of the surplus balances of any foreign affiliates in which the particular affiliate has a direct or indirect interest. This is accomplished by reference to the surplus aggregation rule in amended subparagraph 5902(1)(a)(i).

Related Provisions: ITA 88(1.8), (1.9) — Amended designation re tax-free surplus balance; Reg. 5905(5.6) — Interpretation.

(5.6) [Tax-free surplus balance — interpretation] — For the purposes of subsection (5.5), the amounts of exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, and underlying foreign tax of a foreign affiliate of corporation resident in Canada, in respect of the corporation, at a particular time are those amounts that would be determined, at the particular time, under subparagraph 5902(1)(a)(i) if that subparagraph were applicable at the particular time and the references in that subparagraph to "the dividend time" were references to the particular time.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): See under Reg. 5905(5.5) above.

Application: The August 27, 2010 draft legislation (Part 2 — foreign affiliates), subsec. 44(6), will add subsecs. 5905(5.2) to (5.6), applicable as follows:

- subsecs. (5.2) to (5.4) applicable in respect of acquisitions of control that occur after December 18, 2009, except where the acquisition of control results from an acquisition of shares made under an agreement in writing entered into before December 18, 2009;
- subsecs. (5.5) and (5.6) applicable after December 18, 2009.

See Application note under Proposed Amendment to Reg. 5900(3) for rule (s. 53 of the draft legislation) permitting late reassessment to give effect to this amendment.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5905(5.5)(a), (a.1)

(a) the amount, if any, by which the affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation at that time exceeds the total of

(i) the affiliate's hybrid deficit, if any, in respect of the corporation at that time, and

(ii) the affiliate's taxable deficit, if any, in respect of the corporation at that time;

(a.1) the amount, if any, by which the amount of the affiliate's hybrid surplus in respect of the corporation at that time exceeds the amount determined under subsection (5.7) in respect of the corporation at that time if, at that time, the amount of that hybrid surplus is less than or equal to the amount determined by the formula

$$[A \times (B - 0.5)] + (C \times 0.5)$$

where

A is the affiliate's hybrid underlying tax in respect of the corporation at that time,

B is the corporation's relevant tax factor (within the meaning assigned by subsection 95(1) of the Act) for the corporation's taxation year that includes that time, and

C is the affiliate's hybrid surplus in respect of the corporation at that time; and

Application: The August 19, 2011 draft legislation (foreign affiliates), subsec. 29(12), will amend para. 5905(5.5)(a) (the version in the August 27, 2010 draft legislation; see Proposed Amendment above) to read as above, and add para. (a.1), applicable after August 19, 2011.

See also Application under ITA s. 90 re extended reassessment deadline.

Technical Notes: Current subsections 5905(5.5) and (5.6) provide the meaning of the term "tax-free surplus balance" ("TFSB") for the purposes of subsections 5905(5.2), (5.4), (7.2) and (7.3). As discussed above, this definition is also relevant for amended paragraph 55(5)(d) of the Act except that subsection 5905(5.6) does not apply for that purpose.

The TFSB of a foreign affiliate is a measure of the "good" surplus inherent in the affiliate. "Good" surplus is, generally, the aggregate of exempt surplus and the grossed-up amount of underlying foreign tax (i.e. taxes paid in respect of taxable surplus).

These rules are being amended to incorporate references to the relevant "hybrid surplus" concepts through, among other things, the addition of new paragraph 5905(5.5)(a.1) and new subsection 5905(5.7). (The latter subsection, as well as amendments to subparagraph 5905(5.5)(b)(iii), deal with deficit offsets.) Although hybrid surplus has many similarities to taxable surplus, there is no ability to make a disproportionate hybrid underlying tax ("HUT") election. As such, it is not appropriate to consider the grossed-up value of all HUT to represent tax-free surplus and, therefore, hybrid surplus balances are only included in the TFSB definition if they would be 100% deductible.

The amendments to subsections 5905(5.5) and (5.6) and the addition of subsection 5905(5.7) apply after August 19, 2011.

Example

Assumptions

1. Canco, a corporation resident in Canada, owns 100% of the shares of FA, a non-resident corporation.

2. FA does not have an interest in any other foreign affiliate of Canco.

3. Canco undergoes an acquisition of control on January 1, 2012.

4. On December 31st, 2011, FA's surplus and deficit balances in respect of Canco are as follows:

	Case A	Case B
Exempt surplus	—	$ 200
Hybrid surplus	$ 900	850
Hybrid underlying tax	100	150
Taxable deficit	—	(300)

5. Canco's tax rate is 25%.

Analysis

Under subsection 5905(5.2), Canco could, as a result of the acquisition of control, suffer a reduction of FA's surplus balances depending on the quantum of FA's "tax-free surplus balance" ("TFSB") and the adjusted cost base and fair market value of Canco's shares of FA. This example deals only with the computation of TFSB.

In Case A, Canco's "relevant tax factor", as defined in subsection 95(1), is 1/0.25 = 4. Thus, the amount determined by the formula in paragraph 5905(5.5)(a.1) is $800 (($100 × 3.5) + ($900 × 0.5)). Since this amount is less than FA's hybrid surplus balance, no portion of that $900 hybrid surplus balance is included in TFSB. This is consistent with the fact that FA's 10% tax rate on its hybrid surplus is lower than Canco's effective tax rate of 12.5% in respect of capital gains.

In Case B, the amount determined by the formula in paragraph 5905(5.5)(a.1) is $950 (($150 × 3.5) + ($850 × 0.5)). Since this amount is greater than FA's $850 hybrid surplus balance, the amount of hybrid surplus to be included in TFSB under paragraph 5905(5.5)(a.1) is FA's hybrid surplus balance of $850 less the amount determined under subsection 5905(5.7). In Case B, the amount determined under subsection 5905(5.7) is $100, being the amount by which FA's taxable deficit exceeds FA's exempt surplus. FA's TFSB is thus $750. The inclusion of FA's hybrid surplus in this case is consistent with the fact that FA's 15% tax rate on its hybrid surplus is greater than Canco's effective tax rate of 12.5% in respect of capital gains.

(B) if the affiliate has an exempt deficit and no hybrid deficit, in respect of the corporation at that time, the amount, if any, by which the exempt deficit exceeds the affiliate's hybrid surplus in respect of the corporation at that time, and

(C) if the affiliate has a hybrid deficit and no exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation at that time, the amount, if any, by which the hybrid deficit exceeds the affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation at that time.

Application: The August 19, 2011 draft legislation (foreign affiliates), subsec. 29(14), will amend subsec. 5905(5.6) (the version in the August 27, 2010 draft legislation; see Proposed Amendment above) to read as above, applicable after August 19, 2011.

(5.7) [Amount for 5905(5.5)(a.1)] — For the purposes of paragraph (5.5)(a.1), the amount determined under this subsection in respect of the corporation at any time is

(a) if the affiliate has an exempt deficit and a taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation at that time, the total of the exempt deficit and the taxable deficit;

(b) if the affiliate has an exempt deficit and no taxable deficit, in respect of the corporation at that time, the amount of the exempt deficit; and

(c) if the affiliate has a taxable deficit and no exempt deficit, in respect of the corporation at that time, the amount, if any, by which the taxable deficit exceeds the affiliate's exempt surplus in respect of the corporation at that time.

Application: The August 19, 2011 draft legislation (foreign affiliates), subsec. 29(14), will add subsec. 5905(5.7), applicable after August 19, 2011.

See also Application under ITA s. 90 re extended reassessment deadline.

Technical Notes: See under proposed Reg. 5905(5.5)(a), (a.1) above.

(6) [Rules for 5905(5)] — For the purposes of subsection (5), the following rules apply:

(a) where paragraph (5)(a) is applicable and the predecessor corporation is, by virtue of an election made under subsection 93(1) of the Act, deemed to have received a dividend on one or more of the shares of the particular affiliate disposed of in the transaction, for the purposes of the adjustment required by paragraph (b),

(i) immediately before the time of the transaction there shall be included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1) in computing the particular affiliate's exempt surplus or exempt deficit, as the case may be, in respect of the predecessor corporation an amount equal to the quotient obtained when

(A) such portion of the dividend as is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(a) to have been paid out of the exempt surplus of the particular affiliate

is divided by

(B) the surplus entitlement percentage of the predecessor corporation in respect of the particular affiliate immediately before the disposition, determined on the assumption that the shares disposed of by the predecessor corporation were the only shares owned by it immediately before the time of the transaction,

(ii) immediately before the time of the transaction there shall be included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1) in computing the particular affiliate's taxable surplus or taxable deficit, as the case may be, in respect of the predecessor corporation an amount equal to the quotient obtained when

(A) such portion of the dividend as is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(b) to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the particular affiliate

is divided by

(B) the surplus entitlement percentage referred to in clause (i)(B), and

(iii) immediately before the time of the transaction there shall be deducted from the amount, if any, otherwise determined to be the underlying foreign tax of the particular affiliate in respect of the predecessor corporation an amount equal to the quotient obtained when

(A) the amount prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(d) to be the foreign tax applicable to such portion of the dividend as is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(b) to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the particular affiliate

is divided by

(B) the surplus entitlement percentage referred to in clause (i)(B); and

(b) the exempt surplus, exempt deficit, taxable surplus, taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax of an affiliate in respect of a predecessor corporation (within the meaning assigned by subsection (5)) and the acquiring corporation (within the meaning assigned by subsection (5)) shall be deemed to be the proportion of the amount thereof otherwise determined that

(i) the surplus entitlement percentage immediately before the time of the latest of the transactions referred to in paragraph (5)(a), (b) or (c) of the predecessor corporation or the acquiring corporation, as the case may be, in respect of the affiliate, determined on the assumption

(A) that the taxation year of the affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time, and

(B) where the transaction is one referred to in paragraph (5)(a), that the shares referred to therein were the only shares owned by the predecessor corporation immediately before that time,

is of

(ii) the surplus entitlement percentage immediately after the time of the latest of the transactions referred to in paragraph (5)(a), (b) or (c) of the acquiring corporation in respect of the affiliate, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately after that time.

Proposed Repeal — Reg. 5905(6)

Application: The August 27, 2010 draft legislation (Part 2 — foreign affiliates), subsec. 44(7), will repeal subsec. 5905(6), applicable in respect of dispositions and amalgamations that occur, and windings-up that begin, after December 18, 2009.

See Application note under Proposed Amendment to Reg. 5900(3) for rule (s. 53 of the draft legislation) permitting late reassessment to give effect to this amendment.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): See under Reg. 5902(1) and 5905(5).

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5905(6) [transitional]

Application: See ss. 51 and 52 of the August 27, 2010 draft legislation, reproduced under Reg. 5905(1) Proposed Amendment [transitional] above (specifically subpara. 51(e)(iv)), for how Reg. 5905(6) is to be read in respect of dispositions in respect of which a designated section 93 election is made to use the consolidated net surplus rules that were proposed from 2002-09.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): See under Reg. 5902(1) [transitional].

Related Provisions: Reg. 5905(16) — Exempt deficit allocation; Reg. 5905(19) — Taxable deficit allocation.

History: The opening words of subparas. 5905(6)(a)(i), (ii) amended by P.C. 1997-1670, subsecs. 7(5), (6), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the subparas. as amended apply to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

For earlier history, see at end of s. 5905.

(7) [Liquidation or dissolution of FA] — Where at any time there has been a dissolution of a foreign affiliate (in this subsection referred to as the "dissolved affiliate") of a corporation resident in Canada and paragraph 95(2)(e.1) of the Act is applicable in respect of the dissolution, each other foreign affiliate of the corporation that had a direct equity percentage in the dissolved affiliate immediately before that time shall, for the purposes of computing its exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit and underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation, be deemed to have received dividends immediately before that time the aggregate of which is equal to the amount it might reasonably have expected to receive if the dissolved affiliate had, immediately before that time, paid dividends the aggregate of which on all shares of its capital stock was equal to the amount of its net surplus in respect of the corporation immediately before that time, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the dissolved affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5905(7)

(7) [Liquidation and dissolution of FA] — If at any time there has been a liquidation and dissolution of a foreign affiliate (referred to in this subsection as the "dissolved affiliate") of a corporation resident in Canada that is a designated liquidation and dissolution (within the meaning assigned by subsection 95(1) of the Act) of the dissolved affiliate, each other foreign affiliate of the corporation that had a direct equity percentage (within the meaning assigned by subsection 95(4) of the Act) in the dissolved affiliate immediately before that time is, for the purposes of computing its exempt surplus or exempt deficit, hybrid surplus or hybrid deficit, hybrid underlying tax, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, and underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation, deemed to have received dividends immediately before that time the total of which is equal to the amount it might reasonably have expected to receive if the dissolved affiliate had, immediately before that time, paid dividends on all shares of its capital stock the total of which was equal to the amount of its net surplus in respect of the corporation immediately before that time, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the dissolved affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time.

Application: The August 19, 2011 draft legislation (foreign affiliates), subsec. 29(15), will amend subsec. 5905(7) to read as above, applicable in respect of liquidations and dissolutions of foreign affiliates of a taxpayer that begin after August 19, 2011; however, if the taxpayer has elected under subsec. 16(28) of this draft legislation [see Application annotation to proposed ITA 95(1)"designated liquidation and dissolution"],

(a) the amendment applies in respect of all liquidations and dissolutions of foreign affiliates of the taxpayer that begin after December 20, 2002; and

(b) subsec. 5905(7) is, in respect of all such liquidations and dissolutions that begin on or before August 19, 2011, to be read as follows:

(7) If at any time there has been a liquidation and dissolution of a foreign affiliate (referred to in this subsection as the "dissolved affiliate") of a corporation resident in Canada that is a designated liquidation and dissolution (within the meaning assigned by subsection 95(1) of the Act) of the dissolved affiliate, each other foreign affiliate of the corporation that had a direct equity percentage (within the meaning assigned by subsection 95(4) of the Act) in the dissolved affiliate immediately before that time is, for the purposes of computing its exempt surplus or exempt deficit, taxable surplus or taxable deficit, and underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation, deemed to have received dividends immediately before that time the total of which is equal to the amount it might reasonably have expected to receive if the dissolved affiliate had, immediately before that time, paid dividends on all shares of its capital stock the total of which was equal to the amount of its net surplus in respect of the corporation immediately before that time, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the dissolved affiliate that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time.

See also Application under ITA s. 90 re extended reassessment deadline.

Technical Notes: Subsection 5905(7) applies where a foreign affiliate is liquidated into another foreign affiliate and paragraph 95(2)(e.1) of the Act is applicable. Essentially, subsection 5905(7) provides for the transfer of the liquidating affiliate's positive surplus balances into the shareholders of the liquidating affiliate.

As noted above, paragraph 95(2)(e.1) of the Act is being repealed and in its place paragraph 95(2)(e) of the Act is being amended to provide rules in respect of a liquidation and dissolution that is a "designated liquidation and dissolution", as newly defined in subsection 95(1) of the Act. Accordingly, subsection 5905(7) is amended to reflect the restructuring of those paragraphs.

Subsection 5905(7) is also being amended to reflect the introduction of the "hybrid surplus" concept.

These amendments apply in respect of liquidations and dissolutions that begin after August 19, 2011. However, they will have earlier application if the taxpayer elects retroactive treatment of the amendments to paragraphs 95(2)(e) and (e.1). In such cases, a transitional reading of subsection 5905(7) is provided in order to remove the references to the hybrid surplus concept.

Proposed Addition — Reg. 5905(7.1)–(7.7)

(7.1) [Conditions for subsec. (7.2)] — Subsection (7.2) applies if

(a) a foreign affiliate (referred to in this subsection and subsections (7.2) to (7.6) as the "deficit affiliate") of a corporation resident in Canada has an exempt deficit at any time (referred to in this subsection and subsections (7.2) to (7.6) as the "acquisition time") in respect of the corporation; and

(b) at the acquisition time, shares of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate (referred to in this subsection and subsections (7.2) to (7.6) as an "acquired affiliate") of the corporation in which the deficit affiliate has an equity percentage (within the meaning assigned by subsection 95(4) of the Act) are acquired by, or otherwise become property of,

(i) the corporation, or

(ii) another foreign affiliate of the corporation, in the case where the percentage that would, if the deficit affiliate were resident in Canada, be the deficit affiliate's surplus entitlement percentage in respect of the acquired affiliate immediately after the acquisition time is less than the percentage that would, if the deficit affiliate were so resident, be its surplus entitlement percentage in respect of the acquired affiliate immediately before the acquisition time.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5908(2) — Deemed disposition on change in FA shares owned through partnership.

(7.2) [Blocking deficit — anti-avoidance] — If this subsection applies, there is to be included

(a) under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1) in computing an acquired affiliate's exempt surplus or exempt deficit in respect of the corporation at the time (referred to in subsections (7.6) and 5908(11) as the "adjustment time") that is immediately before the time that is immediately before the time that is immediately before the acquisition time, the amount, if any, equal to the lesser of

(i) the amount determined by the formula

where

A is the deficit affiliate's exempt deficit in respect of the corporation at the acquisition time, and

B is the percentage that would, if the deficit affiliate were resident in Canada, be the deficit affiliate's surplus entitlement percentage in respect of the acquired affiliate immediately before the acquisition time, and

(ii) the lesser of

(A) the acquired affiliate's tax-free surplus balance in respect of the corporation immediately before the adjustment time, and

(B) either

(I) where there is more than one acquired affiliate, the amount designated by the corporation, in its return of income for the taxation year in which the taxation year of the acquired affiliate that includes the acquisition time ends, in respect of the acquired affiliate, or

(II) in any other case, the amount determined under clause (A); and

(b) under subparagraph (vi.1) of the description of A in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1) in computing the deficit affiliate's exempt deficit in respect of the corporation at the time that is immediately after the acquisition time, the total of all amounts each of which is the amount determined in respect of an acquired affiliate by the formula

where

C is the amount determined under paragraph (a) in respect of the acquired affiliate, and

D is the percentage that would, if the deficit affiliate were resident in Canada, be the deficit affiliate's surplus entitlement percentage immediately before the acquisition time in respect of the acquired affiliate.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5905(5.5) — Tax-free surplus balance; Reg. 5905(7.1) - Conditions for subsec. (7.2) to apply; Reg. 5905(7.4) — Amount deemed designated for (a)(ii)(B)(I); Reg. 5908(11) — Adjustments.

(7.3) [Conditions for subsec. (7.4)] — Subsection (7.4) applies if

(a) the lesser of

(i) the deficit affiliate's exempt deficit in respect of the corporation immediately before the acquisition time, and

(ii) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount, if any, that is the product of

(A) the tax-free surplus balance immediately before the acquisition time in respect of the corporation of an acquired affiliate, and

(B) the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation in respect of that acquired affiliate immediately before the acquisition time

exceeds

(b) the total of all amounts each of which is the amount, if any, that is the product of

(i) the amount, if any, actually designated under subclause (7.2)(a)(ii)(B)(I) in respect of an acquired affiliate, and

(ii) the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation in respect of that acquired affiliate immediately before the acquisition time.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5905(5.5) — Tax-free surplus balance.

(7.4) [Blocking deficit — limit on designation] — If this subsection applies, the amount designated by the corporation in respect of a particular acquired affiliate is deemed, for the purposes of subclause (7.2)(a)(ii)(B)(I),

(a) to be the amount determined by the Minister in respect of that particular acquired affiliate; and

(b) not to be the amount, if any, actually designated under subclause (7.2)(a)(ii)(B)(I).

Related Provisions: Reg. 5905(7.3) — Conditions for subsec. (7.4) to apply.

(7.5) [Conditions for subsec. (7.6)] — Subsection (7.6) applies if

(a) subsection (7.2) applies in respect of the acquired affiliate;

(b) the deficit affiliate, or any other foreign affiliate of the corporation in which the deficit affiliate has, immediately before the acquisition time, an equity percentage (which percentage has, for the purposes of this subsection, the meaning assigned by subsection 95(4) of the Act and which deficit affiliate or other affiliate is referred to in subsections (7.6) and 5908(12) as the "direct holder"), has, immediately before the acquisition time, a direct equity percentage (within the meaning assigned by that subsection 95(4)) in any other foreign affiliate (referred to in paragraph (c) and subsections (7.6) and 5908(12) as the "subject affiliate") of the corporation; and

(c) the subject affiliate is the acquired affiliate or has, immediately before the acquisition time, an equity percentage in the acquired affiliate.

(7.6) [Increase to ACB of shares of lower-tier affiliates] — Subject to paragraph 5908(11)(c), for the purposes of paragraph 92(1.1)(a) of the Act, if this subsection applies, there shall be added, in computing on or after the adjustment time the direct holder's adjusted cost base of a share of the capital stock of the subject affiliate, the amount determined by the formula

where

A is the amount determined under paragraph (7.2)(a) in respect of the acquired affiliate; and

B is the percentage that would, if the direct holder were resident in Canada, be the direct holder's surplus entitlement percentage in respect of the acquired affiliate immediately before the acquisition time if the direct holder owned only the share.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5905(7.5) — Conditions for subsec. (7.6) to apply.

(7.7) [Prescribed amount for ITA 93(3)(c)] — For the purposes of paragraph 93(3)(c) of the Act, if an amount (referred to in this subsection and subsection 5908(12) as the "adjustment amount") is required by subsection 92(1.1) of the Act to be added in computing the adjusted cost base of a share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada,

(a) where paragraph 92(1.1)(a) of the Act applies, the prescribed amount is the adjustment amount; and

(b) where paragraph 92(1.1)(b) of the Act applies, the prescribed amount is the amount determined under subsection 5908(12).

Application: The August 27, 2010 draft legislation (Part 2 — foreign affiliates), subsec. 44(8), will add subsecs. 5905(7.1) to (7.7), applicable where a share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of a corporation is acquired by, or otherwise becomes property of, a person after December 18, 2009.

See Application note under Proposed Amendment to Reg. 5900(3) for rule (s. 53 of the draft legislation) permitting late reassessment to give effect to this amendment.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): The foreign affiliate regime has, from the outset, been designed to make it such that deficits in upper-tier affiliates (so-called "blocking deficits") would need to be filled in with surpluses from lower-tier affiliates before an upper-tier affiliate can distribute tax deductible dividends to its Canadian corporate shareholders. This design feature has been relied upon in a long-established policy under which, in the context of the adjustments to surplus balances that result from a subsection 93(1) election, only the balances of the top-tier affiliate are adjusted -- a significant compliance-saving measure. This same design feature is being relied upon in the design of new subsection 5905(5.2) where, again, the surplus adjustments happen only at the level of the top-tier affiliate. Subsections 5905(7.1) to (7.7) introduce new rules to deal with transactions that have the effect of circumventing blocking deficits.

Subsection 5905(7.2) is the main operative rule in this series of rules (referred to in these notes as the "fill-the-hole" rule). By virtue of subsection 5905(7.1), subsection 5905(7.2) will apply where a foreign affiliate, i.e. an upper-tier affiliate, of a corporation resident in Canada has an exempt deficit and any shares of a lower-tier affiliate, i.e. one that is lower in the chain than the upper-tier affiliate, are acquired by the corporation or another foreign affiliate in circumstances where the upper-tier affiliate's interest in the lower-tier affiliate is diluted. It is intended that the conditions in subsection 5905(7.1) capture acquisitions of shares of a lower-tier affiliate upon the winding-up of an upper-tier affiliate, as well as dispositions, and issuances, of shares of lower-tier affiliates.

Where the conditions of subsection 5905(7.1) are met, subsection 5905(7.2) applies to achieve a result comparable with the result that would have occurred had a dividend been paid, immediately before the targeted transactions, to the extent necessary to "fill the hole" in the deficit affiliate. This is effected by the reduction, under paragraph 5905(7.2)(a), of the exempt surplus balance of the lower-tier affiliate and the reduction, under paragraph 5905(7.2)(b), of the exempt deficit balance of the upper-tier affiliate.

The amount of these reductions is, essentially, the lesser of the "tax-free surplus balance" of the lower-tier affiliate and the exempt deficit of the upper-tier affiliate. "Tax free surplus balance" is the same concept that is used for new subsections 5905(5.2) and (5.4) and its meaning is derived by reference to new subsections 5905(5.5) and (5.6).

A special rule in subclause 5905(7.2)(a)(ii)(B)(I) deals with cases where there is more than one lower-tier affiliate, for example where an upper-tier affiliate distributes shares of two or more affiliates to its shareholder in the course of a winding-up. Where this is the case, taxpayers may designate which affiliates the surplus adjustments apply to and the respective quanta thereof. However, subsections 5905(7.3) and (7.4) contain rules aimed at ensuring that the aggregate amount of designations is not less than the lesser of the upper-tier affiliate's exempt deficit and the aggregate amount of the tax-free surplus balances of the lower-tier affiliates. If a taxpayer does not designate appropriate amounts, the Minister of National Revenue will determine the amounts designated for these purposes.

In keeping with the notional dividend concept that is inherent in the fill-the-hole rule, subsections 5905(7.5) and (7.6) provide for increases to the adjusted cost base of shares of lower-tier affiliates as well as the shares of any other affiliates in between the upper-tier and lower-tier affiliates. The premise relates to the dividend analogy. If lower-tier affiliates were deemed to pay dividends and thus had their exempt surplus reduced but their assets remained unchanged, it would be reasonable to assume that the dividends were reinvested in their shares. New subsection 5908(11) provides for situations where partnerships exist between the upper and lower-tier affiliates. These rules increase the adjusted cost base of the shares of a lower-tier affiliate held by a partnership (in paragraph 5908(11)(a)) as well as the partnership interest itself (in paragraph 5908(11)(b)). There is also a rule in paragraph 5908(11)(c) that ensures that no increase is made to the adjusted cost base of any lower-tier affiliate shares that are deemed (under subsection 5908(1)) to be owned by a member of a partnership.

These new cost base adjustment rules are enabled by the amendment of paragraph 53(1)(d) of the Act and paragraph 5908(10)(a) (formerly paragraph 5907(12)(a)) and the addition of new subsection 92(1.1) of the Act.

New subsection 5905(7.7) prescribes, by reference to these cost base adjustment rules, the amounts for paragraph 93(3)(c) of the Act that are treated as "exempt dividends" for the purposes of the foreign affiliate stop-loss rules in subsections 93(2) to (2.3) of the Act.

These new subsections apply where a share of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate is acquired by, or otherwise becomes property of, a person after December 18, 2009.

The following examples illustrate the new "fill-the-hole" rule.

Example 1

Assumptions:

1. Canco, a corporation resident in Canada owns all 100 shares of FA1, a foreign affiliate of Canco.

2. FA1 owns all 100 shares of FA2, a foreign affiliate of Canco.

3. FA1 is wound-up such that all 100 shares of FA2 are distributed to Canco.

4. Immediately before the wind-up:

- FA1 has an exempt deficit of $1,000, and
- FA2 has exempt surplus of $1,000.

Analysis:

Subsection 5905(7.2) applies because:

- FA1 has an exempt deficit (which makes it the "deficit affiliate").
- shares of FA2 (the "acquired affiliate"), in which FA1 has an equity percentage, are acquired by Canco (the corporation).

Under paragraph 5905(7.2)(a), FA2's exempt surplus is reduced to nil 3 instants in time, or "nanoseconds", before the acquisition.

Under paragraph 5905(7.2)(b), FA1's exempt deficit is reduced to nil immediately after the acquisition.

As a result of subsection 5905(7.6) and paragraphs 53(1)(d) and 92(1.1)(a) of the Act, the adjusted cost base of the FA2 shares to FA1 is increased by $1,000 3 nanoseconds before the acquisition, i.e. the same time as the exempt surplus adjustment under paragraph 5905(7.2)(a).

Example 2

Assumptions:

1. Canco owns 100% of the shares of Cansub. Canco and Cansub are corporations resident in Canada.

2. Cansub owns 100% of the shares of FA Holdco (ACB $1,000).

3. FA Holdco owns 100% of the shares of FA1 (ACB $1,000) and FA6 (ACB $0).

4. FA1 owns 100 common shares (100%) of FA2 (ACB $0). FA2 has issued only common shares.

5. FA2 owns 80 common shares (80%) of FA3 (ACB $0). FA3 has issued only common shares.

6. FA3 owns 50 common shares (50%) of FA4 (ACB $300; FMV $1,200). FA4 has issued only common shares.

7. FA4 owns 100% of the shares of FA5.

8. On January 1, 2010 (the "acquisition time"), FA3 sells its 50 FA4 shares to FA6 for cash of $1,200.

9. Immediately before the acquisition time:

- FA1 has an exempt deficit balance of $1,000 and no other surplus balances;
- FA2 has no surplus balances;
- FA3 has an exempt surplus balance of $300 and no other surplus balances;
- FA4 has an exempt surplus balance of $900 and no other surplus balances; and
- FA5 has an exempt surplus balance of $1,000 and no other surplus balances.

Analysis:

Subsection 5905(7.2)

On the sale of the FA4 shares to FA6, subsection 5905(7.2) would apply since the 2 conditions of subsection 5905(7.1) are met:

- there is a foreign affiliate that has a deficit — FA1 (the "deficit affiliate"); and
- shares of a foreign affiliate (FA4) in which the deficit affiliate (FA1) has an equity percentage are acquired by another foreign affiliate (FA6) of Cansub, and FA1's deemed surplus entitlement percentage in FA4 immediately after the acquisition time is less than it was immediately before the acquisition time (0% after; 40% before).

In this example, the amount determined under subparagraph 5905(7.2)(a)(i) is $2,500, being FA1's grossed up exempt deficit ($1,000/40%).

Since there is only one acquired affiliate, the amount determined under subparagraph 5905(7.2)(a)(ii) is $1,900, being FA4's tax-free surplus balance of $1,900 (FA4's exempt surplus of $900 plus FA5's exempt surplus of $1,000).

The amount determined under paragraph 5905(7.2)(a) is $1,900 (i.e. the lesser of 2,500 and 1,900), and the exempt surplus balance of FA4 is reduced, under paragraph 5905(7.2)(a), by $1,900 (creating an exempt deficit balance of $1,000 in FA4) at the time that is immediately before the time that is immediately before the time that is immediately before the acquisition time (i.e. 3 "nanoseconds" before the acquisition time).

Under subsection 5905(7.2)(b), the exempt deficit of FA1 is, immediately after the acquisition time, reduced by $760 ($1,900 × 40%) to $240.

Subsections 5905(7.5) and (7.6)

Subsection 5905(7.6) would apply since the conditions of subsection 5905(7.5) are met: subsection 5905(7.2) applies in respect of FA4, and each of FA1 (the "deficit affiliate"), FA2 and FA3 have an equity percentage in FA4 (the acquired affiliate).

Under paragraph 5905(7.5)(b):

- FA1 is the "direct holder" with respect to the shares of FA2 (a "subject affiliate");
- FA2 is the "direct holder" with respect to the shares of FA3 (a "subject affiliate"); and
- FA3 is the "direct holder" with respect to the shares of FA4 (a "subject affiliate" and the "acquired affiliate").

Under paragraph 5905(7.6), for the purposes of paragraph 92(1.1)(a) of the Act, in computing on or after the adjustment time:

- the ACB of the FA4 common shares held by FA3, the ACB would, in the aggregate, be increased by $950 ($1,900 — the paragraph 5905(7.2)(a) amount — × 50% — FA3's deemed surplus entitlement percentage in FA4). After this increase, FA3's ACB in the shares of FA4 would be $1,250 ($300 + $950);
- the ACB of the FA3 common shares held by FA2, the ACB would, in the aggregate, be increased by $760 ($1,900 × 40% — FA2's deemed surplus entitlement percentage in FA4). After this increase, FA2's ACB in the shares of FA3 would be $760; and
- the ACB of the FA2 common shares held by FA1, the ACB would, in the aggregate, be increased by $760 ($1,900 × 40% — FA1's deemed surplus entitlement percentage in FA4). After this increase, FA1's ACB in the shares of FA2 would be $760.

Paragraph 93(3)(c)

At the time of the sale of the FA4 shares by FA3, the ACB of these shares is $1,250 and FA3's resulting capital loss would be $50. However, if the shares of FA3 are not excluded property, the otherwise determined loss of $50 would be deemed to be nil as a result of the interaction of new paragraph 93(3)(c) of the Act, subsection 93(2) of the Act, and subsection 5905(7.7).

Subsection 5905(1)

There is an increase in Cansub's surplus entitlement percentage in FA4 and FA5 as a result of the acquisition of the FA4 shares by FA6. Subsection 5905(1) would apply to reduce both FA4's exempt deficit balance (after the above paragraph 5905(7.2)(a) adjustment) and FA5's exempt surplus balance.

(8) [Where dividend due to election under ITA 93(1) or (1.2)] — Where at any time a dividend is, by virtue of an election made by a corporation under subsection 93(1) of the Act, deemed to have been received on one or more shares of a class of the capital stock of a particular foreign affiliate of the corporation disposed of to the corporation or another foreign affiliate of the corporation, the following rules apply:

(a) for the purposes of the adjustment required by paragraph (b),

(i) immediately before that time there shall be included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "exempt surplus" in subsection 5907(1) in computing the particular affiliate's exempt surplus or exempt deficit, as the case may be, in respect of the corporation an amount equal to the product obtained when the specified adjustment factor in respect of the disposition is multiplied by the total of all amounts each of which is the portion of any such dividend that is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(a) to have been paid out of the exempt surplus of the particular affiliate,

(ii) immediately before that time there shall be included under subparagraph (v) of the description of B in the definition "taxable surplus" in subsection 5907(1) in computing the particular affiliate's taxable surplus or taxable deficit, as the case may be, in respect of the corporation an amount equal to the product obtained when the specified adjustment factor in respect of the disposition is multiplied by the total of all amounts each of which is the portion of any such dividend that is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(b) to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the particular affiliate, and

(iii) immediately before that time there shall be deducted from the amount, if any, otherwise determined to be the underlying foreign tax of the particular affiliate in respect of the corporation an amount equal to the product obtained when the specified adjustment factor in respect of the disposition is multiplied by the aggregate of all amounts each of which is the amount prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(d) to be the foreign tax applicable to such portion of any such dividend as is prescribed by paragraph 5900(1)(b) to have been paid out of the taxable surplus of the particular affiliate, and, for the purposes of subparagraphs (i) to (iii), the specified adjustment factor in respect of the disposition is the amount equal to the quotient obtained when

(iv) where the person disposing of the shares is the corporation, 100 per cent, and

(v) where the person disposing of the shares is another foreign affiliate of the corporation, the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation in respect of that affiliate immediately before the disposition,

is divided by

(vi) the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation in respect of the particular foreign affiliate immediately before that disposition;

(b) the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, the taxable surplus or taxable deficit and the underlying foreign tax in respect of the corporation of the particular affiliate and of each other foreign affiliate of the corporation in which the particular affiliate has an equity percentage (in this subsection referred to as the "other affiliate") shall at that time be adjusted to the proportion of the amount thereof otherwise determined that

(i) the surplus entitlement percentage immediately before that time of the corporation in respect of the particular affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the particular affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time,

(ii) the surplus entitlement percentage immediately after that time of the corporation in respect of the particular affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the particular affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately after that time; and

(c) for the purposes of the definitions "exempt deficit", "exempt surplus", "taxable deficit", "taxable surplus" and "underlying foreign tax" in subsection 5907(1), the amounts determined under paragraph (b) are referred to as the opening exempt deficit, opening exempt surplus, opening taxable deficit, opening taxable surplus and opening underlying foreign tax, as the case may be, of the particular affiliate and each other affiliate in respect of the corporation resident in Canada.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): See under Reg. 5902(1) and 5905(1).

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5905(8) [transitional]

Application: See ss. 51 and 52 of the August 27, 2010 draft legislation, reproduced under Reg. 5905(1) Proposed Amendment [transitional] above (specifically subpara. 51(c)(v)), for how Reg. 5905(8) is to be read in respect of dispositions in respect of which a designated section 93 election is made to use the consolidated net surplus rules that were proposed from 2002-09.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): See under Reg. 5902(1) [transitional].

History: Subparas. 5905(8)(a)(i), (ii) and para. (8)(c), amended by P.C. 1997-1670, subsecs. 7(7), (8), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the subparas. and para. as amended apply to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

For earlier history, see at end of s. 5905.

(9) [Where surplus entitlement percentage decreases] — Where at any time a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada (in this subsection referred to as the "issuing affiliate") issues shares of a class of its capital stock to a person other than the corporation or another foreign affiliate of the corporation and as a result thereof the surplus entitlement percentage of the corporation in respect of the issuing affiliate decreases, for the purposes of this Part, the exempt surplus or exempt deficit, the taxable surplus or taxable deficit and the underlying foreign tax, in respect of the corporation, of the issuing affiliate and of each other foreign affiliate of the corporation in which the issuing affiliate has an equity percentage (in this subsection referred to as the "other affiliate") shall at that time be increased to the proportion of the amount thereof otherwise determined that

(a) the surplus entitlement percentage immediately before that time of the corporation in respect of the issuing affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the issuing affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately before that time,

(b) the surplus entitlement percentage immediately after that time of the corporation in respect of the issuing affiliate or other affiliate, as the case may be, determined on the assumption that the taxation year of the issuing affiliate or the other affiliate, as the case may be, that otherwise would have included that time had ended immediately after that time, and, for the purposes of the definitions "exempt deficit", "exempt surplus", "taxable deficit", "taxable surplus" and "underlying foreign tax" in subsection 5907(1), those increased amounts are referred to as the opening exempt deficit, opening exempt surplus, opening taxable deficit, opening taxable surplus and opening underlying foreign tax, as the case may be, of each of those affiliates in respect of the corporation resident in Canada.

Proposed Repeal — Reg. 5905(9)

Application: The August 27, 2010 draft legislation (Part 2 — foreign affiliates), subsec. 44(10), will repeal subsec. 5905(9), applicable in respect of issuances that occur after December 18, 2009.

See Application note under Proposed Amendment to Reg. 5900(3) for rule (s. 53 of the draft legislation) permitting late reassessment to give effect to this amendment.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): See under Reg. 5902(1) and 5905(1).

History: The closing words of 5905(9) amended by P.C. 1997-1670, subsec. 7(9), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the portion as amended applies to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

For earlier history, see at end of s. 5905.

(10) ["Surplus entitlement"] — For the purposes of this section, the surplus entitlement at any time of a share owned by a corporation resident in Canada of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation in respect of a particular foreign affiliate of the corporation is the portion of

(a) the amount that would have been received on the share if the foreign affiliate had at that time paid dividends the aggregate of which on all shares of its capital stock was equal to the amount that would be its net surplus in respect of the corporation at that time assuming that

(i) each other foreign affiliate of the corporation in which the foreign affiliate had an equity percentage had immediately before that time paid a dividend equal to its net surplus in respect of the corporation immediately before the dividend was paid, and that may reasonably be considered to relate to

(b) the amount that would be the net surplus of the particular affiliate in respect of the corporation at that time assuming that

(i) each other foreign affiliate of the corporation in which the particular affiliate had an equity percentage had immediately before that time paid a dividend equal to its net surplus in respect of the corporation immediately before the dividend was paid, and

(ii) any dividend referred to in subparagraph (i) that would be received by another foreign affiliate was received by such other foreign affiliate immediately before any such dividend that it would have paid.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5905(11) — Interpretation.

(11) [Interpretation for Reg. 5905(10)] — For the purposes of subsection (10),

(a) in determining the net surplus of, or the amount of a dividend received by, a particular foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada in which any other foreign affiliate of the taxpayer has an equity percentage, no amount shall be included in respect of any distribution that would be received by the particular affiliate from such other affiliate; and

(b) if any foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada has issued shares of more than one class of its capital stock, the amount that would be paid as a dividend on the shares of any class is such portion of its net surplus as, in the circumstances, it might reasonably be expected to have paid on all the shares of that class.

Proposed Amendment — Reg. 5905(11)

(11) [Interpretation for Reg. 5905(10)] — For the purposes of subsection (10),

(a) if a particular foreign affiliate of a corporation has an equity percentage in another foreign affiliate of the corporation that has an equity percentage in the particular affiliate, the amount that would be the net surplus of, or the amount that would be a dividend received by, the particular affiliate is to be determined in a manner that is

(i) reasonable in the circumstances, and

(ii) consistent with the results that would be obtained if a series of actual dividends had been paid and received by the foreign affiliates of the corporation that are relevant to the determination;

(b) if any foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada has issued shares of more than one class of its capital stock, the amount that would be paid as a dividend on the shares of any class is the portion of its net surplus that, in the circumstances, it might reasonably be expected to have paid on all the shares of that class; and

(c) if the particular affiliate's net surplus as determined for the purposes of that subsection would, in the absence of this paragraph, be nil the particular affiliate's net surplus for the purposes of that subsection is deemed to be the greater of

(i) the amount of the particular affiliate's retained earnings, if any, determined at the end of its last taxation year ending before the time referred to in that subsection under accounting principles that are relevant to the particular affiliate for that year, and

(ii) the amount determined by the formula

where

A is the amount of the particular affiliate's total assets determined at the end of that year under accounting principles that are relevant to the particular affiliate for that year, and

B is 25 percent.

Application: The August 19, 2011 draft legislation (foreign affiliates), subsec. 29(16), will amend subsec. 5905(11) to read as above, applicable after August 19, 2011.

See also Application under ITA s. 90 re extended reassessment deadline.

Technical Notes: Subsection 5905(11) provides interpretive rules for the purposes of the determination of "surplus entitlement" in subsection 5905(10). The "surplus entitlement" determined by subsection 5905(10) is relevant in computing the corporation's "surplus entitlement percentage", as defined in subsection 5905(13), in respect of a foreign affiliate.

Paragraph 5905(11)(a) provides an interpretive rule to deal with circular shareholdings. This rule is similar to the rules in subparagraph 5902(2)(a)(i) and paragraph 5904(3)(b) that are discussed above, and it is being similarly amended. For more details, refer to the comments under subparagraph 5902(2)(a)(i).

Subsection 5905(11) is also amended by adding paragraph (c), which sets out a rule to address situations where a foreign affiliate's net surplus is nil. This new rule measures net surplus based on the greater of the retained earnings of the relevant affiliate and 25% of its total assets. New paragraph 5905(11)(c) replaces the "postamble" of current paragraph 5905(13)(b), which is being repealed, as noted below.

(12) [Interpretation for Reg. 5905(10)] — Notwithstanding any other provision of this Part, for the purposes of determining under subsection (10) the net surplus of a foreign affiliate of a corporation resident in Canada in respect of the corporation at any time in a taxation year of the affiliate that would otherwise have included that time (in this subsection referred to as the "normal year"), the exempt earnings or loss and the taxable earnings or loss required to be included in computing the net surplus in respect of any taxation year of the affiliate that is assumed for the purposes of a provision of this section to have ended at that time shall be deemed to be that proportion of such amounts determined for the normal year that the number of days in the taxation year assumed to have ended at that time is of the number of days in the normal year.

Proposed Repeal — Reg. 5905(12)

Application: The August 19, 2011 draft legislation (foreign affiliates), subsec. 29(17), will repeal subsec. 5905(12), applicable after December 18, 2009.

See also Application under ITA s. 90 re extended reassessment deadline.

Technical Notes: Subsection 5905(12) is also an interpretive rule for the purposes of the determination of "surplus entitlement" in subsection 5905(10) and, consequently, "surplus entitlement percentage" in subsection 5905(13). It provides for a pro-ration of exempt and taxable earnings (or loss) of a foreign affiliate based on the number of days in a taxation year that is deemed to have ended under a provision of section 5905 over the number of days in the normal taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

Subsection 5905(12) is being repealed — it is no longer necessary because there are no longer any provisions in section 5905 that deem a short year for the purposes of determining "surplus entitlement percentage".

(13) ["Surplus entitlement percentage"] — For the purposes of the definition "surplus entitlement percentage" in subsection 95(1) of the Act and of this Part, the surplus entitlement percentage at any time of a corporation resident in Canada in respect of a particular foreign affiliate of the corporation is,

(a) where the particular affiliate and each corporation that is relevant to the determination of the corporation's equity percentage in the particular affiliate have only one class of issued shares at that time, the percentage that is the corporation's equity percentage in the particular affiliate at that time, and

(a) the percentage that is the corporation's equity percentage in the particular affiliate at that time if

(i) the particular affiliate and each corporation that is relevant to the determination of the corporation's equity percentage in the particular affiliate have, at that time, only one class of issued shares, and

(ii) no foreign affiliate (referred to in this subparagraph as the "upper-tier affiliate") of the corporation that is relevant to the determination of the corporation's equity percentage in the particular affiliate has, at that time, an equity percentage in a foreign affiliate (including, for greater certainty, the particular affiliate) of the corporation that has an equity percentage in the upper-tier affiliate; and

Application: The August 19, 2011 draft legislation (foreign affiliates), subsec. 29(18), will amend para. 5905(13)(a) to read as above, applicable after August 19, 2011.

See also Application under ITA s. 90 re extended reassessment deadline.

Technical Notes: Subsection 5905(13) provides the meaning of the expression "surplus entitlement percentage" ("SEP") for the purposes of Part LIX of the Regulations and subdivision i of Division B of Part I of the Act (by virtue of the definition "surplus entitlement percentage" in subsection 95(1)).

Paragraph 5905(13)(a) applies in the case where each corporation that is relevant to the determination of a corporation's "equity percentage" in a particular foreign affiliate has only one class of issued shares. In that case, the corporation's SEP in respect of the particular affiliate is equal to that "equity percentage". For the purposes of that paragraph, "equity percentage" has the meaning assigned by subsection 95(4) of the Act but is modified slightly by the "postamble" of subsection 5905(13).

Paragraph 5905(13)(b) provides a catch-all rule for situations where paragraph (a) does not apply. Paragraph (b) requires a more complex determination of SEP that is based on "surplus entitlement", the meaning of which is given by subsection 5905(10), as discussed above.

A number of amendments are being made to subsection 5905(13) and a new subsection 5905(14) is being added.

First, an additional condition is being added to paragraph 5905(13)(a). This condition deals with circular shareholdings and is similar to the change to "participating percentage" that is discussed above in the context of subsection 95(1). Essentially, where there are circular shareholdings, SEP will now have to be determined under the more complex rules of paragraph (b), even where the relevant foreign affiliates only have one class of shares outstanding.

Second, the "postamble" of paragraph 5905(13)(b) is being repealed and replaced with new paragraph 5905(11)(c), as discussed above.

Third, the "postamble" of subsection 5905(13) is being moved, without any substantive modification (other than the addition of a reference to subsection 5905(10)), to new subsection 5905(14).

(b) in any other case, the proportion of 100 that

(i) the aggregate of all amounts, each of which is the surplus entitlement at that time of a share owned by the corporation of the capital stock of a foreign affiliate of the corporation in respect of the particular foreign affiliate of the corporation

is of

(ii) the amount determined under paragraph (10)(b) to be the net surplus of the particular affiliate in respect of the corporation at that time, except that where the amount determined under subparagraph (ii) is nil, the percentage determined under this paragraph shall be the corporation's equity percentage in the particular affiliate at that time, and, for the purposes of this subsection, "equity percentage" has the meaning that would be assigned by subsection 95(4) of the Act if the reference in paragraph (b) of the definition "equity percentage" in that subsection to "any corporation" were read as a reference to "any corporation other than a corporation resident in Canada".

Proposed Repeal — Reg. 5905(13) after (b)(ii)

Application: The August 19, 2011 draft legislation (foreign affiliates), subsec. 29(19), will repeal the portion of subsec. 5905(13) after subpara. (b)(ii), applicable after August 19, 2011.

See also Application under ITA s. 90 re extended reassessment deadline.

Technical Notes: See under Reg. 5905(13)(a).

History: The opening and closing words of 5905(13) amended by P.C. 1997-1670, subsecs. 7(10), (11), November 20, 1997, Canada Gazette, Part II, December 10, 1997, applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that begin after 1994, except that

(a) the portions as amended apply to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1994 where there has been a change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate in 1994 and after February 22, 1994, unless

(i) the foreign affiliate had requested that change in the taxation year in writing before February 22, 1994 from the income taxation authority of the country in which it was resident and subject to income taxation, or

(ii) the first taxation year of the foreign affiliate that began after 1994 began at a time in 1995 that is earlier than the time when that taxation year would have begun if there had not been that change in the taxation year of the foreign affiliate.

Proposed Addition — Reg. 5905(14)

(14) ["Equity percentage"] — For the purposes of subsections (10), (11) and (13), "equity percentage" has the meaning that would be assigned by subsection 95(4) of the Act if the reference in paragraph (b) of the definition "equity percentage" in that subsection to "any corporation" were read as a reference to "any corporation other than a corporation resident in Canada".

Application: The August 19, 2011 draft legislation (foreign affiliates), subsec. 29(20), will add subsec. 5905(14), applicable after August 19, 2011.

See also Application under ITA s. 90 re extended reassessment deadline.

Technical Notes: See under Reg. 5905(13)(a).

Proposed Addition — Reg. 5905(16)-(23) [transitional]

Application: Former proposed Reg. 5905(16)-(23) in the Feb. 27, 2004 draft legislation will not be permanently enacted. These were part of the "consolidated net surplus" regime, which has been abandoned as a permanent change (see Sept. 10/10 Technical Notes at beginning of Reg. 5900-5919, #6). However, they will be added transitionally, for those that used them before they were withdrawn in the Dec 18/09 draft legislation.

See ss. 51 and 52 of the August 27, 2010 draft legislation, reproduced under Reg. 5905(1) Proposed Amendment [transitional] above (specifically subpara. 51(c)(vi)), for Reg. 5905(16)-(23), which will apply in respect of dispositions in respect of which a designated section 93 election was made to use the consolidated net surplus rules that were proposed from 2002-09.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): See under Reg. 5902(1) [transitional].

(2) For the purposes of subsection (1), the expression "permanent establishment" has:

(a) if the expression is given a particular meaning in a tax treaty with a country, the meaning assigned by that tax treaty with respect to a business carried on in that country; and

(b) in any other case, the meaning that would be assigned by subsection 400(2) if that subsection were read without reference to paragraph 400(2)(e.1).

Proposed Amendment — 5906(2), (3)

(2) The expression "permanent establishment" means

(a) for the purposes of paragraph (1)(a) and the definition "earnings" in subsection 5907(1) (which paragraph or definition is referred to in this paragraph as a "provision"),

(i) if the expression is given a particular meaning in a tax treaty with a country, a permanent establishment within the meaning assigned by that tax treaty with respect to the business carried on in that country by the foreign affiliate referred to in the provision, and

(ii) in any other case, a fixed place of business of the affiliate, including an office, a branch, a mine, an oil well, a farm, a timberland, a factory, a workshop or a warehouse, or if the affiliate does not have any fixed place of business, the principal place at which the affiliate's business is conducted; and

(b) for the purposes of subdivision i of Division B of Part I of the Act [ITA ss. 90–95 — ed.],

(i) if the expression is given a particular meaning in a tax treaty with a country, a permanent establishment within the meaning assigned by that tax treaty if the person or partnership referred to in the relevant portion of that subdivision (which person or partnership is referred to in this paragraph and subsection (3) as the "person") is a resident of that country for the purpose of that tax treaty, and

(ii) in any other case, a fixed place of business of the person, including an office, a branch, a mine, an oil well, a farm, a timberland, a factory, a workshop or a warehouse, or if the person does not have any fixed place of business, the principal place at which the person's business is conducted.

Related Provisions: Reg. 5906(3) — Interpretation.

(3) For the purposes of subparagraphs (2)(a)(ii) and (b)(ii),

(a) if the affiliate or the person, as the case may be, carries on business through an employee or agent, established in a particular place, who has general authority to contract for the affiliate or the person or who has a stock of merchandise owned by the affiliate or the person from which the employee or agent regularly fills orders, the affiliate or the person is deemed to have a fixed place of business at that place;

(b) if the affiliate or the person, as the case may be, is an insurance corporation, the affiliate or the person is deemed to have a fixed place of business in each country in which the affiliate or the person is registered or licensed to do business;

(c) if the affiliate or the person, as the case may be, uses substantial machinery or equipment at a particular place at any time in a taxation year, the affiliate or the person is deemed to have a fixed place of business at that place;

(d) the fact that the affiliate or the person, as the case may be, has business dealings through a commission agent, broker or other independent agent or maintains an office solely for the purchase of merchandise at a particular place does not of itself mean that the affiliate or the person has a fixed place of business at that place; and

(e) the fact that the affiliate or the person, as the case may be, has a subsidiary controlled corporation at a place or a subsidiary controlled corporation engaged in trade or business at a place does not of itself mean that the affiliate or person has a fixed place of business at that place.

Application: The August 27, 2010 draft legislation (Part 2 — foreign affiliates), s. 45, will amend subsec. 5906(2) to read as above and add subsec. 5906(3), applicable to taxation years of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer that end after 1999 except that, for taxation years of the affiliate that end before December 19, 2009, the opening words of para. 5906(2)(b) are to be read as follows:

(b) for the purposes of subdivision i of Division B of Part I (other than the definitions "excluded income" and "excluded revenue" in subsection 95(2.5)) of the Act.

See Application note under Proposed Amendment to Reg. 5900(3) for rule (s. 53 of the draft legislation) permitting late reassessment to give effect to this amendment.

Technical Notes (Sept. 10, 2010): Subsection 5906(2) currently defines the term "permanent establishment" for the purpose of subsection 5906(1) — the main operative rule in section 5906.

[New Reg. 5906(2)(b) replaces former proposed Reg. 8202 (Feb. 27, 2004 draft), which would have defined "permanent establishment" for various purposes in ss. 90–95 — ed.]

Subsection 5906(2) is being amended to broaden its scope of application. It is also being amended such that it, together with new subsection 5906(3), will provide section 5906 with a more comprehensive definition of the term "permanent establishment". These amendments ensure that a common definition of "permanent establishment" applies for all purposes of Part LIX of the Regulations and, by virtue of new paragraph 5906(2)(b) and the new definition "permanent establishment" in subsection 95(1) of the Act, for purposes of the foreign affiliate provisions in subdivision i of Division B of Part I of the Act.

New paragraph 5906(2)(a) defines the term "permanent establishment" for the purposes of paragraph 5906(1)(a) and the definition "earnings" in subsection 5907(1). New subparagraph 5906(2)(a)(i) defines "permanent establishment" based on a tax treaty, if any, that Canada has in place with the country in which the business is considered (without reference to section 5906) to be carried on. New subparagraph 5906(2)(a)(ii) applies where there is no relevant tax treaty definition and provides, when considered together with subsection 5906(3), rules similar to subsection 400(2) (with the notable exception of paragraph (e.1) thereof) to define "permanent establishment". Although new subparagraph 5906(2)(a) replaces existing subsection 5906(2), it is not intended to have any substantive effect.

New paragraph 5906(2)(b) defines the term "permanent establishment" for the purposes of subdivision i of Division B of Part I of the Act (more particularly for the purposes of the definitions "investment business" and "non-qualifying business" in subsection 95(1), subparagraph 95(2)(l)(iii), paragraphs 95(2)(w), 95(2.3)(b) and 95(2.4)(a) and the definitions "excluded income and excluded revenue" and "indebtedness" in subsection 95(2.5) of the Act). This definition is essentially the same as the one in paragraph 5906(2)(a), but the tax treaty aspect of the rule is focussed on the tax treaty under which the relevant person is resident, rather than the tax treaty for the country in which the business is carried on.

These amendments generally apply for taxation years of a foreign affiliate that end after 1999. However, a transitional reading applies in respect of the definition "excluded income and excluded revenue" in subsection 95(2.5) of the Act in order to coordinate these amendments with an amendment to section 8201.

Definitions [Reg. 5906]: "active business" — ITA 95(1), Reg. 5907(1); "business" — ITA 248(1); "Canada" — ITA 255, Interpretation Act 35(1); "corporation" — ITA 248(1), Interpretation Act 35(1); "foreign affiliate" — ITA 95(1), 248(1), Reg. 5907(3); "permanent establishment" — ITA 95(1), Reg. 5906(2); "resident in Canada" — ITA 250; "tax treaty" — ITA 248(1).

5907. Interpretation — (1) [Definitions] — For the purposes of this Part,

"active business" has the meaning assigned by subsection 95(1) of the Act;

"controlled foreign affiliate" has the meaning assigned by subsection 95(1) of the Act;

Proposed Addition — Reg. 5907(1)"designated person or partnership"

"designated person or partnership", in respect of a taxpayer at any time, means the taxpayer or a person or partnership that is at that time

(a) a person (other than a partnership) that does not, at that time, deal at arm's length with the taxpayer, or

(b) a partnership a member of which is, at that time, a designated person or partnership in respect of the taxpayer under this definition;

Application: The August 19, 2011 draft legislation (foreign affiliates), subsec. 30(24), will add the definition "designated person or partnership" in subsec. 5907(1), applicable after August 19, 2011; however, in respect of dispositions that occur after August 19, 2011 and before 2013, s. 5907 is to be read as if it contained a subsec. (1.001) that reads as follows:

(1.001) For the purposes of subparagraph (ii) of the description of A, and subparagraph (ii) of the description of B, in the definition "hybrid surplus" in subsection (1)

(a) if a foreign affiliate of a corporation redeems, acquires or cancels shares of its capital stock those shares are, for greater certainty, deemed to be disposed of to the affiliate by the person or partnership that, immediately before the redemption, acquisition or cancellation, holds those shares;

(b) if a partnership redeems, acquires or cancels interests in the partnership those interests are, for greater certainty, deemed to be disposed of to the partnership by the person or partnership that, immediately before the redemption, acquisition or cancellation, holds those interests; and

(c) if a person or partnership is deemed under subsection 40(3) of the Act to have disposed of shares of the capital stock of a corporation, the person or partnership is deemed to have disposed of those shares to itself.

See also Application under ITA s. 90 re extended reassessment deadline.

Technical Notes: The definition "designated person or partnership" is a new definition that is being added to support amended subparagraph 5907(2)(f)(ii), new subsection 5907(2.01), amended subsection 5907(5.1) and the transitional readings of the descriptions of A and B in the new definition of "hybrid surplus" in subsection 5907(1). This new definition identifies certain non-arm's length persons or partnerships in relation to a taxpayer.

"earnings" of a foreign affiliate of a taxpayer resident in Canada for a taxation year of the affiliate from an active business means

(a) in the case of an active business carried on by it in a country,

(i) the income or profit from the active business for the year computed in accordance with the income tax law of the country in which the affiliate is resident, in any case where the affiliate is required by that law to compute that income or profit,
